

Engravers Balk at Proposed Terms; Strike Continues

Override Own Leaders to Turn Down Wagner's Formula

NEW YORK (AP) — A small group of union photoengravers—holding out for a 75-minute cut in their work week—kept eight New York City daily newspapers off the streets today and threatened to prolong the 111-day newspaper shutdown indefinitely.

The rank and file of AFL-CIO Photoengravers Local 1 voted 191-111 Wednesday night to reject a proposed contract that would have ended their strike—the last of four against the papers.

The engravers overrode their own leadership and turned down a settlement formula that had been recommended by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and accepted by other newspaper unions involved, including the printers, whose Dec. 8 strike led to the blackout.

320 Involved

There are 320 newspaper photoengravers among 20,000 newspaper employees in the city.

As the unexpected action came, the eight papers were ready to resume publication with today's editions. Two of the papers—the Times and the Herald Tribune—had announced an increase in newsstand prices from 5 to 10 cents, so sure were they of publishing today.

Editorial staffs had reported to work on the four morning papers, and union machinists and electricians had walked through relaxed picket lines Wednesday to prepare the newspaper plants and presses for action.

Thousands of other employees stood by outside, ready to report to work for the first time in nearly 16 weeks.

All Set to Publish
Then came the news that the strike and shutdown still were on. "I don't know just exactly what we're going to do now," said Turner Catledge, managing editor of the struck New York Times.

"We were all set to go. The whole paper was ready to go to the composing room and be published," said the Herald Tribune managing editor, James Bellows. "Here we go again," sighed Wagner.

"We will have to sit down with the publishers," said Frank McGown, union local president, who had recommended acceptance of the settlement. "The major objection from the floor was the lack of a 35-hour work week."

Assembly Acts to Revamp Congress Districts in State

Plan Eliminates Ninth District but Reynolds Signature Held Probable

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The assembly Wednesday achieved what many politicians had come to believe was impossible — a bi-partisan vote of approval for the first serious effort to reshape Wisconsin congressional districts in 33 years.

By the extraordinary margin of 77 to 16, members of the lower house approved a thorough-going and objective reapportionment of the state for congressional representation purposes, and sent it to the state senate where it is expected to get quick concurrence.

District Eliminated

Because principal Democratic spokesmen in the assembly joined with Republicans in praising and supporting the GOP-drafted measure, it is believed that Gov. Reynolds will sign it into law when it reaches him in spite of inevitable objections from Democratic Rep. Lester Johnson of Black River Falls whose Ninth district is being extinguished and whose career may be ended as a consequence.

The measure would put Johnson's home county of Jackson in the Third district now held by Republican Rep. Vernon W. Thomson of Richland Center, and presumably oblige Johnson to run against Thomson in the dominant Republican southwestern district next year. Other parts of Johnson's present territory would be moved into the 10th district.

Legislative District Bills to be Offered By GOP in 2 Weeks

MADISON (AP)—Assembly Republican floor leader Paul Alfonsi of Minocqua said today the GOP intends to introduce bills to re-apportion legislative districts in about two weeks.

The announcement came in response to a direct question asked by Assemblyman Allen Flannigan, D-Milwaukee, on the Assembly floor.

"We Democrats went along with your congressional reapportionment," Flannigan said, "and we have a right to know if you intend to do anything about Assembly and Senate seats."

now held by Rep. O'Konski of Mercer.

A new Ninth district would be created out of Waukesha County and the Milwaukee northern suburbs which would almost surely elect a Republican congressman next year. Already there are sev-

U. S. Trying to Curb Raids by Cuban Exiles

Coast Guard, FBI And Other Agencies Share in Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI, the U.S. Coast Guard and other agencies are doing all possible to discourage hit-and-run raids by Cuban refugees on Castro's Cuba, officials said today.

They said this is in line with the policy of President Kennedy. While he has repeatedly expressed a desire to see Cuba freed of communism, Kennedy said last week he did not believe the hit-run tactics are effective toward this end. They may even strengthen Prime Minister Fidel Castro, he said.

Could Cause Crisis
Some concern is expressed in high administration circles that the free lance raids, if continued might prove the spark that would set off a new, explosive crisis in U.S.-Soviet relations.

The question of what measures the United States is taking to stop the forays came up in the wake of a Soviet Union protest Wednesday and the report of another raid Tuesday night.

Moscow charged the United States was responsible for "piratical attacks." Specifically it mentioned an attack on the Soviet freighter Lgov, shot up by exiles March 17 at the sugar port of Isabela de Sagua on Cuba's north coast.

New Raid Reported
The State Department quickly denied U.S. responsibility for the assault, which refugee leaders have said was mounted from "somewhere in the Caribbean."

R. C. Konz Dies In Fire at Home

Daughter, Her Friend Escape After Fire Breaks Out in Den

Rudolph C. Konz, 62, president of the Konz Box Co., Appleton, was found dead in a kitchen chair today by firemen who answered a call to his burning home at 427 W. Prospect Ave. about 3:45 a.m.

Konz apparently died from smoke inhalation, Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kempe said. The body has been sent to an Appleton hospital where an autopsy will be performed to determine an exact cause of death.

Konz' death was the second reported in the state by fire to day. Montell Salvrou, 61, a resident in the Astor Hotel in Green Bay, died in his room about 6:30 a.m.

Cause of the fire which extensively damaged the interior of the Konz home has not been determined. State Fire Marshal Earl Schwabe, who inspected the home, said today. Schwabe said the fire started in the den where Konz customarily sat while watching television.

Blaze Spreads
Flames spread to an adjoining living room and smoke damaged furnishings and contents throughout the entire two floors. Curtains and furnishings in other rooms apparently started on fire from the heated inferno in the den area, Schwabe noted. The smaller fires then spread to other furnishings, carpets and rugs.

Konz' daughter, Karen, 15, and a schoolmate, Stephanie Quella, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Quella, 505 S. Oneida St., who were sleeping in an upstairs bedroom above the den, escaped injury when they leaped from their bedroom window onto the garage roof.

Miss Quella then swung from a clothesline and dropped to the ground below. A neighbor, William Garvey, 423 W. Prospect Ave., rescued Miss Konz and her small dog, Lucky, from the ga-

New York Budget Wins Approval

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has the approval of the New York Legislature for a record, $2.82-billion state budget. It came after a long fight in which he suffered a setback but preserved a key element in what apparently is his bid for the Republican nomination for president next year.

The fiscal program as approved requires $35.4 million in additional state levies but it will be raised under the designation of "fees," allowing Rockefeller to continue his policy of reporting to Republican audiences throughout the nation he has held the line on taxes.

The Rockefeller budget for the fiscal year beginning next Monday was approved Wednesday by the Republican-controlled legislature.

Russians Deny Alaska Flights

U. S. Insists That 2 Soviet Aircraft Flew Over Region

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has flatly denied a U.S. charge that Soviet planes flew 30 miles into Alaska March 15. Moscow says their aircraft were more than 200 miles away.

Washington authorities said the Soviet denial, received late Wednesday, probably will end the formal diplomatic exchange on the incident. But they predicted the United States will continue to reprimand the Soviet Union at appropriate times that air space intrusions will not be tolerated.

Note Not Published
The U.S. government was sticking firmly to its version, contained in a March 16 protest note to Moscow, that two Soviet reconnaissance planes flew over the southwestern corner of Alaska for nearly a half hour.

The Kremlin responded with an equally emphatic denial in a brief note.

U.S. officials said the Soviet Union contended their planes flew no closer to the U.S. border than 350 kilometers (about 218 miles).

The State Department declined to make the note public. Officials said it was up to the Soviets to do that.

Moscow appeared to have no desire to make a big issue over the incident. U.S. informants said the note was very short and devoid of propaganda embellishments the Communists often include in their diplomatic and public declarations.

The March 15 flight was described by a U.S. spokesman at the time as "the first clearly established incident of a Soviet over-flight of the United States."

No further such penetrations of U.S. air space have been reported since. Washington officials said they do not know the reason for the March 15 flight.

H. C. Prange Co. Will Build Multi-Level Parking Ramp

Retail Outlet Included; Hope To be Finished by Oct. 1

A multi-level ramp to provide off-street parking for 466 automobiles in downtown Appleton will be constructed this spring and summer by the H. C. Prange Co.

General manager William Pifer said the giant concrete, brick and steel structure will cover the store's present parking lot at Washington and Appleton streets as well as the site of the old Rio Theater building currently being razed.

The ramp is expected to be completed by Oct. 1.

Initial construction will provide a street level retail outlet, which Pifer said will house a new tire department, plus four levels for parking.

Additional Levels
Three additional parking levels will be added at the ultimate of the construction plan at a rate to be dictated by parking needs.

Pifer said the below-street excavation will provide additional retail space. "In due time," he said, "the Prange Budget Store will be expanded into this area."

With the Prange parking ramp and two municipal lots, one completed and one for which construction contracts have been let, downtown Appleton will have 1,157 new off-street parking spaces by late fall. The city's West Ramp on Division Street opened in December with space for 257 cars.

Construction is expected to start within the next month on a second municipal ramp at Franklin, Morrison and Washington Streets with a capacity of 334 automobiles.

Ticket Machine
Pifer said all of the store's current plans for parking ramp development are subject to approval of the Appleton Council.

"We propose to have the entrance to our ramp on Appleton Street with the exit on Washington."

An automatic ticket-issuing machine will guard the ramp entrance. A motorist entering will pull a ticket from the machine.

The gate will rise and the automobile proceed inside to park. On the ticket will be automatically recorded the time of entry and

Youth Held in 2 Shootings At Kenosha

KENOSHA (AP)—A 20-year-old rejected suitor was held for questioning today in the shooting of a former girl friend and an off-duty policeman who went to her aid.

The youth surrendered to police shortly after Nancy Knutson, 19, and Patrolman Cyril Ellison, 45, were shot and seriously wounded on Kenosha's South Side Wednesday.

Miss Knutson, struck once in the abdomen, and Ellison, a 15-year veteran of the police force, were wounded twice in the abdomen and once in the arm, underwent emergency surgery at Kenosha Hospital. They later were reported in fair condition.

Policeman Called
Police said Miss Knutson rejected the youth's reconciliation attempt when he visited her home and that he then left and obtained a .25 caliber pistol.

Ellison, summoned by a neighbor shortly after he had returned home from a tour of duty, said he found the youth waving the pistol at Miss Knutson outside her house.

The patrolman stepped between the couple and ordered the youth to drop the weapon. Ellison said the youth then shot him and Miss Knutson. The patrolman fired two shots at his assailant, who returned the gunfire, striking Ellison again.

11 Killed When Plane Crashes in Korean Storm

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Two Americans and nine other persons died today in the crash of a South Korean air transport in a heavy snowstorm 10 miles northwest of Seoul, the Korean air force announced.

An air force spokesman said the plane carried four crewmen and seven passengers including a U.S. airman and an American civilian.

The name of the airman was withheld pending notification of relatives.

The civilian's status has not been determined, a U.S. spokesman said.

The two-engine C46 was on a routine flight from Taegu 130 miles southeast of Seoul to Kimpo, 15 miles northeast of the capital.

The air force said the pilot tried to land at the Kumpo Airport but was unable to come down because of the storm. He crashed while preparing for another landing attempt.

An air force source said the plane crashed into the side of one of the hills near the big airport, which is a military air base for South Korean and U.S. planes and an international airport for commercial airlines.

Vitamin Supplement For Pregnant Women May Go Off Market

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said today he has been told the Food and Drug Administration is taking steps to ban sales of a vitamin supplement, Menadiol, to pregnant women.

The Minnesota Democrat said the FDA may try to pass off the action against the supplement, Vitamin K<sub>2</sub>, as routine.

But, he added in a statement: "The fact is it has taken a behind-the-scenes battle of more than a year and a public airing of the situation to get the FDA to act decisively."

Humphrey, himself a pharmacist, is chairman of a Senate Government Operations subcommittee which heard Dr. John O. Nester, a pediatrician on the FDA staff, testify last week that the use of the vitamin in prenatal supplements may result in some instances in "brain damage, spontaneity and death" to the newborn.

Prange Ramp Work Will Begin Soon

Two entrances into the Prange Store will be provided on the second and third levels. This will, store officials said, eliminate for now the need for elevator service within the ramp. When the need is sufficient three additional levels will be constructed and elevator service probably will be installed then.

The interior will be nearly free of obstructing columns the designers, Ramp Engineering Associates of New York, said.

Exterior treatment is designed to blend and contrast with the multi-million dollar Prange store. Ceramic face brick of a type used in the store construction will be used with the store proper and blue and white trim will set off the exterior components, according to Pifer.

With the exception of the top floor, all levels will be enclosed and customers will be protected from the weather. Inside stairways will lead to store entrances off the ramp or to street exits.

The store will front on Appleton and Washington Streets. Pifer said an additional 4,500 square feet of space at street level at the Washington-Oneida Street corner will be available for rent.

The ramp will cover that lot which held the old Rio Theatre on Oneida Street and, when completed, hundreds of cars will park where once lovers held hands in the flickering lights of the most famous motion pictures of the time.

Frosting On Cake
Pifer, due to retire from active store management next Monday, looks at the parking ramp project as "more frosting on Appleton's downtown cake."

The Prange expansion program started in the 50's and was climaxed by the construction of a 6-story, multi-million dollar department store, the largest in Appleton. The firm's land acquisition program has made it the largest non-municipal landowner in downtown Appleton.

The Rio was purchased in June of 1959 from Stanley Warner Management corporation of New York City. At first it was used as the Prange Annex and was remodeled into a retail outlet. Remaining land in the block fronting on Appleton and Washington streets was developed for street parking purposes.

With the consolidation of retailing divisions within the new store building, Prange's began this winter to raze the theater building.

When the building is down, excavation will begin immediately as the first step in ramp construction.

Pifer said the city's growth indicates the need for additional off-street parking. He said there has been some criticism of the city's parking ramp construction program but the future "can only increase the need for such facilities."

R. C. Konz Dies in Fire At His Home

rage top after he was awakened by shouts from Miss Quella. Garvey ran to his garage and returned with a ladder, which he placed against the garage and helped Miss Konz and the dog down.

Milton Hemmling, 433 W. Prospect Ave., called the fire department after he was awakened by Miss Quella, who had gone to that address to awaken her grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Steffen, who lives in an apartment below the Hemmlings.

Grandmother Heard Calls
Mrs. Steffen said she heard calls of a fire and thought her own house was aflame. She awoke and ran to one of her windows facing the Konz house just in time to see flames licking through the cracked glass of the Konz den. Mrs. Steffen said she knew her granddaughter was sleeping at the Konz house and became alarmed and ran outside, where she met Miss Quella.

Firemen arrived at the fire seconds after Miss Konz was rescued from the garage roof and she told them her father was still in the house. Firemen used ladders to enter the upstairs of the home. By the time firemen arrived, flames were coming from the windows at the rear of the house where the den was located.

Miss Quella and Miss Konz said they had gone to bed about midnight in Karen's room, where they had been studying since 9 p.m. Karen's father was attending a bowling banquet at the Elks Club and had not arrived home at midnight.

Muffled Explosion
Miss Konz said she awoke about 3:30 when she heard a muffled explosion and thought she had heard her father cry out. When she sat up in bed, Miss Konz said, "the smoke hit me right in the face."

Miss Konz woke her girlfriend and ran to the doorway to the downstairs hallway. Smoke was coming up from the downstairs, so the girls shut the door and ran to a window near the doorway.

The floor was hot beneath their bare feet, both girls said. They opened the window but could not get the outside storm window open. Miss Konz said she then pushed on the window, and it fell to the garage roof, about six feet below.

Both girls jumped onto a ledge outside the window and from there, jumped to the garage. Miss Konz carrying her pet dog with her.

From the garage roof adjacent to the den, the girls peered through a large bay window facing south from the den. They said they saw no flames at first, but then noticed a small flame start from the far side of the den. All the lights were out in the house.

Spread Quickly
The flame caught quickly, Miss Konz said, and seemed to explode throughout the den. Suddenly, she said, the large bay window cracked.

Fire Chief Roland Kuehl, one of four firemen who received minor injuries, and Schwabe returned to the Konz home at about 8 a.m. today to investigate the cause. Kuehl said Konz apparently came home from the banquet after 12:30 a.m., and went into the dining room, where he left his hat and coat on a dining room table. Konz may have gone into the den and sat in a chair and smoked a cigarette, they said.

Whether the television set was turned on has not yet been determined. Schwabe said the television set "imploded" and has been destroyed by the fire.

Cut on Chin
Konz may have received a cut to his chin before he left the den and went into the kitchen, where he sat down in a chair and died. Blood from a small wound was found on the kitchen chair and tabletop. Konz had burns on the left side of his body.

Mrs. Konz, who left for Florida for a short visit last Friday, was notified of her husband's death and will return to Appleton today. Konz also is survived by one other daughter, three sons, two brothers, and three sisters. Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Brettschneider Funeral Home.

Kuehl said two fire companies answered the call about 3:30 a.m. Injured besides Kuehl, who reported a wrenched back, were Capt. Merton Schulz, a leg injury,

New London Chamber Circulating Petition

NEW LONDON — The New London Chamber of Commerce has circulated a petition opposing a bill known as the S and H stamp bill, according to Harry S. Emans, executive secretary.

The petitions have been mailed to assemblyman Ricard Peterson at Madison, Emans said.

This stamp bill would set up unfair competition through legislation, which would shift the distribution of millions of dollars worth of merchandise from the regular retail channels to redemption centers owned by out of state stamp companies, he stated.

Bill 45-S was killed by a close vote in the Senate. A similar bill is being introduced in the state assembly.

Congressional Districts Revamping Approved

Republicans opponents who made their intentions known, including Assemblyman Glenn Schadeberg, one of the leaders of the Republican majority in the state assembly, who is regarded as likely to win the election.

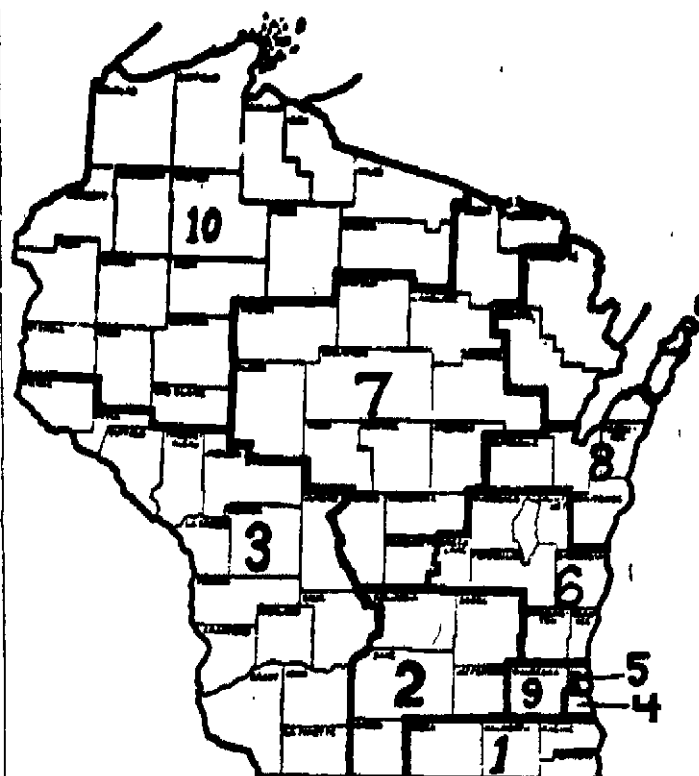

Green County Shifted
The bill also removes usually public Green County from the first district of Rep. Henry Schadeberg, and moves it into the second district now held by Rep. Robert Kaptenmaier. Two years ago former Gov. Gaylord vetoed another Republican-bill because he said Green County should have been moved from the first district to give equitable population balance. The bill will considerably enlarge the district now held by Rep. Schadeberg, and move it into the second district now held by Rep. Kaptenmaier. The bill will considerably enlarge the district now held by Rep. Schadeberg, and move it into the second district now held by Rep. Kaptenmaier.

Johnson Protests
Johnson has publicly objected to the bill, and the fact that Schadeberg disapproves it was apparent shown by the opposing votes at Wednesday by several Republican assemblymen from his southern Wisconsin district. Several other Republican incumbent congressmen have expressed some reservations in private, but they do not attempt to dissuade the publican legislative leadership in enacting the measure. While the measure will obviously alter the political power balance factors of the state as a whole in congressional elections, opponents on both sides of the aisle agreed that the results would be about even for the Republicans and Democrats. The two Milwaukee congressional districts which are now held by Democratic incumbents are likely to become more strongly Democratic under the measure if it becomes law, because of the separation of the strong Republican suburban precincts for the creation of the new ninth district. But it is also likely that the result will be to put the Democrats into a better competitive position in the First district, and probably in the Second.

Gov. Reynolds has avoided public comment on the bill, but it is likely that if he opposed it he would have communicated his position to his party lieutenants in the legislature. The brief discussion on the floor Wednesday included praise for the measure from Assemblyman Robert Huber of Milwaukee, minority floor leader, and other chief spokesmen of the governor's party. Ben Riehle, D-Athens, expressed the feeling of many Democrats when he told the Assembly the bill would "completely eliminate Lester Johnson, who is the best friend the farmers ever had in Washington."

Anderson Backs Bill
But Norman Anderson, D-Madison, author of the unsuccessful Democratic bill, voted for the measure. Although his bill was better, he said, the Republican measure "is a good bill." Anderson said Democrats could rightfully claim credit for action on reapportionment because federal and state law suits initiated by then Atty Gen John W. Reynolds "brought the matter to a head." In other legislative actions, Sen. Walter G. Hollander, R-Oshtemo, co-chairman of the Joint Finance Committee, tentatively set April 11 as the date for hearing Gov. Reynolds New tax came of a new raid on the port of Isabela de Segua. A spokesman for the group, Commando L. said in Miami the raiders slipped into the port Tuesday night, attacked a Soviet freighter and left it "badly in need of repairs to keep it from sinking."

U. S. Trying to Curb Raids by Cuban Exiles

Castro Blames U. S.

The raiders, the spokesman said returned safely to their base "somewhere in the Caribbean." Havana Radio, in a broadcast monitored at Key West, said Castro holds the United States responsible for the latest foray. He was quoted as saying that if the raiders continue Cuba may have to acquire long range bombers and ships to escort merchant vessels "and to repel aggressors."

A Justice Department official said the FBI is investigating to determine whether the attacks have violated any U.S. laws such as the Neutrality Act or the foreign agents registration act. There is no indication the March 17 attack was mounted from U.S. soil, he said.

Agents are still digging up information on Tuesday's assault and Taylor counties removed. Barron, Chippewa, Dunn, Eau Claire and St. Croix counties added. 389,675.

Lawmaker Pleads Innocent to Tippy Driving

MADISON (AP)—Assemblyman Fred W. Schluter, R-Ripon, has won a hearing postponement after entering a plea of innocent to a charge of drunken driving.

The plea was entered in Dane County Traffic Court Wednesday by his attorney, who asked postponement of the hearing until after the end of the legislative session.

The charge was filed after Schluter's car was involved in a minor accident.

Study of Gas Firms Service Center Opens

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A study of the cost of the Milwaukee Gas Light Co. service center in Marshfield has been started and should be completed early next month, a spokesman for an appraisal firm said Wednesday.

The Wisconsin Public Service Commission selected J. L. Jacobs & Co. of Chicago to make the study. The evaluation is part of the current probe of the utility's accounting of expenses. Also being checked is the utility's spending on service centers in West Bend and Milwaukee.

The Marshfield building was put up in 1960, costing more than twice the amount approved in the original PSC order.

Martin D. Miller of the Jacobs firm said the economic value of the utility's capital investment in Marshfield project will be determined by the study. He said it was economic value and not the actual dollar cost which is used in deciding public utility rates in Wisconsin.

Strike Still on As Engravers Reject Terms

said publishers are "unwilling to resume negotiations" and see no point in meeting with the union.

The publishers and union negotiators had agreed to a reduction of the work week from 36 1/2 hours to 35 hours for men working one of the three shifts—the overnight shift. The hours cut would not have gone into effect until the second year of the proposed two-year contract. The union negotiators made concessions to get this cut.

A desire for an immediate 35-hour week for all photoengravers apparently was the chief factor in the vote to reject.

The photoengravers' basic weekly wages before the strike averaged $149.75 for day work and $160.75 for night work. Other Unions Angry

The engravers have a pledge that the picket lines thrown up by the printers' union will stand as long as those of the engravers. The engravers went on strike March 18. The engravers went on strike. However, James J. McMahon, president of the stereotypers union local, raised the possibility of a revolt by other unions. Taking the stage at the photoengravers' meeting, McMahon asked leaders of that union if they were prepared to take the rejection to the newspaper union committee, made up of leaders of all 10 newspapers' unions. He was greeted by shouts of: "Throw him out. We didn't invade your membership meeting. Stay out of ours."

The Commerce and Industry Association of New York estimated that the blackout has cost the city's economy more than $250 million. Its impact has been felt as far away as backwoods Canada, whose trees provide newsprint for New York presses.

Man, 61, Dies in Hotel Room Fire

Green Bay Firemen Say He Apparently Was Smoking in Bed

Post-Crescent Staff Service
GREEN BAY — Despite frantic rescue attempts, an elderly roomer died today when fire roared through his third floor room at the Astor Hotel in downtown Green Bay.

Mentell Solvrud, 61, who had lived at the hotel the last two years, died of asphyxiation, firemen said. His body was not badly burned.

The fire was discovered about 6:30 this morning by Robert Viola, 20, of Milwaukee, who occupied another third floor room at the opposite end of the corridor.

"I smelled smoke, but thought at first it was only a hot radiator. Then I looked out my door and saw the whole hall filled with smoke," Viola said.

Accompanied by another roomer, Robert Sherwan, 37, also of Milwaukee, Viola made his way down the hall to Solvrud's room at the southeast corner of the three-story hotel building.

"We broke open the door and there it was," Viola related.

Heavy Smoke
The men at first were unable to see into the room because of heavy smoke, but then spotted what they thought was a body lying on the bed.

"We tried to crawl in but couldn't," said Viola. "Then we grabbed hold of the bedclothes and tried to pull him out that way." This attempt also failed.

They then threw sand from a large ashtray into the flames and began carrying water from a nearby shower stall in a wastebasket. "We looked all over for a fire extinguisher, but there were none," Sherwan said. He ran to the lobby to report the fire and obtained two extinguishers.

A desk clerk called the fire dept. at 6:35 a. m. and reported "the third floor hall is filled with smoke." Firemen responded with six units. Solvrud's body was not located immediately because of the dense smoke.

Windows Broken
Firemen put out the blaze in a few minutes and entered the room. Solvrud was lying along the outer wall of his room, beneath two windows, both of which were broken. He tried to crawl to the window for air and apparently had been smoking in bed, firemen said.

The small room, about 12 feet square, was scorched by the intense heat. Paint was peeled from the walls and the bedding was burned. Fire Chief David Zuidmiller estimated damage at $500.

Kaukauna Park Traffic Laws To Be Altered

Entrance, Exits Set for Pedestrian Safety; Will Erect Signs

-KAUKAUNA — The health and recreation committee has voted to recommend changes in traffic patterns at LaFollette Park to reduce hazards to pedestrian traffic.

The committee voted to establish Park Street as the only entrance to the park with exits on the Kenneth Avenue and Hendricks Avenue. Currently any of the three are used for both entrances and exits.

Parking would be limited to the right side of roads in the park. If approval of the common council is obtained signs will be placed in the park this spring to get visitors acquainted with changes prior to the summer season.

Other Business

The committee instructed the park superintendent to gravel and grade land east of the new athletic field before the start of the track season at Kaukauna High School and authorized the superintendent to work with Guy Krumm, high school athletic director, in laying out areas for high jumping, broad jumping, discus and shot put.

Permission will be sought from the council to advertise for a third full-time employee for the park department and a recommendation will be made to have the purchasing committee secure another commercial type lawn mower for use in parks.

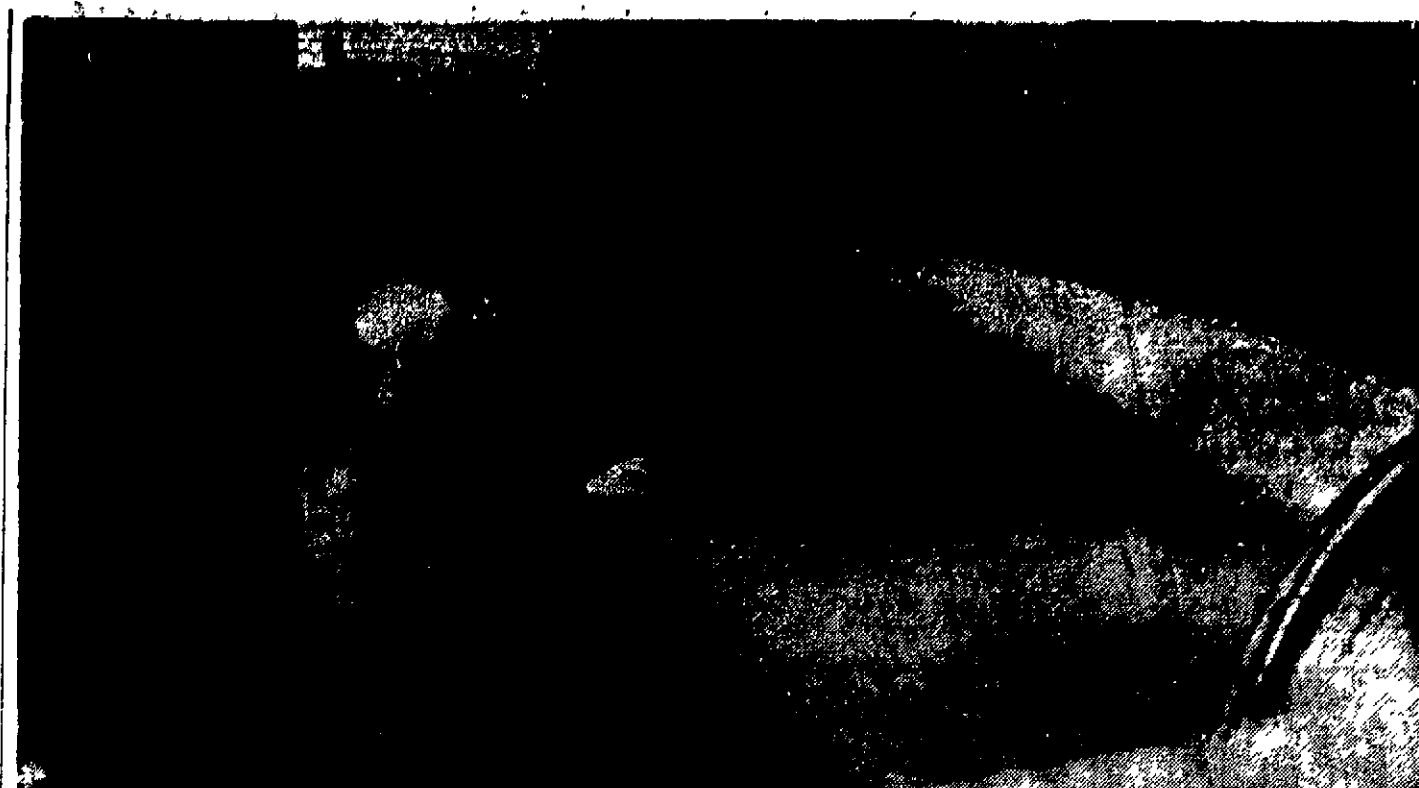

Committee members went on record favoring granting of funds, through the recreation department, to the Veterans of Foreign Wars to help stage a July 14 picnic and to permit the American Legion to utilize city owned property on County Trunk 00 for a picnic in June.

Youth Held After Rifle, 3 Knives Are Taken From Him

Two Appleton policemen Wednesday helped disarm a 19-year-old youth of a .22 caliber rifle, a 13-inch butcher knife, and two four-inch jack knives, one of which was strapped to his ankle.

Police were called to a home about 7 p.m. Wednesday after a complaint the youth had been threatening members of his family. The youth was standing in a corner of the kitchen, waving the butcher knife when police arrived. The family had taken the rifle from the youth before police arrived.

Patrolmen Earl Jackson and Robert Beyer talked to the youth and convinced him to give up the three knives. The youth was taken to the Appleton Police Station, where he is being held on an open charge.

Speaker Says Improvements in Air Service May Be Necessary

T. K. Jordan Tells Aeronautics Unit State's Traffic Growing Too Slowly

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
FOND DU LAC — Wholesale improvements in air service may have to be made to combat the growing influence of modern highway travel in Wisconsin, the state's chief aeronautical official believes.

T. K. Jordan, director of the Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission, opened the eighth annual aeronautics conference here today by warning aviation-conscious officials to look to the ground for trouble.

Jordan told about 120 delegates assembled at the Hotel Redlaw here for the two-day conference that in recent years Wisconsin's airline traffic has not increased at the same rate as in the past.

"Whether our rate of growth is compatible with our economic position is unknown, but information on this subject will be one of the objectives of our coming long-range planning studies."

Jordan then looked groundward for a possible reason. "The opinion is held in some quarters that the growth of scheduled air transportation in Wisconsin is being affected by the inter-state highway system and there are indications that this may be the situation in some areas of the state. If such is the case improvements in air service may be indicated in these areas," Jordan said.

Jordan's voluminous report, which was contained in a dozen type-written pages, covered the full range of Wisconsin aeronautics activity.

The sessions will continue through Friday with a banquet scheduled tonight. Dr. John H. Furbay, "the world's most traveled man" will speak on "Countdown for Tomorrow."

At the conclusion of the conference tomorrow, the State Aeronautics Commission will convene at 2 p.m. for its regular March meeting.

Neenah Candidates Report Election Receipts, Expenses
NEENAH — Ninth ward alderman candidates reported the highest receipts and the highest expenses for the preliminary expense report for the April 2 election.

Reporting receipts of $75.20 and no expenses to the present was Ninth Ward candidate Sidney E. Donaldson.

Florian H. Jabas, also Ninth Ward candidate, reported no receipts and expenses of $34 in his first report.

Supervisor and school board candidates reported no receipts and no expenses. The only other aldermanic candidates who listed expenses were R. Eugene Heimerman, Seventh Ward, $17, and Paul T. Miller, First Ward, $22.00.

Injured Youth, 20, Released From Hospital
Arnold Thompson, 20, 415 W. Atlantic St., was released from Appleton Memorial Hospital Wednesday after treatment of an ankle injury. Thompson was tightening lug nuts on a semi-trailer at the Fox Valley Truck Service when he slipped and fell.

Bill Would Ban Sale of Detergents

Bar Could Go Into Effect in '64 if Passed

MADISON (AP)—Most household detergents now sold in Wisconsin would be removed from store shelves as illegal products under terms of a bill introduced in the State Senate today.

The ban on detergents would be effective Jan. 1, 1964 and apply to cleaning compounds which were found to be non-soluble despite sewage plant treatment.

The State Board of Health would be authorized to determine which detergent products would be barred from sale.

A total of 24 senators affixed their names to the legislation, as authors. But the impetus for the measure was supplied by conservation groups throughout the state.

State Debate
Wisconsin officials have debated for many years the need for anti-detergent laws to protect the purity of underground and surface water. Soap and detergent manufacturers say large amounts of money have gone into research to develop a completely soluble detergent. Experiments have brought forth such products but manufacturers say costs would be prohibitive.

The Senate bill asks a $10,000 annual appropriation to finance enforcement of an anti-detergent law. The only products exempted would be detergent lubricants and petroleum fuels.

Large Amendment Would Restore 'Home Rule' in Milwaukee
State Sen. Gerald Lorge, Bear Creek, Wednesday offered an amendment to a bill which would place school finances in Milwaukee under control of the common council.

The amendment would be tacked onto a bill which would increase the school board's taxing powers. Lorge said the amendment would bring home rule back to Milwaukee in matters of school financing and keep it out of the legislature.

"It's time we gave back to the city the legislative rights it is entitled to," he said.

The bill was laid over until today.

Fifth Youth Arraigned in Robbery Case

OSHKOSH — A fifth person was arraigned today before County Judge James Sitter in connection with the $300 robbery of James Smith, an Oshkosh city employee, last Thursday night.

Arraigned today was James M. Mellock, 20, Milwaukee, who was charged with forcible robbery.

Preliminary hearing was set for April 4 and bond was placed at $5,000.

William O. Glasgow, 21, 611A Division St., Oshkosh, on Wednesday waived preliminary hearing and pleaded guilty to the forcible robbery charge. Sentencing in his case was set for 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Also charged in the forcible robbery are Richard Richards, 19, 611A Division St., Oshkosh, Dennis Kempf, 18, also of 611A Division St., Oshkosh, and Miss Julie Troiber, 19, 327 E. Parkway Ave., Oshkosh. Richards is charged with being a principal in the robbery and Kempf and Miss Troiber with aiding and abetting in the robbery. All are in jail in default of $5,000 bond.

Oshkosh Council Still Disagrees on Manager Powers

OSHKOSH — Councilman Erbin Harenburg verbally attacked councilman John Fitzgerald Wednesday night in a prepared statement read at the start of the common council's workshop session.

Harenburg, who along with Fitzgerald, is a candidate for re-election to the council, differed with Fitzgerald at a March 10 League of Women Voters forum on the meaning of city manager government.

Fitzgerald charged the city manager's power had been extended when the council approved a revised municipal code in February. In his statement, Harenburg denied this saying it was necessary to "clarify a few matters in the public interest."

Harenburg said, "I realize he (Fitzgerald) had no intention of retracting the false inference that he portrayed at the candidates' meeting."

Both Fitzgerald and City Mgr. Ray Harbough were absent from Wednesday's meeting because of the flu. This morning, Fitzgerald again asserted the city manager has more power under the new ordinance than he did under the old.

Some changes were made in the revised ordinance at the request of Fitzgerald, but he was voted down when he asked for a further delay in February for additional study of the new code.

Postpone Action on Hiring Appleton Finance Director

Committee Discusses Report, But April Election Delays Decision

With reorganization of the common council scheduled for April, Appleton's finance committee decided Wednesday night to withhold action on a proposal to have the city hire a finance director.

In a report submitted to each of the city's 20 aldermen and Mayor Clarence Mitchell last week, the Public Expenditure Survey of Wisconsin recommended how the city could establish a department of finance.

The report was prepared at the request of the Appleton Taxpayers Association, and is the second submitted to the common council in the past six months.

Action Delayed
Many Wisconsin cities have a finance director, and although the matter has been a controversial one locally, it appears several aldermen now favor creation of the new post.

The finance committee voted to delay action on the report until after Tuesday's election. It indicated there may be some new members elected to the council and thought the finance director proposition should be aired at a committee of the whole meeting.

"I think the report is a good one," commented Ald. Edward V. Krueger (11th).

Ald. Alvin Tewes (5th) agreed and said the council now had enough information to pursue details and recommendations in the report.

"We should go ahead with something and finalize it," Tewes said.

"It would be wise, however, to wait until the council reorganization so we can get a fresh start as far as this finance director matter is concerned," Tewes added.

Charter Ordinance
The committee instructed City Clerk Elden Broehm to send the taxpayers' group a letter of thanks for having the report prepared. In addition to Tewes and Krueger, Ald. Al Stoebauer (4th) and Fred Ziemann (6th) attended the meeting.

The Public Expenditure group suggested a charter ordinance to establish a department of finance which specified that:

Non-fiscal duties presently the responsibility of the city clerk-controller be performed by the clerk.

Fiscal duties now the responsibility of the clerk-controller be performed by a director of finance.

Duties of the assessor would remain unchanged, except they would be performed by an officer in the department of finance.

The duties of the treasurer would remain the same, and he would also be an officer in the department.

Centralized System
"Removal of the diffused responsibility which presently characterizes financial operations in the City of Appleton, while at the same time achieving even greater monetary control," the report said, "is possible in a single department of finance whose head is responsible to the mayor or the common council."

It was also stressed that such a departmental operation would make possible the most effective use of equipment and personnel brought together in a centralized accounting system.

The report concluded: "An integrated department of finance, combined with a centralization of accounting functions in a central department of finance, will provide the City of Appleton with the type of structure which will be a permanent foundation for effective management of the city's affairs."

Should the council eventually decide to hire a finance director, present elective department heads have indicated they would want clear lines of authority designated for the various offices. Some are already established by state law.

DePere Youth Dies After Auto Crash

Jacobus Gietman, 18, One of Three Riding in Convertible

DE PERE — A youth was killed and two others injured, one critically, in a spectacular one-car crash early this morning.

Jacobus Gietman, 1820 Riverside Drive, died minutes after his 18th birthday at 9:45 a. m. this morning in a Green Bay hospital.

In critical condition is Miss Ruth Beyer, 426 1/2 S. Webster Ave., Green Bay. Also injured is Roy La Combe, 21, 2521 Pine St., Marinette, the driver of the car.

Miss Intersection
The accident occurred at 12:10 a. m. on S. Webster Avenue where the road dead-ends at Chicago Street. According to DePere police, tire skid marks indicated La Combe attempted to stop 110 feet before reaching the arterial.

The car swerved across the intersection and slammed sideways into a utility pole and guide wire. The impact drove the car and a 20-foot segment of the 16-inch pole into the lawn between a hedge and the home of Harry Rhodes, 1402 Chicago St.

The car catapulted into the back yard where it mapped an eight-inch tire before coming to rest on its top. All three occupants were thrown out of the vehicle, police said.

Gietman suffered fractures of both legs, right arm, collar bone and jaw plus internal injuries. Miss Beyer received bruises, lacerations and multiple fractures. La Combe was treated for lacerations to the legs, chin and left eye. His condition is fair.

The crash awakened the neighborhood and blacked out a considerable area in south De Pere and nearby towns. A Public Service Corp. spokesman said the downed pole was a junction pole, carrying 12,000 volts.

Youths Freed on Charge of Giving Beer to Minors
A six-man jury found four Appleton youths innocent of a charge of giving beer to minors after a trial Wednesday in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2.

Charged were John Thomann Jr., Rodney Langman, Thomas Pfeiffer, and Bruce Steger, all 18, all of Appleton. The four were charged by Appleton police after they had been involved in an automobile accident Oct. 30, 1962 in which a 17-year-old high school girl was killed.

Absentee Ballots Available in Villages
KIMBERLY — Persons unable to vote during regular election hours Tuesday in Kimberly, Little Chute and Combined Locks can secure absentee ballots or vote in person by stopping at the office of clerks.

Calendar Is a Dilly; Has 31 Days in April

"Thirty days hath September, April, June and November; All the rest have 31, Save February, which has 28..."

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY

The little dilly struck a humorous note at this week's meeting of the board of public works.

It all happened during a lengthy session in the mayor's conference room at city hall.

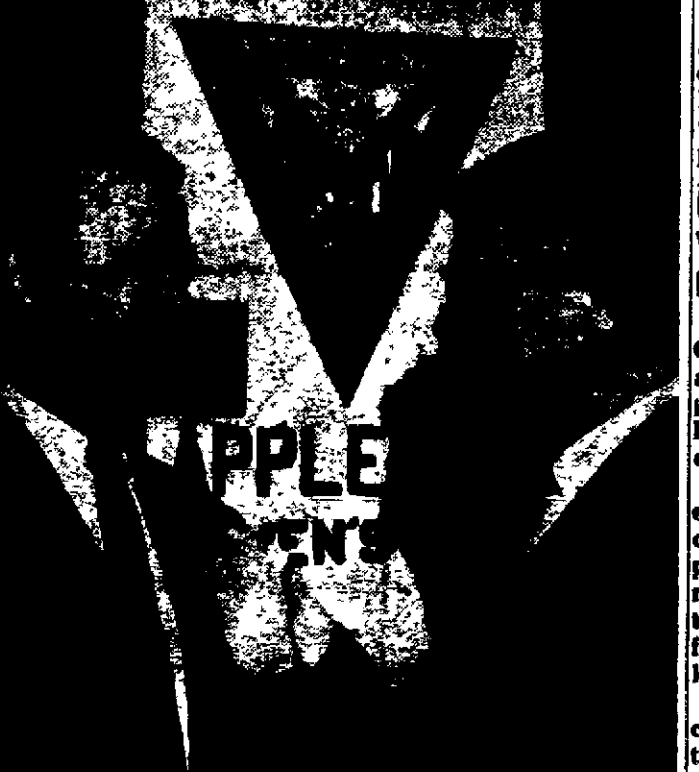

Board members kept glancing at a calendar on the west wall of the room trying to determine future Wednesday meeting dates of the common council.

Suddenly, they realized something was wrong with this beautiful calendar which featured colored photographs of outdoor and wildlife scenes. There were two hitches.

The calendar, a gift to the city from the Meyer Construction

Alvin Van Camp, West DePere, was reported in critical condition at a Green Bay hospital today after being pinned in his wrecked car south of DePere for almost 10 hours Wednesday. His auto left a county road and struck a utility pole and tree. It took rescuers 45 minutes to free him. (AP Wirephoto)

Drug Addict's Work? Second Doctor's Call Bag Stolen; Part of Contents Found

A doctor's bag was found Monday by two small boys and medical equipment taken from the bag was found in the rear of a car parked in the Appleton Memorial Hospital parking lot Wednesday.

Police also received a report Wednesday that contents of a medical bag were found in a restroom at the Owens Service Station at Superior Street and Wisconsin Avenue. The contents were in the women's rest room, in order to obtain the drugs they but a service station attendant.

Police said it appeared a drug addict may be stealing the bags in order to obtain the drugs they contain.

Fact: It required 16 centuries for the world population to reach one-half billion people.
It required only 200 more years for it to reach one billion people.
It required only 80 years more to reach two billion people.
It required only 30 years more to reach three billion people.
It will require only 40 years more to reach six billion people.

If these figures are correct ones (and I've no cause to doubt it), Then I know the reason for my woes, and now and here I flout it. I cannot park my modest car—six million stole the stall: I cannot pick spring violets; the others got them all.

My taxes are immodest, and the reason is quite droll: I support the other fellows; they're on the public dole.

The taxes hooked to little things are small and are forgettable. I pay them on my socks, my tie, and other things regrettable.

But worse, much worse, I'm here to say, than any little tax. Are teeming throngs of folks like me and all our foolish acts. A mob can't care for trilliums, for sweetness in the air; A throng won't like the things I like; a mob just doesn't care.

We can no longer wander through a lush and verdant wood. Nor hear the songbird trill its song as proper songbirds should. We will no longer take a stroll (There's the jostle of the crowd). The traffic is too frightening, the noise of man too loud.

No longer will we ply a road or the sly and wily trout. The rivers are polluted, the streams are silted out. The ponds have been befouled by man and things he makes. The fresh and gurgling streams are gone; there are no sylvan lakes.

The butterflies will fly no more; the 'copters fill the air.

And bees no longer seek the fields—there are no flowers there. The pesticides have killed the shrubs, have decimated birds.

And man—just man—now glut the earth, and travels it in herds.

Deserts which once were empty of ought but burning sands Are now replete with summer folk and weird hillbilly bands.

The mountains—one time barren—are a-crawl with sportive kin

And the spaces—once wide open—are now almighty thin.

There are no fragrant prairies, the scents are poisoned there;

All game is gone except some grouse (the museum has a pair).

The trees have long since left the world (though Georgia has a sprig).

But one can purchase long dead wood—$5.00 for a twig.

Far underground in tunnels damp where treasures once were mined,

Man lives and thrives—the air is fair—with others of his kind.

The swamps and fens and marshes where brackish water flowed

Are now one super-highway, a multi-multi road.

The moon which once was lonely is now a teeming sphere; Its citizens are womenfolk who overflowed from here.

And Mars, that golden orb, once peopled by the Martians

Is now reserved for drinking folks, the toppers, sots and Barts.

There is no room for solitude, the world is over-peopled.

The churches now are factories; the world is under-steeped.

The prayers of man are different now; he does not pray—he preys;

Gehrke Named Permit Officer

Age, Child Labor Certificates to be Available at WSES

He also notes what he has wrought—and the errors of his ways.

O, hear my song of sadness; O, hear my giddy plaint.

The world has not yet come to that; not yet, by gosh, it ain't.

But if I'm here in 40 years when all this comes to pass

I'll say then, as I say now—please keep off my grass!

The Industrial Commission has appointed Fred R. Gehrke, district manager, Wisconsin State Employment Service, at Appleton, as permit issuing officer for child labor permits, street trades permits and age certificates in Appleton effective April 1, 1963. Age certificates are issued only to persons over 18 years of age.

Permits are required for all minors under 18 for all employment except farm labor and work in private homes outside of school hours. Each job the minor holds requires a separate permit. Each time a minor changes employers he must get a new permit. Any employer hiring a minor without a permit can be subject to severe penalties.

The Requirements
The requirements for permits are:
Letter from employer stating his intention to employ a minor, giving the minor's name and address.
Letter from parent or guardian consenting to the employment.
Proof of age—birth record or baptismal certificate.
Required fee—twenty-five cents.
Statement from school principal (for boys under 16 in street trades only).
Permits and age certificates can be obtained from the Wisconsin State Employment office at 427 West College Avenue, Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. upon presentation of the above requirements. Employers may secure a handy leaflet, stating prohibited employments and the age minors may be employed for specific jobs, by contacting the permit officer.

School Bill Turned Down

Would End Power Of Superintendent Over Aid Monies

MADISON (AP)—A bill to curb authority of the office of state superintendent of schools was recommended for rejection Wednesday by the Wisconsin Assembly Education Committee.

The committee's vote to recommend rejection was 5 to 4.

The proposal would remove from the superintendent his authority to withhold payment of state aids to schools not meeting requirements set up by the state office.

The authors, Paul Alfonsi, Republican floorleader from Minocqua, and Curtis McKay, R-Mequn, said they were not discouraged by the committee's vote.

"I think we'll pass the bill," predicted Alfonsi.

"This won't be the first time we beat the Department of Public Instruction on the floor," Assemblyman Robert Barabe, D-Mellen, added.

Several committee members protested the measure. "This bill is a product of people who want the state aids, but want to run their schools as they damn well please," said Russell Wartinebe, R-La Crosse.

Occasional Rain and Light showers are expected to night over much of the western third of the nation. It will be cooler there and in New England. In the rest of the nation it will be mild with fair to partly cloudy skies. (AP Wirephoto)

The only serious flooding in the Fox Valley was reported near Nichols Wednesday. The Wisconsin Highway Department reported State 156, west of the village, still is closed today because of flooding.

Little of the ice on the Wolf is out yet. The Pigeon River flooded part of Walter A. Olen Memorial Park at Clintonville Wednesday.

Ice was reported out of the Embarrass River near Embarrass. No flooding was expected. The Little Wolf River at Waupaca was reported high this morning, but not near flood level.

Creeks and streams in the Chilton area were reported receding this morning by WHKW-FM, near Chilton. The station said the Manitowoc River was up but not seriously high.

Water in creeks and streams also was reported receding near Oshkosh, Fremont, Omro and Winneconne this morning.

Temperatures in Appleton climbed to 57 Wednesday, according to the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., cooperative observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau. The power company had a low this morning of 27, with a rise to 35 at 9 a.m.

The power company said frost depth in the Fox Valley, as of today, is between 12 and 18 inches. The Wisconsin Crop Reporting Service today said the current warming trend may hasten melt-

Woman Gets Savings Back With Interest

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Marie Holmes has her bank account back today.

The Johnston, R.I., woman opened a savings account in the Citizens Savings Bank in 1912. She deposited a total of $700 which had grown, with interest, to $896.82 by Dec. 14, 1939—the last time Mrs. Holmes did anything with her account.

On Feb. 14, 1937, the state took over the account as inactive.

A few months ago, when Mrs. Holmes decided to withdraw some money from her account, she discovered it no longer existed.

Wednesday a Superior Court judge granted her petition for return of the money which now totals $1,922.99, including 3 per cent interest for the time it was in the state treasury.

Japan Preparing to Receive British Foreign Minister Home

Chicago Daily News Service

TOKYO — The world's two greatest island nations will move a little closer to each other today with the arrival of British Foreign Minister Lord Home for a week's goodwill visit. First British Foreign Minister ever to visit Japan, Home arranged his trip after Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was twice forced to cancel scheduled visits.

The British minister's visit is part of a Japanese campaign to cultivate closer relations with Europe. Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda toured Europe last year. French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville is expected to follow Home to Japan after a discreet interval.

Japan is a lot more interested in Europe than Europe is in Japan—mainly because Japan is eager to get its foot in the door of the European Common Market. British interest in Japan has been confined mainly to grumbling about Japanese competition, especially in the textile field. Also British resentment was aroused when several years ago Japan took away Britain's title as the world's leading shipbuilding nation.

Since the two countries are highly competitive, Home's visit isn't expected to produce any appreciable increase in trade.

Students Will Explain Science Demonstrations

Academy Will Judge Wisconsin Junior Talks at Lawrence

Some of the state's outstanding teen-age "scientists" will be explaining their projects Saturday at the Northeast District meeting of the Wisconsin Junior Academy of Science to be held in the Lawrence College Science Hall.

Dr. Stephen F. Darling, Lawrence College, will be guest speaker, according to Jack Arndt, chairman of the Junior Academy, University of Wisconsin Extension Division, Madison.

Lawrence Timm and Harold Wentzel, Kimberly High School students, will preside.

High school students in grades 9 to 12 who will make 15-minute oral presentations are:

Appleton: Mark A. Lemke, James F. Jilek, David C. Mueller, John P. Schilling, Robert J. Schneider, Thomas G. Derber, and Carol A. Klitzke from Appleton High School; and Ann M. Wilcox, Janine F. Arnoldussen, Margaret A. Van Handel and Maureen

F. Harris representing Xavier High School.
Clintonville: Deane T. Crowe, Fond Du Lac: Richard E. Staelzel, Goodrich High School.
Kimberly: Harold Wentzel and Lawrence Timm.
Sheboygan: James F. Mayr and William M. Spira, South High School.
Shawano: Peter E. Lieg, Green Bay: Rolf E. Christensen, East High School.
Manitowoc: Claudia I. Shapiro, Lincoln High School.
Little Chute: Jerome C. Schaefer, Mary K. Ebben, Neil W. Gloudermans, Daniel F. Gloudermans and Thomas J. Hitting from St. John School.

District Awards

The winners from each section will compete for district awards. Students making the three best presentations, based on judges' scores, will be selected as district delegates to the annual statewide meeting of the Junior Academy at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee on May 4.

Students making the next three best presentations will be selected as first, second and third alternates to the statewide meeting. Honorable mention awards also will be presented, and all award winners will receive one-year subscriptions to scientific periodicals.

The Junior Academy was founded jointly by the Senior Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters and the University of Wisconsin in 1944. Students' projects are judged on scientific thought and value, originality, technical skill, thoroughness, presentation, continued interest and practicality.

Heart Murmurs Are Common in Teen-Agers

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I always find your column most informative since you don't fail to answer questions that pertain to us teen-agers. My parents also read and appreciate what you write.

It must be difficult to decide which questions to answer. I hope you continue to write for years to come. — C. Y.

You'll pardon my pleasure in receiving just a plain fan letter. Believe me, it is delightful.

And thoughtful — yes. It is a brain-teaser to try to decide which questions to answer. Oh, some are easy. When a lot of people ask about the same thing, then I reply to one letter that seems to cover the main points.

And sometimes it seems only fair to answer questions about less common problems. These are just as important to the persons who have them.

I choose some questions because they apply to topics that I know are going to be of interest to more and more people, either because of modern living conditions, or the fact that our life span is increasing. Emphysema, arteriosclerosis, different forms of arthritis, are a few examples.

Teen-Agers
I like to answer letters from teen-agers, first because I will know how they some of them feel about asking questions face to face concerning things that both-or them, and second because they will live longer and healthier lives if they begin learning early to understand their bodies and how to take care of them.

Finally, there are questions like this one, that happens to be on top of the pile: "The school doctor has told my 17-year-old son he has a heart murmur. The family and I are very worried. Please explain a heart murmur. Can it be cured, and what precautions must be taken?" — A. M.

A "murmur" is an unusual sound that can be heard through a stethoscope. Some slight variance from average in the shape of the heart or of a valve can cause a small gurgle, whisper or whirling sound out of the ordinary.

A school doctor doesn't have the time to evaluate, much less follow up, such a murmur. He therefore reports it, so the patient's regular doctor can take over.

Some surveys have shown that as many as half or more of all school children have heart murmurs. The majority of cases don't mean illness. A few do indicate heart ailments.

Merely knowing that you have a heart murmur signifies only that you should have it checked. If it is not dangerous, forget it. If it comes from a defect, then your doctor will tell you what treatment or precautions are necessary.

Mumps Hazard
Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that when the mumps "goes down" on a man he can't have any more children? — Mrs. S. S. Sometimes. It depends on whether both testicles are sufficiently damaged. Fertility can be normal if only one is involved.

Reduce Sugar

Note to T. J. C.: Yes, these saccharin - sweetened desserts, and saccharin in coffee, are an excellent aid in reducing sugar in a diabetic diet. Saccharin is not harmful to the kidneys.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy of the leaflet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

Teachers Taking To Theater in Various Fields

NEW YORK (AP) — Teachers are taking an active part in off-Broadway theatrical events this season.

Mordecai Gorelik, research professor at Southern Illinois University, adapted and designed production of Max Frisch's "The Firebugs."

Henry Kurth, of Western Reserve, provided the sets and costumes for "A Darker Flower," and Robert Alvin, a teacher at New York City's High School of Performing Arts, appeared in the cast of "Do You Know the Milky Way?"

Gordon Bradish, an assistant professor at New York University, was directing "Asylum" until playwright Arthur Kopit withdrew the script for revision.

Preliminary Work Starts on Relocation

City Engineers
Studying Meade St.
Intersection

Preliminary work is being done by the city engineering department in connection with the proposed project to eliminate the jog in Meade Street where it intersects with Wisconsin Avenue.

The matter was discussed briefly at Tuesday's meeting of the board of public works at the city hall.

The board had before it a communication from Ald. Donald Mueller (17th) requesting that immediate attention be given the street relocation project. It is estimated the work will cost about $100,000.

Lack of Funds

City officials have considered the project in recent years but it has not been carried out due to lack of funds. However, it appears industrial expansion planned soon may tend to expedite the street relocation.

In other action the board:

Assigned committee room A on the second floor of the city hall as the office for the newly-established city planning department. The room had been used for meetings by the health department.

Rejected as "too high" offers to sell property to the city at 420 and 426 E. Atlantic Street for $15,000 and $20,000, respectively.

Also rejected an offer to sell to the city part of the "Baetz Farm" in the southeast section for $35,000. Lerco, Inc. wants to sell eight acres.

Received a report that construction of a new fire department headquarters station at Atlantic and Drew Streets could get started about Aug. 1, barring unforeseen delays.

Voted to advertise for bids in the near future on the present No. 1 fire station property at Washington and Oneida Streets, and use the money to offset the cost of the new facility. The property, considered "prime real estate," will be sold to the highest bidder, the board said.

Group Says Paint For Street Marks Not Good Enough

Paint applied to city streets and curbs for marking purposes did not do the job in 1962, the common council's public safety committee said Tuesday night.

In the past, the city has purchased paint from private concerns but is now considering getting it through the state highway commission.

Ald. Robert Stumpf (9th), committee chairman, said several aldermen and police department officials complained about the poor street markings. "The paint we got last year just didn't do the job," Stumpf said.

Representatives of two paint companies attended the meeting and suggested the city again obtain bids on paint it will need for 1963.

The council's welfare-ordinance committee also met at city hall Tuesday night and referred to the city attorney a resolution by Ald. Clifford Radder (16th) which calls for a city tow-away ordinance. Radder said such ordinances are in effect in Neenah and Green Bay.

Menasha Firemen, Police to Attend Special Courses

MENASHA -- A special study on the handling of radioactive materials and a two-day fire rescue school in which Menasha police and firemen will take part was announced this morning by Fire Chief Edward Heim.

A Sheboygan fire captain will teach handling of radioactive materials to Menasha firemen and members of the police department April 10 and 11 at the fire house.

The study is in connection with the use of radioactive materials used in manufacture of paper in the Twin Cities.

Police Chief Lester Clark said the fire rescue school, scheduled for March 30 and 31 in Fond du Lac, will qualify firemen and police officers as instructors in rescue work.

Roy Rollins from the Menasha police force and firemen Tom Miller and Lyman Depper will attend the meeting.

COPE Delegates Give Support to Beilfuss For High Court Job

Delegates to the Eighth Congressional Committee on Political Education have advised a resolution recommending the election of Judge Bruce F. Beilfuss to the State Supreme Court.

Meeting in Two Rivers, 28 delegates from Green Bay, Appleton, Sturgeon Bay, Manitowish, Two Rivers and Marinette also recommended "yes" votes on referendum propositions one, two and three.

The group will meet next month in Green Bay.

Attempt to Launch Explorer Postponed

However, Countdown on Saturn Proceeding, With Blast Off Scheduled for This Afternoon

BY HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Payload trouble forced postponement today of an attempt to launch the Explorer 17 satellite, wiping out half of a scheduled space doubleheader.

As the satellite shot was postponed, the countdown was proceeding on the Saturn superboost which was set to blast off between 1:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the Explorer 17 launching was off until at least early next week.

410-Pound Satellite
An official said that a preflight check showed a flaw in a mass spectrometer, one of eight atmospheric measuring devices packed in the 410-pound satellite. He said the instrument would have to be replaced by another being flown here from NASA's Goddard Space Laboratory in Maryland.

The mass spectrometer was to measure electrically neutral particles as the satellite made exploratory sweeps through the earth's atmosphere at altitudes between 155 and 300 miles. Explorer 17's assignment is to make a thorough study of the structure of the atmosphere. The satellite was to have been shot aloft between 9 p.m. and midnight by a Delta rocket.

Engine Cut Off
One of Saturn's engines was to be cut off deliberately during flight to determine the 165-foot-tall, 470-ton vehicle's ability to operate with a dead engine.

As on three previous Saturn flights, only the first stage was to be tested. Two upper stages and a nose cone were dummies.

The booster stage powerplant, the most powerful known rocket in the world, was geared to develop 1.3 million pounds of thrust and burn about two minutes. The spent Saturn then was to coast upward to an altitude of 77 miles before plunging into the Atlantic Ocean 229 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral seven minutes after launching.

Major Objectives
The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said major objectives of the test were to verify further the over-all first stage performance, including propellant utilization, control system, structural integrity and numerous launch and flight techniques.

The flight was the last scheduled for the Saturn first stage only. The initial test firing with the second stage is set for later this year on Saturn's fifth launch, in which the booster will build up full thrust of 4.5 million pounds.

Starting with flight No. 6 late this year, Saturn will carry early unmanned models of the Apollo moonship into orbit. The 11th Saturn, in late 1964 or early 1965, is earmarked to boost a three-man Apollo team into earth orbit for a two-week stay.

By 1966 or 1967, an advanced Saturn with 7.5 million pounds of thrust is to send the three-man Apollo team around the moon. Before 1970, the larger Saturn is to boost Apollo into lunar orbit so that two of the crew can drop onto the moon's surface.

Engine Cut Off
One of Saturn's engines was to be cut off deliberately during flight to determine the 165-foot-tall, 470-ton vehicle's ability to operate with a dead engine.

As on three previous Saturn flights, only the first stage was to be tested. Two upper stages and a nose cone were dummies.

The booster stage powerplant, the most powerful known rocket in the world, was geared to develop 1.3 million pounds of thrust and burn about two minutes. The spent Saturn then was to coast upward to an altitude of 77 miles before plunging into the Atlantic Ocean 229 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral seven minutes after launching.

Major Objectives
The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said major objectives of the test were to verify further the over-all first stage performance, including propellant utilization, control system, structural integrity and numerous launch and flight techniques.

The flight was the last scheduled for the Saturn first stage only. The initial test firing with the second stage is set for later this year on Saturn's fifth launch, in which the booster will build up full thrust of 4.5 million pounds.

Flores Awaits Reunion With His Spouse

Miss Klaben Makes Plane Reservations For Trip Home

BY DALE NELSON
WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory (AP)—Pilot Ralph Flores waited excitedly today for a reunion with his wife, Teresa, who is flying from California to the Yukon, where Flores underwent a seven-week ordeal in the frozen wilderness.

"She'll collapse when she sees me," said the pilot-electrician from San Bruno, Calif. "My face is not the same. It's so high up on this side."

Storm Hampers Flights
Miss Klaben made a reservation to leave Whitehorse this afternoon on the same plane her older brother Arthur, of Wethersfield, Conn., was scheduled to take from Seattle to Whitehorse to join her.

Miss Klaben's flight—and Mrs. Flores' arrival—could be delayed by a snowstorm which has paralyzed air travel in and out of Whitehorse since Wednesday.

Miss Klaben planned to fly to Fairbanks, Alaska, then to Juneau, where she could board a jet for Seattle en route to New York.

Sends for Brother
Miss Klaben sent for her brother to help her sift through bids pouring in for rights to her survival story. One magazine has offered $8,000.

Mrs. Flores and Arthur Klaben met briefly Wednesday night in Seattle as they awaited passage to Whitehorse.

"I can't explain it in words," said Mrs. Flores, 39, "but all this time I knew he would be found." She said the couple's six children "had even more confidence than I had."

"I feel very strongly that the only thing that saved him was his faith," she added. Flores, 42, is described as a devout Mormon.

Employees in the cable and assembly department of Ampex Corp., where Mrs. Flores works, donated the money for her flight.

Caylor said the board struck the huge power saw Schilling was operating and then hit him.

Mrs. Marion Peterson, Miami, holds up a photo of her son, John, 17, who ran away from home because she could not afford to send him to college. The boy, a straight A student, has been missing since Saturday night. Wednesday his school was told he was awarded a four-year National Merit Scholarship and could attend almost any school in the country. (AP Wirephoto)

Glue Sniffing Fatal to Son of Kansas Farmer

FREEPORT, Kan. (AP)—Stanley Duncan's life ended at 19 while he was sniffing glue.

Every body said he wasn't the type. "It can't happen to you, you always tell yourself," says his mother, "but it can and does and I pray Stanley's death will help some youngsters and parents to realize that it can."

Stanley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Duncan, had gone to Harper, 10 miles away, the day he died—March 15. When they returned Howard Duncan found his brother's body.

Suicide has been ruled out. Dr. A. R. Edmundson of Harper said Stanley apparently breathed too much of the glue and suffocated. "He died a violent death," Dr. Edmundson said.

The fumes damage the liver, lungs and frontal lobe of the brain and bone marrow where blood cells are formed.

"When we first saw that article in the paper about glue-sniffing, I told my husband 'Thank goodness we live on a farm and that was one thing that couldn't happen on a farm'. This type of thing happens in the slum areas of New York City," said Stanley's aunt, Mrs. Kenneth Peden.

It was the first glue-sniffing death in Kansas. Freeport's population is about 30.

In high school, Stanley won letters in football, basketball and track. He attended a year of college, then dropped out to start farming with his father.

"He wasn't a problem child. We never had any trouble with him all the time he was growing up. Usually you can tell if your kids are up to something, but this was a complete shock," said his father.

"His intentions were to come in to farming with me. We got more land, bought a new tractor and were all set."

North Korean Attack Backfires on Reds
SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The United Nations command told today of a North Korean attack that backfired—literally.

A U.N. spokesman said North Korean troops fired on a U.N. patrol in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea Wednesday. None of the 12 U.N. soldiers was hit, but the tracer bullets started a grass fire.

The blaze spread deep into Communist territory, exploding about 40 land mines.

Writing of Tax Bill Begins Monday

Sources Predict Proposal Will Go To House in June

BY EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee, which has heard some 200 witnesses on President Kennedy's tax cut and revision proposals, starts next week the even longer task of writing a bill.

Informed guessing on Capitol Hill is that the legislation will go to the House for action in June and that it will contain more immediate tax reduction than Kennedy recommended—about $3 billion though ultimately the reduction might level off at about his long range figure—$10.2 billion.

Moreover, most congressional observers will be surprised if the committee incorporates in this year's bill more than a minimum of the tax revisions that Kennedy called necessary reforms and re-coupings of some of the revenue sacrificed by slashing tax rates.

Tax Cuts
To provide tax cuts without compensating tax revisions and yet not swell too much an impending $11.9-billion deficit, the committee would have to forego rate reductions as deep as Kennedy recommended. Instead of trimming the present 20 to 91 percent personal income tax range as low as Kennedy's proposed 14 to 65, the spread might have to be more like 15 to 75.

Kennedy has made it clear he is interested primarily in an economy-stimulating tax cut and will not make difficulties if Congress enacts this only at the cost of sheaving much of what he called his tax reform program.

Oil Witnesses
The hearings highlighted some of the more vulnerable parts of the program. The last two days' evidence were given over to an onslaught by oil industry witnesses on proposals for tightening some tax rules affecting the industry, especially the controversial 27½ percent depletion allowance. This was figured at $200 million compensating revenue.

Earlier, a prime target had been the Treasury proposal for a floor—5 percent of income—under the personal deduction that would be allowed individual taxpayers for outlays like charitable contributions, mortgage interest and local taxes. The Treasury had calculated a $2.3 billion recovery from this change.

Navy May Adapt Some Antiaircraft Missiles for Shore Bombardment

Marines Worried About Lack of Fire Cover for Beach Assaults

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy may plug a "gun gap" by adapting some of its shipboard antiaircraft missiles for bombardment of shore targets, it was disclosed today.

"The use of Tartar, Talos and Terrier missiles for shore bombardment is being investigated to determine feasibility and cost effectiveness," the Navy told The Associated Press.

In time, the Navy said, its advanced Typhon missile may be used for shore bombardment but "it is too early in the development stage to determine this feasibility."

Marine Leaders
Some Marine leaders and Navy amphibious warfare experts are concerned that a steady attrition in the Navy's heavy gun armament has caused a potentially serious lack of firepower to support over-the-beach assaults.

These professional officers have argued that aircraft cannot give the kind of pinpoint, all-weather fire support that used to come from 16-inch and 8-inch guns mounted on battleships and cruisers.

The Navy doesn't have a single battleship on active service. A proposal that the battleships Iowa, New Jersey, Missouri and Wisconsin be taken out of the reserve fleet and converted into "commando ships" has met with a cold reception from the Navy command so far.

Rear Adm. John S. McCain Jr., the author of the commando ship plan, would strip away the triple 16-inch gun turrets in the after part of these big ships, install a helicopter landing deck and fit out the big vessels to carry perhaps 1,500 Marines.

Cost $50 Million
It has been estimated it would cost about $50 million to convert the four battleships. So far the top Navy command has given a rather low priority to McCain's idea.

The Terrier, Tartar and Talos already are employed on U. S. cruisers and destroyers as anti-aircraft weapons.

The Terrier has a 10-mile range, the Tartar bit longer. These and the Talos use conventional warheads and ride radar beams to their targets at speeds faster than sound.

The Talos can reach more than 65 miles and develops speed of nearly 2,000 miles an hour. The Typhon is designed to give fleet elements a defense against the kind of aircraft and missile threat anticipated in the 1970's.

It would carry a conventional warhead up to 200 miles at supersonic speeds. The system would consist of two types of missiles—Typhon long range and Typhon medium range.

Red Cross Says Bali Volcano Killed 1,500
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Red Cross said Wednesday it had received word that 1,500 persons were killed, 300 hospitalized and 100,000 made homeless by the eruption of Agung volcano in Bali. The agency said a cablegram received this afternoon by way of Geneva, Switzerland, but there was no indication when the message left Bali.

The information was reported by the secretary-general of the Indonesian Red Cross and by Bill Cass of the American Red Cross, who is manager of the Oklahoma City Red Cross office. He is on loan to the Indonesian Red Cross and arrived in Bali a week before the volcano eruption 10 days ago.

Construction Of New Homes On the Rise

Building Industry
Cheered by Surveys
Of Consumer Intent

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The President and the First Lady aren't the only ones with a new house under way or planned. Home construction is rising. And surveys of consumer intentions spread optimism in the building industry. This is a frequent late winter and early spring tendency. But its early flowering this year is particularly encouraging to those who hope the economy can keep moving ahead under its own power—although any outside assists will be appreciated. Housing starts in February are put at an annual rate of 1,280,000, up 4 per cent from January. The spurt encourages the Department of Commerce to stick by its earlier predictions that the year as a whole will see some 1,450,000 non-farm housing units started. This will make 1963 as good as last year, one of the best.

Personal Income
Helping bolster their optimism is a continuing rise in various sectors of personal income and polls showing consumer confidence in the economy generally holds high.

Manufacturers' payrolls in February took their sharpest rise since last spring. In February factory wages and salaries rose to an annual rate of $94.6 billion, topping the 1962 figure. Earnings of all employees and self employed persons, up a billion on an annual rate in January, spurred by $2 billion in February.

It is out of such earnings that most mortgages are sought and payments made. And it is the personal income total, now at an annual rate of $450.8 billion, that takes care of household furnishings, whether on a cash or installment basis.

And when total incomes rise, so does confidence—and family planning.

The University of Michigan Survey Research Center says a nation wide poll just completed shows plans are more widespread now than a year ago to buy houses for owner occupancy or to make improvements and repairs on old ones. But the survey cautions that consumer confidence in the future hasn't gained any since its previous poll in November and December.

A more optimistic finding is reported by Martin R. Gainsbrugh, chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board. His nonprofit research group's latest survey shows more than 45 per cent of the "hundreds of Households contacted during the past two months expect the business situation to improve by midyear." Gainsbrugh says the survey shows home purchasing plans are encouraging and consumer demand in general is strong without signs of faltering.

Copy of Early Constitution To be Auctioned

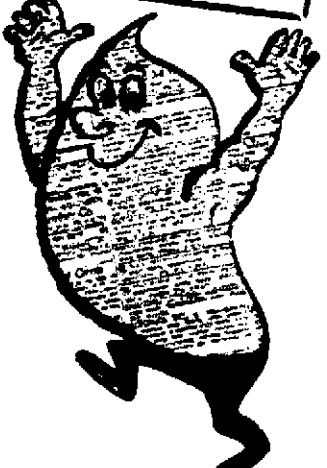

NEW YORK (AP)—A copy of the Articles of Confederation, the earliest constitution under which this nation was governed, will be auctioned April 23, it was announced Tuesday.

Experts believe the document can bring as much as $20,000 at the Parke-Bernet Galleries auction. The document is referred to as "Elbridge Gerry's annotated copy of the second draft of the Articles of Confederation."

The copy is believed to be the first to appear at public auction. It was acquired by a New York private collector directly from descendants of Gerry and contains many marginal notes by the signer.

Gerry, a native of Massachusetts, was a delegate to the constitutional convention at Philadelphia in 1787. He was a member of Congress from 1789 to 1793; governor of Massachusetts, 1810 to 1811; and vice president under President James Madison, from 1813 to 1814.

School Staff Workshop Set

East Wisconsin
Teachers to Hear
Research Director

A leadership training workshop for selected staff members will be sponsored jointly by six Fox Valley and lakeshore school systems next fall.

Dr. Ronald Lippitt, program director of the Research Center for Group Dynamics at the University of Michigan and director of the national Training Laboratory at Bethel, Maine, each summer, will conduct the three-day workshop.

Assisting him will be two staff members from the University of Michigan and five men from the state department of public instruction.

Sponsoring Schools

School systems cooperatively sponsoring the workshop are Appleton, Neenah, Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Sheboygan and Manitowish. Each will select seven staff members who are interested in leadership training to attend. The workshop tentatively will be in Green Bay on Aug. 27, 28 and 29.

This is an example of something that we in Appleton feel we cannot finance alone, Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz said.

The Fox Cities school systems will cooperate in the orientation program for teachers next fall, he said. Plans are being made to secure a keynote speaker for the program. School systems cooperating will be Appleton, Kimberly, Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha.

4 From AHS Will Vie in French Test

Four Appleton High School French students will enter the semifinals of the annual French poetry contest sponsored by the Wisconsin Chapter of American Association of Teachers of French Saturday in Green Bay.

The contestants have been selected by an elimination process and have been working outside of class with Mrs. Kim H. Miller, the coach. They are Katie McMahon, first year; Kris Helminen, second year; Donald Whitney, third year, and Kathy Wheeler, fourth year.

The poems, chosen by an A.A.T.F. committee for this year, are "Le Cancre" by Jacques Prevert, first year; "Une Allee du Luxembourg" by G. de Nerval, second year; "Le Loup et l'Agneau" by J. de la Fontaine, third year, and "La Salle a Manger" by F. Jammes, fourth year.

The semifinals will be at the University of Wisconsin Extension Center in Green Bay at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Art Department May Paint Mural For New School

The Appleton Board of Education has discussed the possibility of a contribution to the new Johnston School by the school art department in the form of a painting or mural, and decided it would welcome suggestions from the art department.

The idea came from board member Mrs. Walter Heil, who suggested that rather than hanging a historical tablet or picture of John F. Johnston in the new school, an "artistic expression of Appleton's early history" might be preferable.

It would enhance the beauty of the building, could be inspiring to the youngsters, and would give the art staff some satisfaction in having made a contribution to the building, she said.

The board decided it would be receptive to the idea if the art staff is interested in doing something of this nature.

The board also agreed to change orders to equip a room in Johnston School, originally planned as a conference room, as an extra classroom.

Truckers Ask For More Liberal Laws

Suggest Changes in Length, Weight Rules;
Railroads Opposed

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—The perennial political struggle between commercial truckers and the railroads will flare anew in the state legislature as the truckers press for a liberalization of the laws governing their operations on the highways.

The Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association announced here Tuesday that it expects to ask the legislature for changes in length, weight and other statutory controls over trucks in connection with new recommendations expected to come from the National Association of State Highway Officials.

The Wisconsin Railroad Association promptly announced that it will do battle against the propositions.

Powerful Unit
The truckers in combination with the teamsters' union, and the railroad companies in alliance with the railroad employee brotherhoods, represent two of the most powerful and resourceful lobbies operating in the state capitol.

John P. Varda of the truckers association said a special committee on legislation of his group decided Tuesday that it would ask for changes in trucking restrictions only if the national highway officials' group urges policy liberalizations, but that such a report from the highway administrators organization is expected to be made public next week.

Frank Babbitt, Eau Claire trucker, is chairman of the legislative committee of the trucking association.

Byron Ostby, legislative counsel for the railroads, said he believes the highway officials are hesitating about recommending more liberal road laws for the truckers, and that he intends to fight the trucking bills to the limit.

Varda said principal objectives will be to extend the maximum lengths of trucks from 50 to 55 feet and to permit "double bottom" arrangements, or a trailer attached to a semi-trailer on Wisconsin roads, with a 65 foot length with "double bottoms" on selected highways such as the Interstate System.

The truckers also want more lenient weight laws that would increase axle weight limits in such a way as to permit hauling of more than the 73,000 pounds maximum now specified in state law. The present 13 and one half feet height limit for trucks would not be changed, he said.

More Accidents Early Sunday

Most Dangerous
Hour for Drivers
Found to be 1-2 a.m.

The most dangerous 60 minutes on Outagamie County roadways is Sunday morning between 1 and 2 a.m., statistics compiled by the Outagamie County traffic department of accidents reported in 1962 show.

More accidents were reported in that one hour than in any other hour throughout the week. Police responded to 20 accident calls throughout the year between 1 and 2 a.m. on Sundays.

The same hour headed the week-long column for the most dangerous period of time with 52 calls. The supper hour, 5 to 6 p.m. throughout the week, was listed as the second most dangerous 60 minutes with calls for 49 accidents.

Ironically, the least amount of accidents were reported between 3 and 6 a.m. Wednesday was the safest day of the week with only 62 accidents reported throughout the year on that day.

Sundays were the most dangerous with 121 accidents, followed by Saturdays with 116. Fridays had 91 accidents and Thursday, 82, and Tuesdays followed with 66.

Youth Changes Plea; Fined $50 and Costs

OSHKOSH — James Porto, 19, 820 Arthur St., Menasha, Wednesday afternoon changed a previous innocent plea to one of no contest to a disorderly conduct charge.

Firemen Put Out Second Mail Box Fire

The second U. S. mail box fire in recent weeks was extinguished by Appleton firemen who went to Mason and Spencer streets about 12:50 p. m. Wednesday.

Firemen used a chemical solution to put out the fire in the metal box. A post office employee removed the damaged mail contents. An old-fashioned wood match was found inside the box.

In recent weeks, firemen put out another mailbox fire which may have been caused by a lighted cigaret found in the box on Union Street. Post office authorities are investigating both fires.

Write-in Contest Builds For 6th Ward Supervisor

MENASHA — A job no one seemed to want when nomination papers were being circulated several weeks ago — the Sixth Ward supervisory post — has suddenly become one of the most sought after in the city. No nomination papers were filed by the Jan. 29 deadline.

However, two Sixth Ward residents have publicly announced they will seek election by write-in vote and several others have indicated they may join the ranks of late comers.

A third resident Wednesday night announced he would become a write-in candidate and placed newspaper advertisements. He withdrew his announcement less than an hour later.

Latest candidacy to be announced was by Carl Steffin, 630 Sixth St., Menasha, a former Menasha High School teacher and coach.

Steffin, a native of Shawano, has lived in Menasha since 1952. He coached both football and baseball at Menasha High School, and the Bluejays won their last grid championship under him. Since 1960 he has been supervisor of stenographic services and filing at Marathon, a Division of American Can Co.

Steffin's only opposition candidate who has publicly announced entry into the race, will be Robert Vanevenhoven, who revealed his entry into the race Wednesday.

Vanevenhoven, who lives at 636 Elizabeth St., Menasha, has been Menasha recreation director since 1958 after serving in a similar capacity previously at Kaukauna. Heiss Retires

Clayton Heiss, 609 London St. incumbent supervisor, did not take out nomination papers this spring after serving several terms.

Two other residents have indicated interest in the post. Neither could be reached this morning.

Buns Traditional for Easter Season Adapted From Old World Recipes

Everyone Remembers the old folk chant from 18th Century England that goes, "Hot Cross Buns, Hot Cross Buns; One-a-penny, two-a-penny, Hot Cross Buns." Here are Cherry Hot Cross Buns that fit the street venders' cries of long ago. They're filled with the flavor and crunch of glaze and maraschino cherries.

Hot Cross Buns such as those above are a familiar delicacy throughout Lent in the United States. Many Europeans still adhere to the old custom of preparing them for Good Friday and Easter week. Sweet and spicy, the buns are polka dotted with raisins and topped with the distinctive cross of powdered sugar icing.

These Delicious Old World Cherry Buns are made from unbleached flour for a unique flavor, grain and texture. Just before baking time, the dough in the center of each bun is pressed down and is filled with a tart, red cherry filling.

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

Sweet and spicy buns for the Easter season have a very old and interesting history. Of all the famous buns, small cakes and Easter breads of the Old World, the hot cross bun is the most familiar.

The eating of cross bread at the turn of the season in the springtime really goes back to pagan times and pre-Christian symbolism. To the pagan world, the cross indicated the four quarters of the moon. The bread was believed to be sacred to the gods of many peoples — the Aztecs and Incas, the moon goddess of the Egyptians and the ancient Roman and Greek gods.

Being sensible folk with interest in good food, the Greeks and Romans started eating it themselves for their spring festivals. In England, the early Christian church adopted cross bread from old Saxon rites and made it traditional as a breakfast bun for Good Friday.

By 1733, when extravagant fruit became fashionable and cherries from Kent orchards began arriving by barge to fill the costermongers' barrows and carts at Covent Garden in London, the red fruit often was used for the cross buns. The cherries were candied or glazed before being baked into the buns that were hawked, still warm from the oven, along London streets on Good Friday morning. The sing-song chant of the venders became a part of folk-song lore with its lilting "One-a-penny, two-a-penny, hot cross buns."

Another interesting facet in the hot cross bun story is the variety of ways the cross can be applied. Because Easter buns and breads are traditional, customs vary according to origin. Some bakers form the cross of confectioner's sugar icing after the buns are baked. Others simply slash a cross on the top before baking, then use a thin sugar glaze. Still others insist that the proper way to make hot cross buns is to bake a cross of cooked custard into the top of each bun.

Today's recipes include two variations of the hot cross bun and a delightful cherry-filled bun without

Sheinwold Contract Saved by Thought

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Do you suffer from spots in front of your eyes? This is a helpful malady if you happen to be playing bridge.

When this hand was played in the recent Intercollegiate Bridge Championships, South usually made his game contract of three notrump. College students are too young and healthy to be troubled by spots.

In most cases East won the first trick with the ace of clubs and held the second trick with the queen of clubs. West waited.

impatiently for another club, but East always fidgeted and looked intently at the dummy with the familiar appearance of a man who is about to switch to a different suit.

No matter what East returned, South was safe. With a spade return, for example, South could win and knock out the ace of diamonds. The defenders could get only three clubs and one diamond.

Best Defense
 The best defense beats declaration. West should notice dummy's club spots, the nine and ten, and should look at his own, which include the eight and the seven.

Noticing these spots should lead West to overtake the queen of clubs with the king at the second trick. Then West can lead the eight of clubs to force out the jack. This establishes the rest of the clubs, and West gets in with the ace of diamonds in time to run the clubs and defeat the contract.

West would not be able to make this play if South had clubs headed by J-8 instead of his actual J-6. West can tell that the correct play is safe only if he watches the spots carefully.

Daily Question

Facial Blemish Troubles

If there's a beauty problem that causes the female contingent as much consternation as facial blemishes, it's blemished hands. The present concern of many lovelies, or so they write me, seems to be the development of "spots" on both the nails and hands.

For the welfare of readers in general, the most frequently asked questions are answered below.

What's the cause and remedy for white spots under the nails? If they are prevalent, such markings usually signal a dietary deficiency or a physical disturbance. And a medical check-up is in order. When a single white spot or strip appears, it can be put down to external injury to the matrix, from careless manicuring or an accidental blow. It will grow out with the nail and can be covered meanwhile with polish.

Why would the upper portion of a nail develop a white, pocket-like, the purpose, work well for some women. Applications fade the spots and so render them less noticeable. As exposure to sun accentuates the condition, the hands should be protected therefrom.

How can calloused spots be removed from the sides of the fingers? Smooth them with pumice steer and apply cuticle cream, daily, until they disappear.

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for Lovelier Hands. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed stamped envelope and 30 cents in coin.

Panhellenic Council Sets Annual Tea

Plans for the annual Panhellenic Tea for high school senior girls and their mothers were made at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Panhellenic Council at the Terrace Room of the Lawrence College Union. The tea will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. April 21 at the Union. A style show and panel discussion on sorority rushing will be presented by collegiates from the Fox Cities. Mrs. William Giese has charge of the program. Mrs. R. W. Uehling will plan decorations and Mrs. Alton Swanson is invitations chairman.

Golden Agers Hear City Attorney

KAUKAUNA—City Atty. Donald Green discussed the advisability of incorporating the organization at the Monday night meeting of the Golden Age Club. He also advised the members on making out wills. A hobby craft exhibit was planned for the future. Cards were played after the business meeting. Add Cheese You can add as much as one cup finely grated cheese to one cup thin or medium white sauce.

Traditional Buns for Eastertime

the cross. One of the cross breads is spicy with cinnamon and sweet with raisins. The other is a sweet roll made from hot roll mix with each bun crammed full with red and green bits of glace cherries and the frosting cross decorated with whole maraschino cherries.

Hot Cross Buns
1 cup dark or golden raisins
1 pkg. or cake yeast
¾ cup warm water
1 cup boiling milk
3 tablespoons shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg, beaten
¾ to 4 cups sifted flour
Melted butter
Egg Wash (1 egg yolk beaten with 2 tablespoons water)
Sugar Icing

Chop raisins coarsely. Sprinkle or crumble yeast into warm water in warm bowl; stir until yeast is dissolved. Combine hot milk, shortening, sugar, salt and cinnamon. When lukewarm, stir in beaten egg and half the flour; beat until batter is smooth and thick. Add yeast, raisins and enough of remaining flour to make moderately stiff dough.

Scrape dough from sides of bowl; cover and let rise in warm place away from drafts until double in bulk, about one and one-half hours. Turn dough out onto floured board; divide into 12 equal-sized pieces for large buns or 24 pieces for small buns. Shape dough into rounds and place about one and one-half inches apart on a greased baking sheet. Brush with melted butter (or oil) and let rise until double in size, about 35 to 40 minutes.

With scissors or very sharp knife, cut cross carefully in top of each bun. Brush buns with Egg Wash. Bake in preheated, 400-degree oven 15 to 20 minutes. Remove from oven and cool. Decorate each indented cross with sugar icing; white buns are still warm.

To make sugar icing: Mix one-half cup powdered sugar with one tablespoon water.

Cherry Hot Cross Buns
1 pkg. hot roll mix
¾ cup warm (not hot) water
1 egg
¾ cup chopped green glace cherries
¼ cup chopped red glace cherries

1½ cups sifted confectioners sugar
5 teaspoons milk
Whole maraschino cherries
Dissolve yeast (in hot roll mix package) in water. Blend in egg. Mix in hot roll mix and chopped cherries. Cover and let rise in warm place until dough doubles in size. Flatten dough on lightly floured surface. Shape into balls (about one and one-half inch in size) and place on greased baking sheets. Let rise again in warm place until doubled in size. Using scissors, cut deep cross in each bun. Bake in preheated, 400-degree oven 10 to 15 minutes, or until golden brown. Cool slightly.

Combine confectioners sugar and milk; mix until smooth. Pour in crosses. Top each bun with whole maraschino cherries. Recipe makes about 18 buns.

Old World Cherry Buns
1 (No. 1) can tart red cherries
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons unbleached flour
1 tablespoon butter
Few drops red food coloring
1 pkg. active dry yeast
¾ cup warm water
1 cup milk, scalded
½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
4 to 4½ cups sifted unbleached flour

Drain cherries thoroughly. Combine sugar and flour; add cherries. Cook over low heat until mixture is thick and smooth. Add butter and food coloring. Cool and reserve for later use.

Soften yeast in warm water. Add hot milk to shortening, sugar and salt. Stir until shortening is melted; cool mixture to lukewarm. Stir in one and one-half cups flour. Add softened yeast and egg; beat well. Stir in enough remaining flour to make a soft dough. Cover and let rest 10 minutes.

Place dough on lightly floured surface; knead until smooth, about five minutes. Place dough in greased bowl; cover and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about one to one and one-half hours. Punch down; cover and let rest 10 minutes.

Roll dough to slightly less than one-half inch thick. Cut buns with two and one-half inch cutter. Place about two inches apart on lightly greased baking sheet. Cover and let rise until light, about 45 minutes. With fingers, press down center of each bun; spoon in reserved cherry filling. Bake surface; knead until smooth, about five minutes. Place dough in greased bowl; cover and let rise

Recipe makes about 18 buns.

A Change in Small Tables

New good looks isn't the only thing new about new small tables — how they're used is sometimes more novel than their appearance. They aren't held back by size or shape that's customary in stand-pat locations. Changes are made in which kind goes with a sofa, and what type goes where with what chair.

Pairs of small tables in front of sofas turn from round top pedestal shapes to rectangles with legs, and instead of being a rectangle with legs, the table with a chair may be a pedestal. If it is, it may not be chair-side, but set forward from the chair. Pedestal tables move about the room to wherever they're convenient. The largest new favorite small table has the diameter of a coffee table and the 24- to 25-inch height of a low dining table. Pairs of upholstered chair, usually of novel design, to arrange with it, and the grouping takes an independent, free-standing position in the room.

Underneath those layers of dingy varnish you may have something there — a beautiful piece of furniture that needs only to show its fine wood grain. Learn how to work refinishing wonders with the help of Elizabeth Hillier's booklet, "Furniture Refinishing — How to Do It Yourself." It's yours for 15 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to Miss Hillier at this newspaper. Please allow approximately 3 weeks for mail delivery.

Lake Geneva Senior Wins State Title

Ann Mathilde Floberg of Badger High School, Lake Geneva, has been named State Homemaker for Wisconsin and will receive a $1,500 scholarship from General Mills. Miss Floberg ranked first among 11,828 girls in 389 high schools in the state. She will compete with other state Miss Floberg winners in the national contest.

Nancy Ann Lee also of Chippewa Falls High School, ranked second in Wisconsin and will receive a $500 scholarship. Eight other senior girls in Wisconsin received honorable mention in the Homemaker test. They are Joanne Louise Anderegg, Blair High School, Blair; Mary Anne Gilbertson, Elk Mound High School, Elk Mound; Patricia Ann Mair, Aquinas High School, La Crosse; Jane Wolman, Madison West High School, Madison; Mary Lynne Martin, Mayville High School, Mayville; Eileen Alice Brushaber, Menomonie Falls High School, Menomonie Falls; Elizabeth Anne Williams, Omro High School, Omro, and Mary Ellen Werning, Waukesha High School, Waukesha.

Miss Floberg was her school's representative at Badger Girls State last year. During her high school course Miss Floberg has been an honor student and has been especially active in dramatics and music. In the latter field she has served as choir accompanist and has participated in solos and ensembles in the music contests.

She hopes to continue her music, as well as French and mathematics, in college, but is not sure yet which school she will enter next fall.

Parent's World Psychologists Versatile; Some Are Mothers, Too

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR EVE JONES: I'm sure most female psychologists are either single or haven't bothered to have babies because babies hurt a woman's career and ruin her figure.

And any mother has more experience in bringing up children than some male psychologist.

So why should we mothers listen to what you or any other psychologist says about raising our children? All we need is our common sense. Mrs. V. K.

Many children's problems so defy common sense understanding that they must be helped by the insights of professional psychology.

The personal experience of the psychologist is largely irrelevant — although, by the way, most professional psychologists, whether male or female, are married and have children. It's training and professional experience that counts.

Let's hope your ideas about child rearing aren't as confused as your notions about child bearing: Blame yourself, not your children, if you're fat and bored. Most modern women recognize they can have satisfying careers and healthy, trim bodies, as well as having children.

DEAR EVE JONES: I'm surprised you aren't more gentle and reassuring. Don't you imagine you put people on the defensive with your tart tone when you answer some questions? Mrs. R. C.

I hope so. People seldom change behavior that others approve of. And sweet, reassuring noises are out of place when parents must be checked into recognizing problems.

DEAR EVE JONES: We live in an apartment and the laundry is in the basement. I keep my 16-month-old boy with me while I do the wash, of course. But I can't figure out what to do with him while I'm taking the dirty clothes down or the clean clothes up.

I can't leave him in the basement by himself, certainly. But if I leave him upstairs in his play pen alone, he screams and is totally miserable. This has been going on for months now, although I've tried to reassure him that I'm not leaving him for long. Is this a problem, or am I imagining things? MRS. M.W.

At his age, he's almost old enough to understand that out-of-sight isn't necessarily out-of-mind. But it's always dangerous to leave a young child alone, even for a few minutes.

You're lucky he stayed safe when you took such chances while he was so young he ignored your absence. Now let his current objections to being left alone alert you to better safety habits.

Let him crawl up or down the stairs a few steps above you while you handle the clothes bundle. Practice dropping your bundle in a hurry, so you can easily catch him should he slip.

Or, re-arrange your laundry schedule with the other tenants in your building. Do your laundry in the evening or over the weekend when your husband can baby-sit, or play let's - all-go-to - the-basement-together with your husband and child.

'Ornery' Husband's Behavior Requires Attention of Physician

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has just handed me the most cutting insult of all time. He brought home a safety deposit box with a lock bigger than my head.

Landers

When he got ready for bed this evening, he took everything out of his pockets, billfold, checkbook, identification cards, etc., put them in the box and made a great show of locking it. He then put the key in the pocket of his pajama and pinned the pocket together with a big safety pin.

never been burglarized and nothing has ever been missing. He is 33 years old and has a good job. He has always been moody and sort of a sourpuss but this behavior is the worst yet. What does it mean? — Insulted

Dear Insulted: The man sounds more sick than ornery. If he continues this locking up ritual insist that he see a doctor for a physical check up. Phone the doctor for an appointment and inform him of your husband's odd behavior. He will take it from there.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 18-year-old daughter graduated from high school last Spring and didn't want to go to college. She took a business course and is now working in an office.

At Christmas time she informed us that she and a young man who works in the accounting department are officially engaged to be engaged. Don't ask me what that means. We don't know either. She is wearing his fraternity pin and he eats here every night.

The boy's parents live in Fort Worth and he is planning on driving down to see them next month. He wants our daughter to drive with him so she can meet his folks.

This is a 700 mile trip and would mean two nights on the road. My husband is against it. I am undecided. Our daughter says we are living in the dark ages. Your opinion? — Queen Victoria

Dear Vic: It would be neither wise nor proper to O.K. a 700 mile trip. It's too long — even in Texas.

Your daughter can fly down, and meet his folks and then fly home. But these two should not be traveling together.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You must be a sadist. What do you mean by saying it's okay for a teen-ager who got a failing mark to be grounded for six weeks? A drunk driver gets 30 days. Is this worse?

I'm a 17-year-old boy and I think you should look at it from our side. Contrary to what parents think, all students can't make straight A's. Besides, too much emphasis is put on grades anyway.

Teachers can make a big difference, too. Certain teachers are tough graders.

Kids would do better if their parents rewarded them for good grades instead of punishing them for bad grades. Or at least in this case they should have given "Prisoner" a break and waited to see if she could bring up her flunk next time. Be on our side once, will you? — Glad to be Graduating in June

Dear Glad: "Prisoner" was grounded because she flunked a subject, not because she didn't make all A's. Remember?

A student who can't eke out a D should not be allowed a full social life. Sorry, Bub. The advice stands.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Would You Work if You Didn't Need the Money? Survey Asks

CHICAGO — Most people would work even if they didn't need the money, according to a study by the University of Michigan Survey Research Center.

In response to a questionnaire sent to workers in various types of jobs throughout the country, 80 percent said they would continue working even if they suddenly had all the money they needed.

Wanting to work, however, is not the same as liking your job, said Dr. Robert L. Kahn, director of the center.

About two-thirds of those who said they would keep working also added that they wouldn't stay on the same job.

Most of the men said they would prefer to have a small business of their own, Kahn said.

The reason most gave for wanting to keep working indicated that they want to keep occupied to avoid boredom.

Don't Like Jobs
"This finding was fairly general for most occupations and ages and it indicates an almost universal need for work," Kahn said.

But while work seems essential to a balanced life, he pointed out, many people are working at jobs they don't like.

In the same survey, the men were asked to define work. About 50 percent said work is something you have to do or something you don't like to do.

Just 20 percent defined work as a productive thing having social value to others. The rest were evenly divided between the idea that work is exertion or a scheduled routine that is paid for.

Kahn said organized workers tended to define work negatively and he urged labor unions to take on the job or making work more meaningful to their members.

Teach Responsibilities In Daily Family Living

Responsibility is another principle of democracy you can teach your family in day by day living, according to Regenia Chadwick, family life specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

As a citizen of Wisconsin and the United States, you have the right to choose public officials. But you have the responsibility to vote. You have freedom of speech but your responsibility is twofold — to speak the truth and to speak with kindness and consideration for other people.

You're free to use all outdoors as a playground. But you're responsible for picking up after yourself. To avoid destroying and defacing property is another outdoor responsibility.

Assume Responsibility
As children are growing up, you can let them do what they want to as soon as they are capable and willing to assume responsibilities that go with it. For example, your 9-year old may know he is due home from the playground by 5 p.m. If he's responsible enough to come home at that time, you're more likely to let him go the next time.

On the other hand, if you let your 16-year old take the car, you expect gas in the tank when you need to drive to work the next morning. If the tank is completely empty, you may hesitate about letting him take the car the next time.

You need to talk over with your children ahead of time the responsibilities that go with various activities. This is a good way to help them set standards and make order out of conflicting social values.

Today's Etiquette

SON TOO HASTY
Dear Louise: I became a widow a month ago and have three grown children in their twenties. The youngest is a son who was named for his father. He now wants to cancel the Jr. This hurts and troubles me for it seems so soon. Furthermore, we have a family business and my late husband was well known in the city. It would seem that until the estate is settled, there might be some mix-ups or confusion if my son eliminates the Jr. right now. What is the rule on this?

Louise Davis Answers:
Although a son is entitled to omit the Jr. after his father's death, it seems almost hard-hearted to even want to do it so soon. It is as though your son suddenly feels grown up, mature and ready to take his father's place in business and in the community. It also has the connotation that he is cutting off the memory of his father at an early date. If the father had lived in one city and the son in another, the sudden absence of the Jr. could be better understood and condoned. For reasons of sentiment and thoughtfulness for his mother and family, it would be only natural to remove the Jr. at a later time such as in six months or a year.

SYMPATHY CARD
Dear Louise: Is it permissible, after a bereavement, to send a printed card of sympathy with a floral design on it, and merely sign your name?

Louise Davis Answers:
Yes, but a hand written note is more thoughtful and personal. (All Rights Reserved)

Be Prepared if Your Appliances 'Conk Out'

BY MARY FEELEY

Women are supposed to be the realists in this world, and men the dreamers. But the theory doesn't always hold.

A case in point is the attitude many a woman takes toward her household equipment. She expects to live happily ever after with her new automatic washing machine, or the freezer she just bought. It just never enters her mind that even a major appliance must some day collapse from exhaustion.

This optimistic point of view can lead to a real calamity in the family—and often does. There comes a year when the automatic washer breathes its last, and there's no money in the till for a replacement. Or even worse, both the washer and the sewing machine give out simultaneously—the same season a down payment ought to go toward a new car!

Plan For Replacements

Many families take advantage of a windfall—an unexpected bonus, maybe, or an endowment policy paying off—to buy major household appliances. Which is certainly a justifiable investment. But unless there's some plan for regular savings toward replacing these items, the budget will sooner or later come a cropper. It's one of the problems I run into often in discussing family finances.

Many things affect the service

Auto Mechanic Whiz Only Roman Driver

Chicago Daily News Service

ROME — The Italian woman who has a driver's license is called "a woman who has won."

No wonder

The male tester opens up the hood of a car, makes her name all the parts of the motor, explain their function and often checks to be sure that she can change a tire.

Only the most determined women, I'm told with reputations to uphold and nerves of tempered steel, will take the test and drive in Rome's chaotic traffic.

The woman driver also has to be a Portia, prepared to argue her case eloquently in many lawsuits.

Oddly enough "a woman who has won" is also a way of describing a career woman.

of life of an appliance. True, a good piece of equipment does last a long, long time, with proper care. But you really should give a thought to the year when you will want to trade it in, sell it, or give it away before it falls apart.

Life Span Of Appliances

Here are some estimates of the life expectancy of household equipment, according to a U.S. Department of Agriculture scale.

Electric washing machine, automatic and semi-automatic — 11 years

Dryer—14 years
Freezer—15 years

Electric sewing machine — 24 years

Vacuum cleaner, upright — 18 years

Wringer and spin-dryer washing machine—10 years

These statistics should be of help in predicting expenses. For if you recall the year of purchase of your various appliances, you'll have a pretty good idea how much longer you can expect them to last. Now's the time to start building up the replacement fund—not when you're face to face with the emergency.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I read your article about what's fair board for the office girl living at home. Very interesting and something so many of us mothers face.

Now — what about the boys? What should a boy, 23, making 120 take home pay weekly, pay his parents while he's living at home?

Mrs. L., Chicago Heights, Ill.

Dear Mrs. L.:

On his salary, $30 a week ought to be a fair arrangement. It should cover expenses involved, and leave you a few extra blessings to count.

However, if you're really hard-pressed financially, this sum might be increased. Keep in mind that a young man normally has more expenses than a single girl has, and needs to keep a larger per cent of his income for himself.

I hope your main interest is in encouraging him to save. If he is saving and carrying life insurance while he can buy it at a low rate, and having a normal social life, you may wish to make it as easy for him as you can where room and board are concerned.

P.S. And maybe you'd better stop calling that 23-year-old man a "boy," or he won't be paying any board at all. He'll be gone! (For Mary Feeley's budget saver leaflet, send your request to her in care of this newspaper, together with self-addressed and stamped long envelope.)

Youth Choirs To Sing Works By L. K. Maesch

Composer's Wife
Director of Groups
In Friday Recital

Three children's anthems written by Lawrence Conservatory Director LaVahn K. Maesch and conducted by the composer's wife, will be featured on the Sigma Alpha Iota benefit recital at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Harper Hall.

On the same program works for unaccompanied flute will be performed by Miss Patricia Mann, Lawrence instructor in music.

Maesch's anthems will be sung by the Carol, Lyric and Pilgrim Choirs of First Congregational Church, Appleton. They were written especially for the young choristers on earlier occasions.

The composer is organist-adult choirmaster at the church. His wife conducts the parish's four youth choirs.

The featured anthems are of a sacred nature, like all the choral works on Friday's program. They are scored for multiple-choir performance.

The first, "Birds are singing," will be sung by two choirs of children in grades two through four. A second anthem, "Awake to love and work," is scored for two choirs of fifth through tenth graders. The third, "All things bright and beautiful," will be sung by the three groups.

The entire program, a benefit performance to aid the Sigma Alpha Iota National Foundation, is as follows:

Hussein Gambling To Save Throne

New Cabinet Working for Arab Understanding Is Anti-Nasser

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
Jordan's King Hussein has shaken up his cabinet in what seems a gamble to save a shaky throne.
With his nation almost ringed by enemies, Hussein may have decided he can't lick them but may be able to join them.
Dismissing Premier Wasfi Tell, the king announced his intention of installing a government which would work for Arab understanding. He turned once again to old apt INSERT an AP News Analysis hands who stood by his grandfather, the Emir Abdullah, after Britain carved the unlikely little

Six Men Seek 3 Trustee Posts At Kimberly

KIMBERLY — At least one new trustee will take his place on the village board after Tuesday's election after Sylvester Lenz decided not to file papers for reelection. Lenz had served over eight years.
Incumbents seeking office are Bernard Vanden Boogaard and Albert Vander Wielen. Seeking the third spot are James Bergeron, Edwin L. Steinhauer, Paul Van Dyke and James A. Williams. Bergeron and Van Dyke have previously served as trustee.
Alvin Fulmer is running without opposition for president and county supervisor.

Village Changes Dumping Site

LITTLE CHUTE—Village board members have adopted a policy of no dumping on property located west of Roosevelt Street as was done in the past and ask cooperation of citizens in refraining from using this as a dump site.
Dumping within the village is still permissible south of Bluff Avenue. The board is planning to review bids for dump sites outside the community and when a suitable area is found, all dumping within the community will cease, according to Paul Kostka, village president.
Petitions are being accepted by the village clerk for curb and gutter installation, but the board will not install this facility where there is no storm sewer as it would only result in tearing out the curb and gutter to install storm sewers.
A majority of the people in the area seeking curb and gutter must favor the proposal as this service is assessed back to property owners. After completion of storm sewer installation work, the board plans an annual program of curb and gutter work.

nation of Transjordan out of Arab wasteland. Transjordan became Jordan after the Arab-Israeli war, when Abdullah annexed Palestine west of the Jordan River and with it annexed some frightful headaches.

New Premier
Samir El Rifai, 64, is the new premier. If this is supposed to be a gesture toward Nasserites in Jordanian Palestine, or to Nasser and his new allies in Syria and Iraq, they are unlikely to appreciate it.

Rifai, one of the few veteran politicians from the east side of the Jordan River—the throne's only real source of strength—has been called a number of times before, usually when the crown was in trouble.

Like such men as former Premiers Ibrahim Hashim and Said Al Mufti, Rifai is a loyal defender of Hussein's Hashemite family. His disagreements with Hussein in the past came when the king tried to mollify extremist followers of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic. For objecting to Hussein's negotiations with Nasser in 1956, in advance of the Suez crisis, Rifai was dismissed abruptly from the premiership.

Bit of History
That bit of history makes it difficult to comprehend how the appointment of Rifai can be expected to lead to understanding with the Nasserites.

Tell, the premier who was fired, was a refugee from that part of Arab Palestine taken over by Israel in 1948 and thus popular with the Israel-hating refugees of Jordan, a source of constant pro-Nasser agitation.

At 26, Hussein undoubtedly sees a mounting threat to his 10-year reign.

Iraq and Syria are dominated by regimes trying to reach an Arab unity agreement with Nasser. He probably sees also the possibility of an Israeli military move in his western frontiers if an Arab union should menace the Israelis. He may see the possibility of an upheaval in Saudi Arabia to the south, depriving him of his alliance of convenience with the Hashemite family's onetime blood enemies, the house of Saud.

Recent Middle East developments may have the seeds of a sort of unity without real unity, one that would permit Hussein to join without surrendering his throne. But Nasser's Egypt, built up by Soviet and U.S. aid, gets stronger and stronger.

In the Arab Middle East, the day of kings, whether absolute or constitutional monarchs, seems to be drawing to a close. Hussein's gamble may do little more than postpone the upheaval in his country.

Policeman Thwarts Break-in

CHILTON — A break-in attempt at Knauf and Tesch Co. grain elevator, 242 E. Grand St., was thwarted early today when a city policeman surprised three men at the scene. The trio escaped after a high speed chase.

Police Sgt. Dan Albedyll said he caught a glimpse of the car turning into an alley behind the Knauf and Tesch and Cooperative Service elevators about 12:20 a.m. After circling the area, Albedyll said he stepped out of the squad car and was checking several vehicles parked behind the buildings when he saw a man dash from the Knauf and Tesch elevator and get into a car parked in the shadows.

The get-away car sped off Albedyll returned to the squad car and gave chase on U.S. 151 Kosmosky checked and found a west of the city but never was able to get close to the speeding car. He gave up the chase in Fond du Lac County.

City police and Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky checked and found a rear door to the building elevator had been forced open. Marks on an office door indicated attempts at forced entry had been made. Nothing was reported missing.

Athletic Field Plans Changed At Kaukauna

Move Will Provide More Space for Baseball Diamond

KAUKAUNA—The utility commission Tuesday voted to authorize architects to change the plans of the athletic field to provide more space for a baseball diamond as requested by a citizens' committee in February.

The new baseball field will be constructed near the softball diamond while the main softball diamond will be moved west of the football field.

Additional softball fields will be constructed near the new baseball diamond. The softball season will not be interrupted by the change, but it is doubtful whether baseball will be played in the new field this year.

Field Dimensions
Dimensions of the field under the present plan will be 315 feet down the sidelines and 380 feet deep at center field. The main softball field will have dimensions of 230 feet down the sidelines and 300 feet at center, pushing the outfield fences farther from home plate than now.

The move was made after citizens pointed out that in the original location of the baseball field the sun would shine directly into the eyes of the batter and first basemen.

Lights Moved
The change will necessitate moving softball field lights. Under the new proposal, future plans could result in construction of a stadium or bleacher area which could serve both the football and baseball fields.

Development of a Doty Bayou Recreation Area is being handled by the Electric and Water Utility on a long-range basis. Improvements will be made each year as finances permit. Plans call for an all-purpose area including tennis courts, outdoor basketball courts and other recreational facilities.

Already completed is a football field and the majority of work on a track. Work on both the baseball and softball fields is expected to start this spring.

Critical Time In Dutch Elm Control Near

Breeding Places Must Be Eliminated By Mid-April

The next few days are critical ones in the control of Dutch Elm disease in Wisconsin, according to two University of Wisconsin specialists.

John Libby, entomologist, and Earl Wade, plant pathologist, say April 15 is the deadline for eliminating all old elm wood that may be a breeding place for the elm bark beetle that carries and infects healthy elm trees. After that date the beetles will emerge.

The specialists say that cleaning up old elm wood is a vital part of the Dutch Elm control program. They feel every person in a community can help prevent the spread of Dutch Elm disease by cooperating in an area-wide sanitation campaign this spring.

Time is short, they say, but briefly here are the main steps every community interested in safeguarding its elms should take:

Survey and check areas concerned for any dead, weak, or injured elm trees or any elm wood where beetles might breed and overwinter.

Cut down and burn all dead and weak elm trees.

Remove and burn injured or storm-broken limbs from healthy elms.

Prune elms periodically to eliminate possible-breeding material.

Burn or bury all old elm wood saved for firewood, unless the bark has been removed.

Debarb all elm stumps.

Spray all elm wood not debarked

Tacoma Team Embarrasses Giants, 10 to 9

White Sox and Cincinnati hurlers record shutouts

BY MIKE RATHET
Like the canary that got swallowed by the cat, Al Dark had that deep down feeling today.
The San Francisco manager has watched his National League champions in some lukewarm performances this spring, but he was a bit embarrassed Wednesday when the Giants' Tacoma farm club up and 'bopped' the par-

Hank Aaron's 7-Year Plan Aimed at Joining Select 3,000-Hit Class

Health and Luck Key Factors to Goal, Braves' Slugger Says

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Hank Aaron, mighty swinger of the Milwaukee Braves, has a seven-year plan. It is aimed at achieving his burning ambition—to join the 3,000-hit class.
"That's a selective group," the 29-year-old outfielder said today. "It would be nice to get in there, just like Stan Musial."

Only eight players in baseball history have collected 3,000 or more hits—Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie, Paul Waner, Cap Anson and Musial.
After nine years in the majors,

Aaron shows a total of 1,097 hits, an average of 189 a year.
Continuing at the same pace, or even dropping to an 185 average, Hank could reach the magic 3,000 in seven years.
"I'll be 36 then," he pointed out. "That's not too old to be going at a regular clip, considering that Musial is still doing it at 42."

2 Key Provisions
Aaron cites two key provisions: Health and Luck.
On the subject of health, the Milwaukee star emphasizes that he must escape any lasting injuries.
"It is most important that I continue to be able to run," Aaron said. "I get a lot of leg hits. I have to keep getting them."

As for luck, Hank points to the current spring.
"My average is kind of low in the exhibition games, yet I'm hitting the ball right on the nose," he stressed. "But I haven't been lucky. The drives aren't dropping in. Instead, they're going right at the fielders. To get 3,000 hits, I'll need better breaks than that."

Aaron, twice winner of National League batting and runs-batted-in titles, the homer crown once and voted Most Valuable Player in 1957, has still one other goal in sight. En route to his cherished 3,000 hits, he wouldn't mind winding up with a .400 average one of the seasons.
"That's another selective group," Hank quipped.

He appeared headed in that direction in 1960, traveling at a 410 clip as late as mid-season. But at year's end, his mark was .355.
Never Had Slump
"And I never had a slump that summer," Aaron recalls. "It's just that to hit .400 you must get at least two hits most every day. If you go 1-for-4, or even 1-for-3, you're low ground."

The Braves' cluster believes that with a better start he might have done it last year.
"I got off the worst of my career," Hank said. "I must have been under .300 as late as June. Then I went as high as .340. I finished at .328 but I think I batted close to .400 once I got going."

Krohn Only Veteran Back For UW '69

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin coach Dymie Mansfield plans to test nine pitchers in the Badgers' first three non-conference games in an attempt to determine his best hurlers for Big Ten foes.
Right-hander Ron Krohn is the lone dependable veteran of the staff and Mansfield is looking for mound help.

Squad members who will get an early trial are Ken Schuring, Phil Yurtis, Dave Tymus and John Hooson. Newcomers seeking a regular berth include Tom Krehbiel of Oshkosh, Lance Tober of Kenosha, John Bentivegna of Waukegan, Ill., Ken Hemmer of West Bend and Glenn Miller of Oshkosh.

Mansfield said Wednesday that Krohn will start the Badgers' opening game April 5 against Washington University at St. Louis. Schuring and Yurtis tentatively are scheduled to follow Krohn.

The Badgers will play Washington in a doubleheader April 6 before heading for 11 games in Arizona. They will open their Big Ten campaign against Ohio State April 26 at Madison. Wisconsin finished fourth last year with an 8-4 record in the conference.

No Evidence Butts Was Involved in Gambling

ATLANTA (AP) — Records show that Wallace Butts made telephone calls to persons who had been involved in gambling on college sports events, "but there is no evidence that Butts was engaged in gambling," Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook of Georgia says.
Cook said Wednesday that he had found no violation of state law in alleged telephone conversations between Butts, former Georgia athletic director, and football coach Paul Bryant of Alabama.
The Georgia attorney general, who is investigating charges that Butts and Bryant conspired to rig the Georgia-Alabama football game last fall, indicated that final deposition of the case would be up to the Southeastern Conference as an ethical, not legal, matter.

At Birmingham, Ala. SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore said he is calling a meeting of the conference executive committee. But he said it might be a month before the members could get together.

Will Be Discussed
"I am not calling the meeting because of Butts and Bryant," Moore said. "Of course, if we get the meeting, it will be discussed."
The commissioner said he was still investigating the charges against Butts and Bryant "and I will present my findings to the executive committee."

The Saturday Evening Post said in its March 23 edition that Butts telephoned Bryant eight days before the Sept. 22 game and gave always secret information on Georgia's team.
Butts and Bryant have denied rigging the game, which Alabama won 35-14, and both men have games. Butts has filed a $10 million libel suit against the Post's publishers.

Cook said some of the calls which Butts made to persons with gambling records were made shortly before the alleged Sept. 14 call from Butts by Bryant.
The attorney general said the calls are being investigated by the U. S. Senate Investigations Committee. Chief Counsel Donald F. O'Donnell of the committee said Tuesday he had found no evidence of gambling in connection with the Post story and that his investigation might take three months.

Butts' attorney, William H. Schroder, said he understood Cook's statement "informed the public that there is no evidence that Wallace Butts was engaged in gambling."
"I cannot understand how one holding the high position of attorney general... could in one breath insinuate that he had uncovered evidence which implies that Wallace Butts had gambled on football games and then in the very next breath say there is no evidence to support such an insinuation," Schroder said.

Schroder wrote Cook that he believed nothing could be gained by subjecting Butts to a second and third trial. Cook had asked Butts and Bryant to take polygraph tests after both had said previous tests showed they were innocent of the Post charges.

Cook indicated his investigation, begun nearly two weeks ago, was almost complete and a report would be made Monday to Gov. Carl E. Sanders. Indications were that the report would be turned over to the SEC without

Basketball Hard on Coaches; Says Oshkosh's Bud Lowell

Construction Starts on Colt Stadium

HOUSTON (AP)—Consuls from a dozen nations assisted Harris County officials Wednesday at ceremonies marking the start of construction of a $19 million domed stadium home for the National League Houston Colts.

The ceremony was held 4 years, 8 months and 1 day after county voters first gave approval to the project.
The pouring of concrete for the multi-purpose rain-or-shine structure actually began several days ago but the formal ceremony was postponed until Wednesday.

Members of the Houston consular corps presented County Judge Bill Elliott with mementoes from their homelands—calendars, newspapers, small flags, miniature dolls.
The souvenirs were placed in a metal container that was sealed in concrete at the base of a gigantic hole that was excavated for the circular stadium.

Excavation of the 700-foot wide and 27-foot deep hole was completed early last year but financial and legal problems delayed the signing of the construction contract until three weeks ago.
The stadium is scheduled for completion by November, 1964.

Good Academic Showing Vital, Veteran Official Tells Cagers

Post-Crescent Sports Editor
"Basketball is a tremendous game today, but it certainly is hard on coaches," declared Oshkosh's Bud Lowell here Wednesday.
Lowell, Winnebago County sheriff and veteran sports official, spoke at the Downtown Kiwanis Club's dinner for Appleton's three high school basketball teams in the Conway Hotel.

Lowell cited the example of one college coach who drank a mixture of milk and cream for his ulcers all through a game. The tension at games between nationally-rated college teams is almost unbelievable, according to Lowell.

A coach's main problem is defense because of the way the game has speeded up, said Lowell. Boys become such good shooters by practicing at home, as well as at school, that it's getting tougher and tougher for the defenses, the referee noted.

Wonderful Facilities
Lowell recalled the start of his officiating career in the early '30s when many of the playing courts were "deplorable." Players then didn't have "the wonderful facilities of today," said Lowell.

The speaker reminded the Appleton High, Fox Valley Lutheran and Xavier cagers that athletics is only a part of school activities. The academic portion is the most important, he indicated.
"If the after-3:30 area is the greatest part of your school life, you'll fall by the wayside," Lowell warned. "Very few make a living in athletics," he added.

"Get your school work and take the athletic program as it comes," advised Lowell.
The official said he's often asked for recommendations by college coaches but stressed, "I won't recommend anyone for college unless I know what his marks are."

While relating various officiating experiences, Lowell paid tribute to Jerry Lucas, 3-time All-American at Ohio State. "He's the greatest gentleman you'd ever want to see on a basketball court," said Lowell.

Coaches Dick Emanuel of AHS, Gerhard Kaniess, of FVL, and Gene Clark, of Xavier, introduced each member of their varsity squads to the assembled Kiwanians and guests.

Burdette, Hendley Check Detroit, 6-1

Braves Post Eighth Win Of Spring

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—At the age of 36, Lew Burdette appears set to resume the role of right-handed ace of the Milwaukee Braves.
"Bouncing back from an 'off' season in which he won just 10 games, Burdette is hurling in the fashion which enabled him to average 19 victories a year from 1956 through '61."

The fidgety veteran surrendered one run and only four hits in six innings Wednesday as the Braves defeated the Detroit Tigers 6-1 before a crowd of 1,227. Southpaw Bob Hendley fired two-hit shutout ball in the final three innings, preserving Milwaukee's eighth victory in 18 exhibition games.

The Tigers became the first team to score an earned run off Burdette in 23 innings. Detroit ended Lew's string in the first inning as Chico Fernandez opened with a single, received credit for a stolen base on catcher Del Crandall's poor throw to second and scored on a two-out single by Rocky Colavito.

In Command
Burdette and Hendley were in command the rest of the way as their mates nailed down the decision early with three-run rallies in the first and third.
Ty Cline, who has reached base in five of the last six games, launched the bottom of the first with a pop single and advanced to third on a single by Eddie Mathews, back in the starting lineup after a two-day rest because of a pulled groin muscle. Cline scored on a sacrifice fly by Del Crandall.

Lee Maye doubled, scoring Mathews, and went to third as Tommie Aaron reached first on an error. The Braves then pulled off their first double steal of the training season, Maye scoring.
Mack Jones, who had two of the Braves' nine hits off Bunning, doubled to start the third. Mathews fanned, but Crandall scored Jones with a single. After Maye walked, T. Aaron singled home Crandall and Fuy McMillan singled across Maye.

The victory was the Braves' second straight, equaling their top winning string this season. They nominated Bob Shaw and Hank Fischer to try and make it three in a row in a meeting with the St. Louis Cardinals today.
The Braves needed only 11 of 17 scheduled "home" games to break the West Palm Beach attendance record. The turnout Wednesday boosted total attendance to 22,565. The former record was 21,516 set by the Kansas City Athletics in 1964.

Farmhand Don Tausig cared the least about the crowds. The Braves announced he had been returned to Toronto of the International League.

OSC's Track Team Will Open Season

Dan Muinde Leads Titans Against Pointers Saturday

OSHKOSH — The Oshkosh State College track team will get its first test of the season Saturday in an outdoor dual meet at Stevens Point.

Ewbank Isn't Sure He Wants Titans' Job

Several Candidates Being Considered, Declares Werblin

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Titans, or Gotham, or whoever they are, may have a new coach. It may be Weeb Ewbank.

On the other hand, they may not have a new coach. In which case it isn't Weeb Ewbank. At least at the moment.

Besides, Ewbank isn't sure he wants the job.

"Premature and unfounded," Ewbank said in Baltimore Wednesday of a report that he had been named head coach of the American Football League team.

"We are still considering several candidates," said David A. (Sonny) Werblin, head of the syndicate which recently laid out $1 million for the right to operate the bankrupt club.

Several Others

"We have talked with Ewbank but we have talked with several others, too," Werblin said. He also disclosed that he is considering adopting a new name of the team. The Gotham is one of the names suggested.

Werblin has said he plans a complete house-cleaning of the Titans, which probably means a new general manager as well as head coach.

Clyde (Bulldog) Turner has a year to go on a head coaching contract which calls for $20,000 a year. This probably will be bought up. George Sauer, general manager under former owner Harry Wismer, will be retained as road secretary.

Ewbank coached the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League from 1964 until he was fired last season. He won league championships in 1958 and 1959 and was NFL Coach of the Year in 1958.

Ewbank said New York officials "have been making it very attractive. I don't know what to do. You always listen, and I listened, but I have not reached a decision yet."

NAIA Protests Selection Plan

College Division All-Stars Listed For Pan-Am Trials

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics and the National Collegiate Athletic Association college division each are represented by six players on the 12-man all-star squad announced Wednesday for the Pan-American basketball trials.

Head coach will be Garland Pinholster, whose Oglethorpe, Ga., team was third in the NCAA college division tournament. His assistant will be Sam Williams, coach of the NAIA champion Pan American, Tex., team.

Al Duer, NAIA executive secretary, said he protested the selection plan for the team to the U.S. Olympic Basketball Committee in New York March 22. He contended the NAIA deserved a full 12-man team.

Complete Team

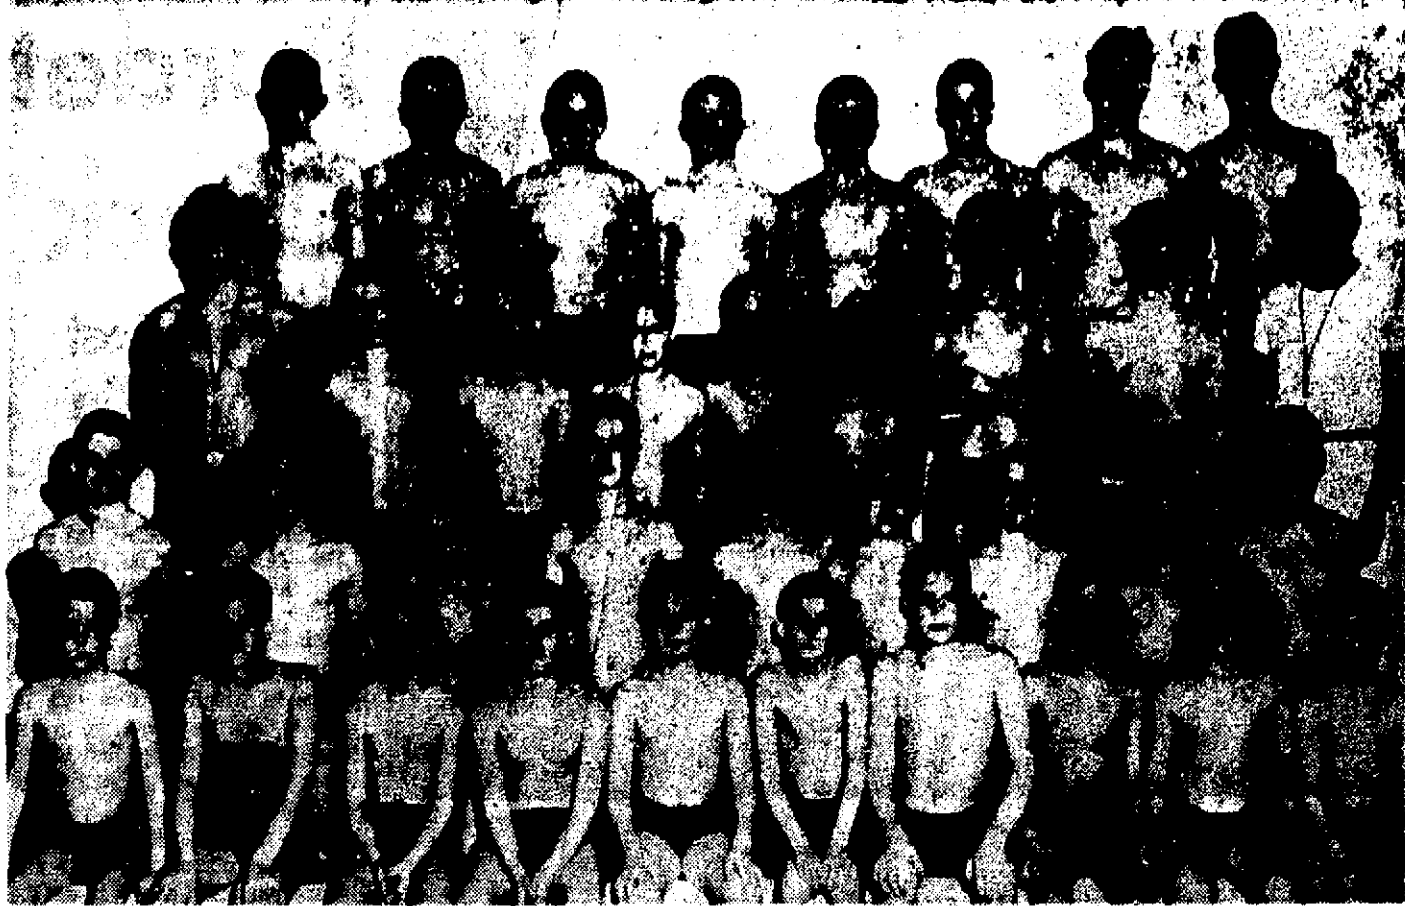

Duer said he agreed to the plan for the Pan-American trials only after the committee assured him the NAIA would have a complete team for the 1964 Olympic trials.

The trials will be held next Monday and Tuesday nights in Kansas City, with four 12-man teams. There will be two double-headers each night. Then the U.S. team will be selected for the Pan-Am games next month at Sao Paulo, Brazil, and for the world tournament in May in Rio De Janeiro.

The Amateur Athletic Union and Armed Forces teams have been announced. Still being picked is a NCAA university division all-star team.

NCAA selections for the college all-stars were Jeff Cowieight, 6-foot-8, Chapman, Calif.; Ernest Jackson, 6-1, South Carolina State; Bobbie Nance, 6-5, Oglethorpe; Frank Ryan, 6-5, North-eastern, Mass.; Mike Wisneski, 6-10, St. Norbert, Wis.; and Bill Witacousis, 6-3, Scranton, Pa.

NAIA selections were Lucius Jackson, 6-9, and Mitchell Edwards, 6-5, both of Pan American; Herschel West, 6-2, and Willis Reed, 6-9, both of Grambling, La.; Herb Stange, 6-4, Fort Hays, Kan. State; and Mel Gibson, 6-2, Western Carolina, N.C.

Predicts Outlaw of Boxing Without Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., co-sponsor of a bill to put professional boxing under federal regulation, predicted Wednesday the sport soon will be outlawed in this country unless it is reformed.

Referring to the fatal ring injuries suffered recently by former featherweight champion Davey Moore in California, Engle said in a statement: "In this tragic death, the nation and the world have witnessed a requiem for a boxer."

He added: "It may be that we are also witnessing the requiem for boxing itself."

Chances Slight

"The sport is on trial. The charge is legalized manslaughter and corruption. And the odds-on favorite, I would say, is the prosecution. Unless something is done in a hurry, chances for acquittal are slight."

Engle has joined Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., in introducing a bill providing for a national boxing commissioner to license fighters, promoters and managers, to get fitness and health check-up standards, and otherwise to regulate professional boxing.

Engle maintained that federal regulation is necessary.

"The states are blocked by the interstate aspects of the business," he said. "Powers of local commissions often stop at state borders. A boxer not permitted to fight in one state can go into another state and continue boxing."

Clarence Braun Leads Menasha Pin Tourney

MENASHA — Clarence Braun, with a 900 series, is the current leader of the first annual Brin Bowl handicap tournament.

The 4-game tourney will continue through May 5 and entries are being accepted through that date. A first place prize of $150 is guaranteed. Bowlers are allowed to enter as often as they wish but can finish in the prize money only once.

Albers had the highest individual game of the tournament, a 265 count and George Hinske had a 260. Last Sunday 16 of 24 bowlers had games of 200 or better.

ent club 10-9 in an exhibition game at Casa Grande.

The little Giants trailed the big Tacoma 8-1 going into the eighth. Jesus Alou—the line member of the three Alou brothers not with the parent club—got things rolling for the farmhands with a two-run homer in the eighth.

Then the firing really started. Jim Ray Hart cracked a three-run homer that finally tied it 9-9 in the ninth, and the winner came across on a triple by Ron Phifer, two intentional passes, and a single by Marion Talton that crossed up the big Giants' strategy.

Have 6-12 Record

Bob Bollin was the victim of the eighth and ninth inning bombing as the Giants lost their ninth in 10 games. They are now 6-12 overall, but Dark said he won't "start worrying until opening day. That's soon enough."

"I'm just letting the boys play themselves into shape."

Early Wynn, hoping to show enough to stick with the Chicago White Sox and get a chance at victory No. 300, yielded only one single in a three-inning workout before Ed Fisher completed a 3-0 shutout against Washington at Sarasota.

Jim O'Toole, who has publicly stated that he wants Cincinnati's opening day pitching assignment and is out to get it, held the Los Angeles Dodgers to four hits for six innings. John Flavin finished up for the Reds with a no-hit stint in a 6-0 triumph at Vero Beach.

And rookie Marcelino Lopez, a 19-year-old left-hander, pitched two-hit ball for six innings and contributed a two-run homer to a 16-hit attack that gave Philadelphia a 9-2 triumph over Kansas City at Bradenton.

Joe Pepitone drove in five runs with two homers as the New York Yankees defeated Minnesota 7-6 at Orlando, the Los Angeles Angels edged Boston 4-3 at Scottsdale, the Chicago Cubs outlasted Cleveland 12-11 at Tucson and the New York Mets defeated St. Louis 6-4 at St. Petersburg.

Pepitone, handed the Yankees first base job after Bill Skowron was traded to the Dodgers, rapped 20-game winner Camilo Pascual for a three-run shot in the second inning and a two-run blast in the sixth. He has hit five homers.

Carpentier Opposes Abolition of Boxing

Admits There Was Better Training In the Old Days

PARIS (AP)—Georges Carpentier, who fought in every weight category during a career that spanned 20 years, said Wednesday the death of Davey Moore was no reason to call for a ban on boxing.

Carpentier once held the world light heavyweight title and lost to Jack Dempsey in a bout for the world heavyweight title.

Carpentier, now 69 but still ex-er earlier doubling home a run and scoring one. Bob Turley, on trial with Los Angeles, was touched for three runs and six hits in a six-inning workout.

Ernie Banks, struck out three times by Indians' 20-game winner Dick Donovan, had him figured the last time around and hit a homer which won it for the Cubs. Donovan was shelled for 12 hits and 10 runs in the six innings he pitched.

Charley Neal's two-out ninth-inning double won it for the Mets after a two-run homer by Frank Thomas pulled the New Yorkers into a tie with the Cardinals. Neal's game-winner followed a damaging error by Phil Gagliano.

tremely active, wrote in the newspaper France Soir:

"All these people who want to destroy our sport know nothing about it in 99 percent of the cases. I don't doubt their good faith, but real sportsmen love boxing, which I am sure is no more dangerous than flying, automobile races, skiing, mountain climbing or bicycling. To my knowledge, no one is thinking about banning these sports.

"I admit that when I started boxing 57 years ago, they boxed better and were less anxious to enter a slugging match than today. The fights were better planned, the managers were more prudent and there was always a month's training in the country. Now the boxers think only about the results. They hit as much as possible and their careers are shorter. Look at Robinson who boxes above all with his head. He is 42 years old and unharmed.

"The risks seem to me to be minimal. There is no man living who is capable of killing with a single punch another man of the same weight and of equal physical condition. I also think the referees have a heavy part in the responsibility for accidents. They are directing the fight and are better placed than anyone to see the reactions of a boxer in danger."

Claims Story Won't Reflect On Football

LaRoche Says No Sweeping Indictment Of Sport Involved

NEW YORK (AP)—The president of the National Football Foundation said today the claim in a national magazine that the Georgia-Alabama game last year was rigged—whether proved or disproved—would not reflect on college football as a whole.

Chester J. LaRoche, president of the foundation, said in a statement that the magazine which printed the original story had claimed "a great sport will be permanently damaged . . . and that for many people the bloom must pass forever from college football."

Roche said this was "little less than character assassination of the thousands of players and coaches associated with the game in honor and good sportsmanship."

LaRoche said the foundation was passing no judgment on the guilt or innocence of the parties involved—something he said that still must be proved or disproved—and added, "even if the charges against the two men were substantiated, there would be no war-

Former Players Organizing to Support Butts

Moral Backing, Financial Help To be Offered

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Former players under Wallace Butts at the University of Georgia are rallying around their old coach, saying they don't believe the charge that Butts attempted to rig a football game.

The captains of Butts' first bowl team announced Wednesday night they are organizing a movement to give Butts both moral support rant for any such sweeping indictment of football."

LaRoche said "the charge that two prominent football figures in the South collaborated in 'fixing' a college conference game has shocked the country.

"Much more than the good name and continued usefulness of two men in college athletics is at stake, whether the charges be proved true or false. Of far greater concern is the damage that may be done to intercollegiate judgment as to any further im-

ed.

"We are alarmed that there has not been more defense for Coach Butts, and we have contacted former players who want to organize to support and defend him," said Heyward Alkon and Cliff Kimsey, who captained Butts' 1941 Orange Bowl team.

"We are contacting all former Georgia football lettermen and inviting them to participate." Allen is an automobile dealer in Athens, Kimsey a banker at Cornell, Ga.

A recent Saturday Evening Post article said Butts conspired with Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama to rig the Georgia-Alabama game last fall. Both have denied the charge.

"Butts' loyalty to Georgia is beyond reproach," Allen said. I have never known him to be anything but honorable, loyal and of the highest character."

Allen and Kimsey released statements they said they got from three of Butts' most famous players — All-America halfback Charley Trippi, Captain of the 1946 Bulldogs and now an assistant coach at Georgia; All-America tailback Frank Sinkwich, captain of the 1942 team; and quarterback Francis Tarkenton, now with the Minnesota Vikings.

All expressed confidence in Butts, who retired as Georgia Athletic director in February.

Trippi's statement said Georgia didn't have the personnel and did not get the execution to play Alabama a good game. Alabama won 35-0.

Mr. Reynolds Learns

Gov. Reynolds was not altogether gracious when he declared that the women of the League of Women Voters must have been listening to their husbands when they announced that they have changed their attitude of absolute opposition to the sales tax in state fiscal policy.

But while the governor's attempt to be facetious was not altogether a happy one, the fact that he should hurry to issue a press release in response to the League's public announcement was revealing in several ways.

It betrayed something of his worry about public reaction to his adamant refusal to discuss compromise with the legislature on the issue of state tax revision which his Democratic predecessor and friend, former Gov. Nelson, fruitfully pushed during his regime.

It also showed that the governor dares not misrepresent the sales tax issue in a public exchange with the League, as he has distorted and misrepresented the issue as it has been presented in the legislature under the sponsorship of his Republican antagonists.

The governor acknowledged that the League favors the exemption of food and drugs, and possibly other necessities of life, from any sales tax that may be considered in the state.

To our knowledge, this is the first time that the governor has admitted, even backhandedly, that the sales tax issue in Wisconsin has never been put in any terms except with liberal exemptions. The governor has chosen instead to pretend that the champions of such tax revision want to tax the food of the poor. Not a single bill yet presented in the Wisconsin legislature intended that. The measure that was adopted by the legislature two years ago, before the evolution of the selective sales tax compromise with Gov. Nelson, included a cash or income tax credit refund precisely to have the effect of exempting the basic necessities of life from the exactions of the levy.

Mr. Reynolds now scoffs at the League's statement by asserting that such exemptions in a sales tax would not produce a sufficient revenue to provide the kind of services the state needs. But that is a matter of fiscal taste, and it is utterly clear that the governor's taste on these matters is so far out in advance of public opinion that even his nominal Democratic supporters in the legislature are grumbling about the size of his appropriations requests. There is a revenue potential of about $120,000,000 for the state budget in a sales tax with exemptions generous enough to make it progressive in its effects. That is substantially more than the rate of growth of the state's spending during the last decade. It would be the most generous rate of increase, indeed, ever authorized at one step in the history of the Wisconsin state government. If it is not enough for the governor's tastes, we would suggest that he is rashly misjudging the patience of his constituents.

Another Zenger Case

An editorial published in a New York newspaper about the famed Playboy Club has resulted in a criminal libel case which is being compared to the celebrated Zenger trial in 1735 which established the right of press freedom in this country.

The current court test stems indirectly from the abbreviated "bunny" costumes worn by waitresses in New York's new Playboy Club. But the issues are much more serious than the subject of the editorial.

The defendant is Arnold Fine, editor of the Brooklyn Daily. In his editorial he criticized a New York State Supreme Court Justice for ruling that the "bunny" costumes were perfectly proper. The judge said the costumes were similar to those worn by skaters and dancers and that it was not incumbent upon the club to dress its waitresses in "middy blouses, gymnasium bloomers, turtle-neck sweaters, fishermen's hip boots, or ankle length overcoats."

The editorial did not deal with the costumes or the judge's phraseology. But it asked why many high political figures were involved in the club's legal affairs and whether the decision could "stand the spotlight of high tribunal investigation."

The judge complained to the Brooklyn district attorney that the editorial impugned the administration of justice and asked that the matter be placed before a grand jury. The jurors returned an indictment of criminal libel against Fine. It is the criminal charge which makes the case rare. Usually a person who feels himself libelled sues in a civil action for monetary damages. In this case the editor, if convicted, could be imprisoned for three years.

In the historic 1735 case, Publisher John Peter Zenger was exonerated of committing libel when he criticized British Colonial Governor William Cosby.

The legal question is whether a newspaper editor has a right to criticize the decision of a judge or whether, by doing so, he is impugning the administration of justice.

It will be interesting to see if the legal principal established in 1735 is upheld today.

Saloons? What's in a Name?

Glancing through a list of bills submitted to the Legislature, we were surprised to find one in the list which stirred some memories. The bill, 327S, calls for repeal of a law which prohibits the word "saloon" from being used to advertise or designate a beer tavern. The ban on the word which one infrequently hears today came during that period when the prohibitionists still were somewhat vocal across the land despite the fact that prohibition as such had lost much of its support.

"Saloon" like so many other words in the language with some punch has been replaced by such euphemisms as tap room, tavern, lounge and bistro. Some of these are still saloons in the old-fashioned sense although the elaborate free lunches are gone and chrome and carpeting have replaced the brass rail, elaborate mahogany bars and back bars and the swinging doors. In another sense, the saloon was a man's sanctum; ladies stayed away.

We are sure the connotation of the word "saloon" and the reason it was barred from use escapes many of the younger generation. It meant an evil place in the definition of the prohibitionists, where husbands and fathers spent their hard-earned pay checks on the liquid spirits of the grape. When prohibition became a thing of the past, use of the more fancy terms supposedly would compel those who were inclined to visit such spots to make their actions fit the fancier terminology. Actually, it didn't do any such thing. Taverns and tap rooms and bars, if you will, have proliferated across the land. It would be silly to say that those people who frequent them are any more or less respectable citizens than the men who stopped on their way home from a 10-hour day in the saw mill for a refreshing glass of beer or two even though the place was tagged by the name "saloon."

The proposed elimination of the ban on the word may or may not pass the Legislature. We don't think it makes much difference either way. A saloon by any other name is still a saloon, or in the definition of Webster's . . . "a room or public establishment in which alcoholic beverages are sold and consumed."

News of the Seas, Naval Activity

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for March 19, 1863.

The monitors sent to bombard Fort McAllister (near Savannah, Ga.) are all back at Fort Royal in good condition. A 10-inch mortar shell struck the deck of the Passaic, but did not go through. A torpedo was exploded under the Montauk, and, although it raised her a foot out of water, no damage was done.

The pirate steamer Retribution attacked and sank a whaler in the Caribbean Sea. The whaler showed fight and killed one man aboard the pirate. The entire crew of the whaler was sunk with the ship. The Retribution had previously captured a bark, three brigs and a schooner.

The British steamer, Princess Royal, which was captured in attempting to run the blockade, has been taken to the Brooklyn Navy Yard to be made into a gunboat.

Charleston, the great hell-hole of traitors and Tories, has been attacked in force by our monitors, but without success. The Union loss is about a dozen killed and wounded with the Kear sunk. Fort Sumter was badly injured. The monitors stood up against a fire unparalleled in naval warfare and are able to do it over again.

Officers of High Cliff Park Answer Criticism of Project

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In this column, on February 13, 1963, a "Calumet County Taxpayer" expressed his views on the financing of High Cliff State Park. In these views this person included some alleged facts and figures. Unfortunately, many of these were in error. Let us examine these statements and present a true picture of the financing and development of High Cliff State Park.

The taxpayer claims that the original money for the purchase of High Cliff Forest Park was taken from the Kettle Moraine Forest Fund in an odd manner. The fact is these monies were taken from this fund, but in a perfectly legal fashion. Under Wisconsin statutes, Section 20-20.14a, "Purchase of Recreation Lands" was authorized in all of the following counties: Manitowoc, Calumet, Winnebago, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Kenosha, Walworth, Rock, Ozaukee, Washington, Dodge, Milwaukee, Waukesha, Jefferson, Racine and Outagamie Counties. About two years ago the name of High Cliff Forest Park was officially changed to High Cliff State Park.

Insofar as the various meeting places of the High Cliff State Park Development Association, the Association meets where it is most convenient for the members to gather. Since a good many of them are from the Tri-City Area, the Association generally meets in that locality. Contrary to Mr. Taxpayer's statement, the Association has held two meetings in Calumet county on the park grounds.

Once a year a meeting is held at the Appleton City Hall which is open to the public. It is at this meeting people can publicly express their views concerning the actions of the Association and the Wisconsin Conservation Department in the development of High Cliff.

It might be well to note here that the Association serves only in an advisory capacity to the Conservation Department in the development of High Cliff. It is also a major source of public contributions for development of the Park.

pleton, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Edward Barber Jr. was named president of the auxiliary to Company D, 127th Infantry, National Guard. Other officers included Mrs. Clement Palmbach, vice president; Mrs. Henry Paull, secretary; Mrs. Peter Demerath, treasurer, and Mrs. John Hanges, chaplain.

Mrs. Ralph Kamps, Appleton, was elected president of the Rainbow Veterans Auxiliary when the group met at the home of Mrs. Regina Rock, Kaukauna. Mrs. Earle Fraser was elected second vice president, Mrs. Rex Spencer, historian and Mrs. John Hantschel, chaplain; all were from Appleton. Mrs. Rock was named secretary-treasurer.

Lawrence coeds from the Fox Cities elected to offices in Sigma Alpha Iota, international music fraternity for women, included Nancy Owen Neenah, corresponding secretary; Martha Schubert, Appleton, co-social chairman; Betty Leisner, sergeant-at-arms and song leader, and Jean Rothwell, Manitowoc and formerly of Appleton, co-rushing chairman.

It is also true that the eventual size of the park is planned for around 1100 acres. However, this will take quite a few years to accomplish.

At present the total area of High Cliff is 492.52 acres. The state has paid an average of $698.28 per acre for this land, not $30,000 as the taxpayer claimed. At first glance even this may seem high, but it must be taken into account that there is over two miles of Lake Winnebago frontage included with this land.

The state has had tremendous cooperation and interest from the people of Calumet County and the Tri-City area in the acquisition of this land. To date, more than $245,000 has been donated towards the development and acquisition of High Cliff. Most of this money has been donated by people living outside of Calumet County. Residents of the county who complain about the cost of the park should be aware of this "outside" money that has helped to establish a fine recreation facility in their midst.

Mr. Taxpayer also claimed that the area was rapidly being filled with new homes with room for 700 families within the park boundaries. Because of difficulties in obtaining good water, and problems of accessibility along the ledge, it may be presumptuous to assume that there would be 700 homes built within the park. But even if it were possible, cannot these 700 homes be built on other land within Calumet County? And would not the county be receiving the same tax returns as quoted by Mr. Taxpayer in his letter of the 13th?

As to the prosperous cement industry claimed to be thriving in the park area, the Western Lime and Cement Company had practically exhausted the supply of high quality limestone for their product.

If the Calumet County Taxpayer is worried that the presence of High Cliff State Park is costing him money, he need not do so. Any loss from the real estate tax rolls, figuring present or future values, is more than offset by other monetary values from the park. Many of the capital improvements enjoyed by the people of Calumet County are, and will be, paid for under the Resource Development and Outdoor Recreation Program which is financed by a penny a package tax on cigarettes collected from all over Wisconsin. All other financing comes from the regular state park monies appropriated to the Conservation Department for state park operations. Collections from camper fees and the newly enacted sticker fees are included in these monies.

There has been considerable contribution by the State of Wisconsin through the Forest and Park Road Fund for the development of the four miles of black-topped road through the park, plus the access roads. The county benefited directly from this project as it obtained the contract for the bituminous surfacing. As time goes on the County Highway Commission may obtain additional contracts for road work within the boundary of the High Cliff State Park. However, from a monetary standpoint, the park is most important for the amount of tourist dollars it draws into the area. Recreation is "Big Business" in Wisconsin. In a cooperative study by the U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Public Roads, State Highway Commission, University of Wisconsin, and the Wisconsin Conservation Department, undertaken during the summer of 1958, findings showed that each car party visiting Wisconsin State Parks spent $16.38 within 20 miles of the parks. This average figure includes 45 per cent of southern state park visitors who reported spending nothing. During 1962, 66,594 car parties visited High Cliff. Therefore there was a substantial number of dollars spent by tourists within a 20 mile radius of the park this past year alone. This area includes almost all of Calumet County, plus the cities of Neenah, Menasha, and Appleton.

It would seem then that the continued development of High Cliff is a definite asset to the people of Calumet County.

Mr. Taxpayer was also disturbed by the development of the park area which he claimed was destroying its natural beauty. Of course, some disturbance is necessary, but each development is planned to blend into the surrounding area. The road opened the quarry to many visitors, not just those few who cared to hike back to them. True, a person can drive through the area in a few minutes, but he can also stop his car, get out and walk over the entire area and spend an enjoyable day doing so.

Incidentally no huge pits were gouged out to make the road; instead, the original quarrying was extended somewhat to provide crushed limestone for the road. Also no person has been killed in the quarry since the state bought the land.

Indeed, High Cliff State Park still is beautiful, not because of what has been done to it; but what has been done for it, and what will be done for it. We suggest that all of the Calumet County residents visit High Cliff this coming summer and see what is still yours, preserved by those men who have had the foresight to provide the county, the Fox River Valley, and the State of Wisconsin with a fine State Park.

Wisconsin Report

Lowering Voting Age Up Again at Madison; Not Likely to Succeed

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It is perhaps in the nature of legislatures that they present a pattern of contradictions and inconsistencies. No doubt that is one of the best proofs that its nature is human. Yet surely one of the more manifest ironies of the legislative years is the enormous pressure on the one hand based on the deep conviction that anybody under the age of 21 should not be trusted to drink beer, and the drive on the other for lowering the voting age from 21 to 18 years.

Legislation to lower the voting age has been offered in every Wisconsin legislature that this reporter or other observers of some tenure can remember, as in other states. To date the movement in the country has made little progress. All past proposals in Wisconsin have been rejected with substantial majorities of votes and there is no reason to believe that the current legislature will react differently than its predecessors.

PATTERN OF ARGUMENT

The arguments on the issue have been made so often that they have become somewhat trite. The 18-year-old is better schooled today than ever before, say the backers of the more liberal voting rules. The boy under 21 is liable for military service, and it is unfair to require him to don a uniform for a country that does not trust him to participate in its political affairs.

Gov. Reynolds, entering the argument the other day, made the point that many 18-year-olds are paying taxes. He said also that more of them are in college today which raises the question whether the boy in college is any more attentive as a citizen than the boy who stayed on the farm or started working at the factory.

The contrary arguments have been made often also, and tend to concentrate on refutation. While the boy of military age often cannot vote, there are a hundred other civil disabilities that are not proposed for repeal or modification because he has been made subject to the draft under federal law. The best current example is the question of intoxicating beverages. There is an enormous public clamor for raising the minimum beer drinking age from 18 to 21. It is one of the incongruities of the times that some, at least, of those who find the liberal creed represented in a lower voting age are adamant about the dangers of youthful drinking. And there has been no serious proposition in Wisconsin for decades, at least, to lower the legal liquor drinking age from 21 years.

The argument that the young man of today is better prepared for citizenship is sometimes disputed by those who assert that the period of child dependency is lengthening, rather than contracting. The argument about military service overlooks the fact that half of the 18-year-olds are likely to be girls, who are not involved in such matters.

THE REAL ISSUE

But these are window-dressing arguments, designed for the committee room debates and for the publicity releases. The more basic consideration is not often mentioned. The likelihood is that 18-year-old voting bills will be killed as long as the Republicans rule the legislature. If they are to be enacted, it must be in a period of Democratic rule.

As politicians concede when they speak more candidly in private, young people tend to be liberals. Their views moderate with succeeding birthdays. One test of the idea is to observe party politics. The average age of the delegates at a Democratic state convention will be substantially and visibly less than at a Republican delegate meeting.

There used to be an axiom, which fathers quoted as consolation in earlier times, and perhaps continue today.

If the boy is not a radical when he is 18, there may be something wrong with his heart. If he remains a radical when he has reached man's estate, there may be something wrong with his head. Doubtless this is a conservative's bromide, but it is likely to be exemplified in the legislature's reaction yet again.

Too Many Lessons Too Soon Breed Mediocrity

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: It is always easy to tell when a man is too small for his job — he gives his subordinates a great deal of responsibility, but no authority, so that he can take credit for the right decisions, and blame them for the wrong ones.

The money one gets for selling one's soul is always spent in deadening the conscience, so that the net gain at the end of a lifetime is no greater than if the diabolic bargain had not been made.

Most of what we call "history" is gossip in top-hat and tails. America, more than any other country today, is a land where boys refuse to grow up, and where girls grow up too soon; whatever the stated cause, I am convinced that the majority of divorces occur because the woman has attained a level of emotional maturity that the man does not even aspire to.

And should anyone ask what this vague and tantalizing phrase "emotional maturity" means precisely, I refer him to an analect of Confucius: What the superior person seeks is in himself; what the inferior person seeks is in another. Most parents of affluence give their children too many lessons too early — skating lessons, swimming lessons, dancing lessons, riding lessons, piano lessons — which merely rob the children of initiative and turn out "well-rounded" mediocrities who can do many things fairly well but lack the passion and drive to do any one thing well.

A puritan is too often a person who thinks he has to make a hell out of this world in order to enjoy heaven in the next.

Those many among us who overestimate the good effects of education would do well to ponder the observation made by Addison more than two centuries ago: "Learning, like traveling and all other methods of improvement, as it augments good sense, so it makes a silly man ten thousand times more insufferable, by supplying variety of matter to his impertinence, and giving him an opportunity of abounding in absurdities."

It takes a husband a long time to learn that it is useless to argue with a woman — for if she is right, she will overwhelm you with facts, and if she is wrong, she will undermine you with feelings.

For every evil that is perpetrated out of vice, a hundred are committed out of boredom; most viciousness is not so much an act of the will, as a lack of will, a restless uncreativity, a negative rather than a positive gesture toward the world.

Freedom Gains Berth In Dairyland League

Freedom has become the ninth member of the Dairyland Baseball League.

Freedom was admitted on a 1-year probation during the league's organizational meeting Tuesday in Bonduel. The new team will emphasize a youth movement, according to League President H. J. (Kelly) Weller.

The league is exploring the possibility of admitting a 10th member — also on a 1-season probation basis. Among the possible new entries are Pulaski, Shiocton and Cecil. Any new entry must have a predominance of young players and must have good community support, according to Weller.

All eight hold-over teams are ready for the league's fifth season, which will begin Sunday, May 5.

The opening day pairings are defending champion Landstam at Seymour, Nichols at Bonduel, Hofa Park at Black Creek and Garson at Navarino. Freedom will either meet the new 10th team or will draw a bye.

The league will play a split season, with the first-half and second-half champions to meet in a best-of-3 playoff. An all-star game will be played July 14, with the first-half champion meeting the best players from the other teams.

Each community will again choose a Dairyland queen, for presentation at the all-star game.

The Dairyland League voted to go along with the major leagues and use the expanded strike zone this season.

Eight umpires-in-chief were selected. They are Appleton's Chuck Kunitz, Bud Koehnke and Bill Kiss; Menasha's Don Gauthier and Orv Wonsler; Seymour's Fred Kreuger, Oneida's Norm Carpenter and Zachos's Joe Mayefski.

All officers, including Weller, Navarino's Gene Backus, vice president; and Freedom's Orlo Maulick, secretary-treasurer.

Six of the eight hold-over clubs reported increased gate receipts for 1962. The other two had about the same totals as in '61.

The Nichols club reports that it will revamp its diamond this season.

Seymour will put in lights and has received permission to play some of its games at night during June, July and August. Night games will be played on Thursdays rather than on Sundays.

The next league meeting will be held April 16 in the Navarino Emporium.

Kramer Sees Little Contract Problems for Most Packers

GREEN BAY (AP)—A team championship in sports usually is followed by a few contract problems, but Green Bay guard Jerry Kramer doesn't think Vince Lombardi will have much trouble with the Packers.

"It boils down simply," Kramer said Wednesday. "If you had a real good year, the contract Coach Lombardi mails out includes a raise. If you had a bad year, you get a cut. You negotiate from there."

The Packers' salaries are a well kept secret, but it's doubtful many can expect a cut after Green Bay's two straight National Football League championships. And then the maximum cut is 10 per cent.

Although many think the Packers have the highest payroll in the NFL, Kramer disagrees.

"I'd say the Los Angeles Rams are tops," he said.

Kramer disclosed that he and quarterback Bart Starr plan to conduct a football camp for boys 13 to 18 years old June 23 to July 13, just before the Packers open training.

"With the consent of Coach Lombardi, we're going to set up headquarters at St. Norbert College and work out at the Packers' practice field," Kramer said. "We hope to have Boyd Dowler, Ray Nitschke, Jesse Whitenton and Henry Jordan help out."

"We're going to run the camp just like the Packers. Complete details will be announced soon."

Boxing Ban Supported by Tommy Moyer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Former boxer and fight promoter Tommy Moyer said Wednesday he supports a bill in the Oregon legislature that would ban boxing in the state.

Moyer is the uncle of recently retired boxer Phil Moyer and Denny Moyer, the World Boxing Association junior middleweight champion.

About the ban measure, Tommy Moyer said, "I'm all in favor of it. Purely from the medical standpoint. If you talk to any good eye doctor, he'll tell you that a lot of fighters, after they quit and grow older, lose their eyesight. It's caused by blows on the head."

Latin Americans Get Distorted View of U. S.

Jingo's Worried Over TV Product Exported to Southern Neighbors

BY JINGO

A good deal has been said about television and how it affects us and our habits; but we forget that TV is one of our exportable commodities.

Some time ago, if you remember, Jingo mentioned the Milwaukee Radio Television Council and its work in providing a grass roots sounding board for TV complaints and — presumably — compliments. Now Jingo has received a note from Mrs. Thomas Van Alvea Jr. of the Council containing a very interesting look at how our exportable TV is working in Latin America — one of the touchy spots in our prestige gauge. The insight comes in an article by Eduardo C. Garland of Buenos Aires, a journalist and sometime visitor to Milwaukee. Jingo passes along his observations to you. Jingo does not want to worry all alone.

Jingo

The United States of America is a nation full of dollars, where women are easy; cars are cheap; sequential gangsterism is a social institution; monogamy is the most popular profession; policemen are corruptible; family is a word in the dictionary; children are raised by books and fed from tins; people spend more time on the psychiatrist's couch than on their own beds; homosexuality, lesbianism, drug-addiction and alcoholism are as common as loud sport shirts; being a virgin bride is a discredit to any popular girl; New York (inhabited by Puerto Ricans, juvenile delinquents; fashion models and unscrupulous business men), Chicago (where gangsters and corrupted policemen reign unmolested) and Hollywood (the only star-prostitution city in the world), are the largest cities in the U.S.; and public restrooms do not admit dark colored people for some unknown biological reason.

Picture of Russia

On the other hand, Russia also is a very powerful nation, where people live modestly, but seem happy and satisfied; where they fight and die for their country and their ideals; where they cry with the weath of a mother, and rejoice with the birth of a son. People seem free and content, surrounded by their glowing, endless, wheat fields.

This is a picture of Russia, as imagined by some people through Russian movies and magazines. Fortunately, people can still think, and all the efforts made by the American television and motion picture industry, has not yet convinced them that the U.S. is that corrupted—and Russia that perfect.

However, people to cover up their ignorance, normally adopt more popular fixations. The best example of this situation is given

Cut Show Returns in New Form

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7 (Channel 2) — Exactly three months to the day after it went off the air, Fair Exchange is back. This time it has been cut to 30 minutes, and, actually, the new time fits it much better. The same cast is back, and the story line picks up just where it left off — Lynn Loring, the American girl, is living with a British family whose daughter, Judy Carne, is living with Lynn's family. This story deals with the two young brothers, and their fathers' desire that the boys take up their professions.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Polly Bergen, who has now completely abandoned singing for acting, has an actress' field day on Dr. Kildare. She plays identical twins — physically identical, although their behavior patterns are quite different. As Janice, Miss Bergen is a proper housewife who faces death unless she can have a kidney transplanted from her twin. As Cath, Miss Bergen plays a wild, somewhat immoral woman who has no wish to donate a kidney to the twin she despises.

8-9 (Channel 2) — The Twilight Zone's repeat cruises the Pacific Ocean near Guadalcanal on board a destroyer which heaves to when the sonar operator hears noises beneath the sea. It sounds as though somebody is trying to get out of a sunken sub. So Captain Simon Oakland sends down a by the picture abroad of a nation's prototype. In the States, the average American, pictures the typical Latin American (in a sweeping generalization covering 21 nations and over 200 million people) either as a sista-loving, dirty, unperturbed, tourist-exploiting, Indian; or as a sleek, monstached, woman and money-hungry, tourist exploiting, short, dark haired, "latine."

In the same token, the average Latin American, pictures the typical "gringo" (a word which originated in Argentina to address Italian immigrants) as a fat, rich, cigar-smoking, loud-mouthed, Latin American exploiter (together with the International Monetary Fund), with a decaying, man-hungry, platinum blonde wife.

TV Confirms Picture

Needless to say, these "fixations" are also an exaggeration. But the average cultural level of television shows and movies do very little towards changing this picture—rather they help confirm it.

In Argentina, we are now starting to experience the television generation. Minds of children aged 5 to 12, which are the product of sitting up for hours watching violence, corruption, vice and depravity. Emulating their TV heroes, they own an arsenal of plastic weapons; walk in an affected way; fight constantly in order to practice the new fighting techniques learned; dress differently, think and act differently.

His father is no longer his hero—rather a fool that works for a living. In years to come, I wonder what we will owe the most effective "cultural" media known? What role will the U.S. play in that which we will owe?

Distorted Image

I often wondered whether the American TV producer realized how much he is exporting abroad when shipping a TV show or serial. He must realize that he is not only shipping entertainment, but basically a distorted image of the world's leading nation.

He is supplying the enemies of the U.S. with enough evidence proclaiming a "mea culpa" to successfully undermine the confidence of people abroad on the capacity to lead of the U.S. He is also influencing minds on their first developing stages.

Evidently, what he is doing is a price the people of the U.S. have to pay for freedom, and in order to achieve maturity—which is closely related to the success of a free and Democratic system of life.

For that reason, one cannot appeal to the strength of law, for such a law cannot exist in a country that upholds Democracy. But I appeal to the producers. I appeal to what I assume is a mature mind, and as such, to his sense of responsibility towards the very system that has given him the freedom to express himself. One cannot allow the outcome of that freedom to be used as a weapon against the very system that upholds it.

diver — who finds a sunken sub. But it was sunk 23 years before.

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — McHale's Navy has fun with a spot of romance, a bit of spying and a touch of war. Ensign Parker (Tim Conway) wants some leave so he can visit with Yvette (Claudine Longet) was flown over from Paris to play this role again. The Captain says no but the men figure out a way to get Parker to Yvette's island. While there, the Japs attack.

9-10 (Channel 11) — Premiere has a pilot film for a series about the Bureau of Missing Persons, which would star Jack Kruschen as a compassionate officer and Dabney Coleman, a newcomer, as his assistant. There undoubtedly are good stories to be found in the work of this group, but "Of Struggle and Flight" isn't one of them. The primary trouble is that the key figures have been seen too often — the husband (Tod Andrews) who forgives his wife every indiscretion and the wife (Janice Rule) who doesn't want forgiveness but understanding.

9-10 (Channel 2) The Nurses concerns itself with two women, hospitalized at the same time. One, Inger Stevens, is a call girl with a bad heart. The other, Inga Swenson, is a housewife facing a leg amputation. The contrast between the two is well drawn.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — The Andy Williams Show is brightened by Vaughn Meader, the comic who impersonated the President on the big record success, "The First Family." Another talent is Anna Maria Albergetti, with a medley of songs from "Carnival." Pete Fountain, the Dixieland clarinetist, plays selections from his album, "Stranger On the Shore."

1963 Rambler Classic Cross Country Station Wagon

RAMBLER 6-V8 "Car of the Year"

MOTOR TREND Magazine's auto experts never handle the "Car of the Year" with kid gloves.

"We want to make sure the car is worthy of the title in performance, dependability, buyer satisfaction," they said. They found that Rambler's Advanced Unit Construction is "so strong it'll take punishment longer... hold its resale value." They slammed Ramblers over back-country roads and reported, "rough roads can be stormed with confidence... there isn't any pitch or choppy noticeable."

They applauded Rambler's styling, "lean, clean lines" and Rambler's outstanding quality.

Of course, there were many other things they liked. They summed it up, "an even better value than before."

Minding Your Business

20,000 TYPEWRITER REPAIRMEN COMPETING BUT FUTURE BRIGHT

DEAR CY: "Automation, Automation, Automation" is all I hear these days. So, I would like to become a typewriter repairman, eventually working into my own business. I already know a good deal about repairing non-electric typewriters. What do you think of the opportunities in typewriter repairing?

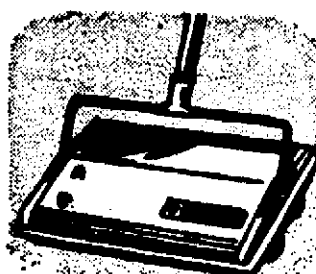

What's the way to get started? G. E. MUENCH
DEAR MR. MUENCH: The expanding horizon for typewriter repair work (the largest business machine repair occupation) will minimize your risks. According to "Office Appliances" magazine, estimated sales of typewriters (electric and manual) reached $187,615,000 in 1954. And 1960 sales splintered those figures with $410,439,225. The sales curve is still squirming sharply to the upper right.

You can obtain training through a branch of one of the large typewriter manufacturers. Major brands have service outlets and training schools at regional headquarters. Following training and work in the service outlet, you may wish to work for an independent typewriter repair organization to obtain experience in the different makes. Fortunately for you, fixing electric models is similar to repairing manuals. Difficulties in starting your own business include 20,000 competitors almost every U.S. community. Many typewriter owners prefer sending their machines to the manufacturer's service outlet. You will also have to arrange for credit with parts suppliers. It looks like a long ladder to climb, looking up from the bottom, but take it rung by rung.

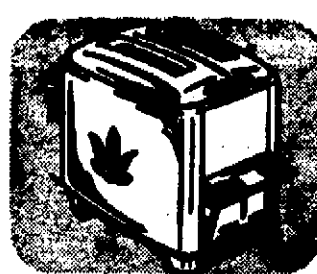

DEAR CY: I am interested in building a boat of the outrigger or postoon type. There is a growing interest in this type of craft. Could you tell me where I can get information on hulls, displacement, and other boat building information? FREDERICK WATER BALT
DEAR F. W. B.: Drop a line to Robert W. Carrick, 1 Park Ave., New York City. He is editor of "Popular Boating" magazine, and should be able to help you get afloat.

DEAR DIAN: If your company is a large one with a constant stream of mail between branches or subsidiaries, here is a thought. You could send bulked mail to corporate minions by air freight, and save money. CY

Engravers Balk at Proposed Terms; Strike Continues

Override Own Leaders to Turn Down Wagner's Formula

NEW YORK (AP) — A small group of union photographers holding out for a 75-minute cut in their work week—kept eight New York City daily newspapers off the streets today and threatened to prolong the 111-day newspaper shutdown indefinitely.

The rank and file of AFL-CIO Photoengravers Local 1 voted 191-111 Wednesday night to reject a proposed contract that would have ended their strike—the last of four against the papers.

The engravers overrode their own leadership and turned down a settlement formula that had been recommended by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and accepted by other newspaper unions involved, including the printers, whose Dec. 8 strike led to the blackout.

320 Involved

There are 320 newspaper photoengravers among 20,000 newspaper employees in the city.

As the unexpected action came, the eight papers were ready to resume publication with today's editions. Two of the papers—the Times and the Herald Tribune—had announced an increase in newsstand prices from 5 to 10 cents, so sure were they of publishing today.

Editorial staffs had reported to work on the four morning papers, and union machinists and electricians had walked through relaxed picket lines Wednesday to prepare the newspaper plants and presses for action.

Thousands of other employees stood by outside, ready to report to work for the first time in nearly 18 weeks.

All Set to Publish

Then came the news that the strike and shutdown still were on. "I don't know just exactly what we're going to do now," said Turner Catledge, managing editor of the struck New York Times.

"We were all set to go. The whole paper was ready to go to the composing room and be published," said the Herald Tribune managing editor, James Bellows.

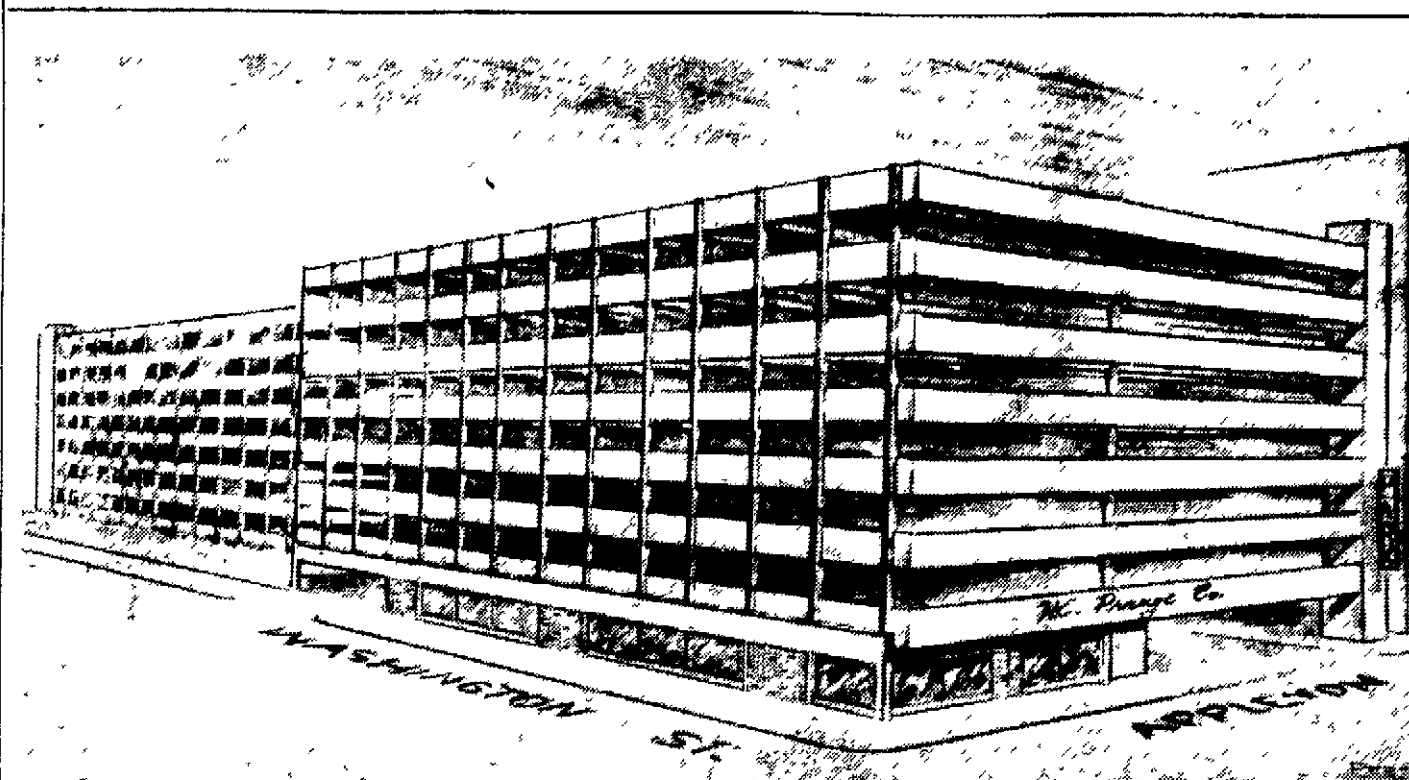

"Here we go again," sighed Wagner.

"We will have to sit down with the publishers," said Frank McGown, union local president, who had recommended acceptance of the settlement. "The major objection from the floor was the lack of a 35-hour work week."

But Donald R. McVey, executive secretary of the Publishers Association of New York City,

Assembly Acts to Revamp Congress Districts in State

This Sketch Shows the new Prange Parking Ramp at its ultimate stage of completion. Initial construction plans call for four levels of parking area above the street level, which will house the store's new tire department. Entrance is expected to be on Appleton Street. Construction should be completed by Oct. 1.

Plan Eliminates Ninth District but Reynolds Signature Held Probable

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The assembly Wednesday achieved what many politicians had come to believe was impossible — a bi-partisan vote of approval for the first serious effort to reshape Wisconsin congressional districts in 33 years.

By the extraordinary margin of 77 to 16, members of the lower house approved a thorough-going and objective reapportionment of the state for congressional representation purposes, and sent it to the state senate where it is expected to get quick concurrence.

District Eliminated

Because principal Democratic spokesmen in the assembly joined with Republicans in praising and supporting the GOP-drafted measure, it is believed that Gov. Reynolds will sign it into law when it reaches him in spite of inevitable objections from Democratic Rep. Lester Johnson of Black River Falls whose Ninth district is being extinguished and whose career may be ended as a consequence.

The measure would put Johnson's home county of Jackson in the Third district now held by Republican Rep. Vernon W. Thompson of Richland Center, and presumably oblige Johnson to run against Thompson in the dominant Republican southwestern district next year. Other parts of Johnson's present territory would be moved into the 10th district.

Legislative District Bills to be Offered By GOP in 2 Weeks

MADISON (AP)—Assembly Republican floor leader Paul Alfonso of Minocqua said today the GOP intends to introduce bills to reapportion legislative districts in about two weeks.

The announcement came in response to a direct question asked by Assemblyman Allen Flannigan, D-Milwaukee, on the Assembly floor.

"We Democrats went along with your congressional reapportionment," Flannigan said, "and we have a right to know if you intend to go anything about Assembly and Senate seats."

now held by Rep. O'Konski of Mercer.

A new Ninth district would be created out of Waukesha County and the Milwaukee northern suburbs which would almost surely elect a Republican congressman next year. Already there are sev-

U. S. Trying to Curb Raids by Cuban Exiles

Coast Guard, FBI And Other Agencies Share in Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI, the U.S. Coast Guard and other agencies are doing all possible to discourage hit-and-run raids by Cuban refugees on Castro's Cuba, officials said today.

They said this is in line with the policy of President Kennedy. While he has repeatedly expressed a desire to see Cuba freed of communism, Kennedy said last week he did not believe the hit-run tactics are effective toward this end. They may even strengthen Prime Minister Fidel Castro, he said.

Some concern is expressed in high administration circles that the free lance sparks, if continued might prove the spark that would set off a new, explosive crisis in U.S.-Soviet relations.

The question of what measures the United States is taking to stop the forays came up in the wake of a Soviet Union protest Wednesday and the report of another raid Tuesday night.

Moscow charged the United States was responsible for "piratical attacks." Specifically it mentioned an attack on the Soviet freighter Lgov, shot up by exiles March 17 at the sugar port of Isabela de Sagua on Cuba's north coast.

The U.S. Department quickly denied U.S. responsibility for the assault, which refugee leaders have said was mounted from "somewhere in the Caribbean."

Even as the United States was rejecting the Soviet protest, word

R. C. Konz Dies In Fire at Home

Rudolph C. Konz, 62, president of the Konz Box Co., Appleton, was found dead in a kitchen chair today by firemen who answered a call to his burning home at 427 W. Prospect Ave. about 3:45 a.m.

Konz apparently died from smoke inhalation. Outagamie County coroner Bernard H. Kemps said, "The body has been sent to an Appleton hospital where an autopsy will be performed to determine an exact cause of death."

Konz' death was the second reported in the state by fire to today. Montell Salvadore, 61, a resident in the Astor Hotel in Green Bay, died in his room about 6:30 a.m.

Cause of the fire which extensively damaged the interior of the Konz home has not been determined. State Fire Marshal Earl Schwabe, who inspected the home, said today. Schwabe said the fire started in the den where Konz customarily sat while watching television.

Flames spread to an adjoining living room and smoke damaged furnishings and contents throughout the entire two floors. Curtains and furnishings in other rooms apparently started on fire from the heated inferno in the den area. Schwabe noted the smaller fires then spread to other furnishings, carpets and rugs.

Konz' daughter, Karen, 15, and a schoolmate, Stephanie Quella, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Quella, 505 S. Oneida St., who were sleeping in an upstairs bedroom above the den, escaped injury when they leaped from their bedroom window onto the garage roof.

New York Budget Wins Approval

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has the approval of the New York Legislature for a record, $2.82-billion state budget. It came after a long fight in which he suffered a setback but preserved a key element in what apparently is his bid for the Republican nomination for president next year.

The fiscal program as approved requires $35.4 million in additional state levies but it will be raised under the designation of "fees," allowing Rockefeller to continue his policy of reporting to Republican audiences throughout the nation he has held the line on taxes.

The Rockefeller budget for the fiscal year beginning next Monday was approved Wednesday by the Republican-controlled legislature.

Vitamin Supplement For Pregnant Women May Go Off Market

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said today he has been told the Food and Drug Administration is taking steps to ban sales of a vitamin supplement, Menadiolone, to pregnant women.

The Minnesota Democrat said the FDA may try to pass off the action against the supplement, Vitamin K3, as routine.

But, he added in a statement: "The fact is it has taken a behind-the-scenes battle of more than a year and a public airing of the situation to get the FDA to act decisively."

Humphrey, himself a pharmacist, is chairman of a Senate Government Operations subcommittee which heard Dr. John O. Fester, a pediatrician on the FDA staff, testify last week that the use of the vitamin in prenatal supplements may result in some instances in "brain damage, spasticity and death" to the newborn.

Russians Deny Alaska Flights

U. S. Insists That 2 Soviet Aircraft Flew Over Region

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has flatly denied a U.S. charge that Soviet planes flew over Alaska March 15. Moscow says their aircraft were more than 200 miles away.

Washington authorities said the Soviet denial, received late Wednesday, probably will end the formal diplomatic exchange on the incident. But they predicted the United States will continue to remind the Soviet Union at appropriate times that air space intrusions will not be tolerated.

Note Not Published

The U.S. government was sticking firmly to its version, contained in a March 16 protest note to Moscow, that two Soviet reconnaissance planes flew over the southwestern corner of Alaska for nearly a half hour.

The Kremlin responded with an equally emphatic denial in a brief note.

U.S. officials said the Soviet Union contended their planes flew no closer to the U.S. border than 350 kilometers (about 218 miles).

The State Department declined to make the note public. Officials said it was up to the Soviets to do that.

Moscow appeared to have no desire to make a big issue over the incident. U.S. informants said the note was very short and devoid of propaganda embellishments.

The March 15 flight was described by a U.S. spokesman at the time as "the first clearly established incident of a Soviet overflight of the United States."

No further such penetrations of U.S. air space have been reported since. Washington officials said they do not know the reason for the March 15 flight.

H. C. Prange Co. Will Build Multi-Level Parking Ramp

Retail Outlet Included: Hope To be Finished by Oct. 1

A multi-level parking ramp to provide off-street parking for 466 automobiles in downtown Appleton will be constructed this spring and summer by the H. C. Prange Co.

General manager William Pifer said the giant concrete, brick and steel structure will cover the store's present parking lot at Washington and Appleton streets as well as the site of the old Rio Theater building currently being razed.

The ramp is expected to be completed by Oct. 1.

Initial construction will provide a street level retail outlet, which Pifer said will house a new tire department, plus four levels for parking.

Additional Levels

Three additional parking levels will be added at the ultimate of the construction plan at a rate to be dictated by parking needs.

Pifer said the below-street excavation will provide additional retail space. "In due time," he said, "the Prange Budget Store will be expanded into this area."

With the Prange parking ramp and two municipal lots, one completed and one for which construction contracts have been let, downtown Appleton will have 1,157 new off-street parking spaces by late fall. The city's West Ramp on Division Street opened in December with space for 257 cars.

Construction is expected to start within the next month on a second municipal ramp at Franklin, Morrison and Washington Streets with a capacity of 434 automobiles.

Ticket Machine

Pifer said all of the store's current plans for parking ramp development are subject to approval of the Appleton Council.

"We propose to have the entrance to our ramp on Appleton Street with the exit on Washington."

An automatic ticket-issuing machine will guard the ramp entrance. A motorist entering will pull a ticket from the machine. The gate will rise and the automobile proceed inside to park. On the ticket will be automatically recorded the time of entry and

Youth Held in 2 Shootings At Kenosha

KENOSHA (AP)—A 20-year-old rejected suitor was held for questioning today in the shooting of a former girl friend and an off-duty policeman who went to her aid.

The youth surrendered to police shortly after Nancy Knutson, 18, and Patrolman Cyril Ellison, 45, were shot and seriously wounded on Kenosha's South Side Wednesday.

Miss Knutson, struck once in the abdomen, and Ellison, a 15-year veteran of the police force, wounded twice in the abdomen and once in the arm, underwent emergency surgery at Kenosha Hospital. They later were reported in fair condition.

Police said Miss Knutson rejected the youth's reconciliation attempt when he visited her home and that he then left and obtained a .25 caliber pistol.

Ellison, summoned by a neighbor shortly after he had returned home from a tour of duty, said he found the youth waving the pistol at Miss Knutson outside her house.

The patrolman ordered the youth to drop the weapon. Ellison said the youth then shot him and Miss Knutson. The patrolman fired two shots at his assailant, who returned the gunfire, striking Ellison again.

11 Killed When Plane Crashes in Korean Storm

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Two Americans and nine other persons died today in the crash of a South Korean air transport in a heavy snowstorm 10 miles northwest of Seoul, the Korean air force announced.

An air force spokesman said the plane carried four crewmen and seven passengers including a U.S. airman and an American civilian. The name of the airman was withheld pending notification of relatives.

The civilian's status has not been determined, a U.S. spokesman said.

The twin-engine C46 was on a routine flight from Taegu, 150 miles southeast of Seoul, to Kimpo, 15 miles northeast of the capital.

The air force said the pilot tried to land at the Kimpo Airport but was unable to come down because of the storm. He crashed while preparing for another landing attempt.

An air force source said the plane crashed into the side of one of the hills near the big airport, which is a military air base for South Korean and U.S. planes and an international airport for commercial airlines.

Dead Man's Gift

Transplanted Cornea May Save Man's Sight

MADISON (AP)—A 55-year-old 2-year-old girl who was not identified, facing blindness because of a perforated eyeball, may see through the eye of an elderly Chicagoan who died Wednesday.

Earl Landerman is a patient in Madison General Hospital where Dr. John V. Berger Jr. was scheduled to perform a cornea transplant late today.

The surgery consists of removing a tiny section in the patient's eye, replacing it with an identical section from the donated eye, and suturing the new section in place. It will be about three weeks before the success of the operation is known.

Landerman first experienced a falling sight several years ago. This week prompted his visit to Dr. Berger, who detected the perforation of the cornea, the transparent eyeball coating which covers the iris and pupil and admits light.

The story of how the operation was arranged was told Wednesday night by the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness, to which the Chicago man had donated his eyes.

Some eight hours after the death of the unidentified donor, one eye was flown to Oklahoma City to help save the sight of a

Junior High Book Rental Fund In Black, Superintendent Says
 The junior high school book rental fund is $817 in the black, but the elementary schools book rentals are $8,973 in the red, Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz has told the Board of Education.
 The elementary fund has been in the red since 1960, and the junior high fund has been in the red three years since 1960, he noted.
 It is difficult to stay in the black if we are going to adopt new books as often as we should, Kurtz said. There has been enough in the special funds to cover the deficit to date, he added.
 Kurtz asked the board last fall to consider whether the book rentals at the elementary level should be partially subsidized or whether fees should be raised. There is no way of taking action now because nothing has been included in the budget to subsidize the rentals, but the board should be aware of the problem, he said.
 "I think we are about as high as we should go in the rental fees," he said. The rentals are based on 25 per cent of the cost of the books, and charges this year range from $3.00 to $5.00 in the elementary and junior high grades. Senior high school students buy their own books.
 The reasons the funds run in the red, Kurtz said, are adoption of new books, the use of multiple texts in the elementary grades, a systematic program of book adoptions, with books re-evaluated on a five-year basis; the capital outlay when new buildings must be equipped with books, and the rapid "explosion of knowledge" in this age which makes books become out-of-date faster.

Reform Regime Back in Saddle
 KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The nonpartisan Citizens Association, which wrecked the Tom Pendergast machine in 1940 and ruled the city 19 years, recaptured the municipal government Tuesday after four years in limbo.
 Its candidate for mayor, Ius W. Davis, defeated Dutton Brookfield of the new Independent Voters Association.

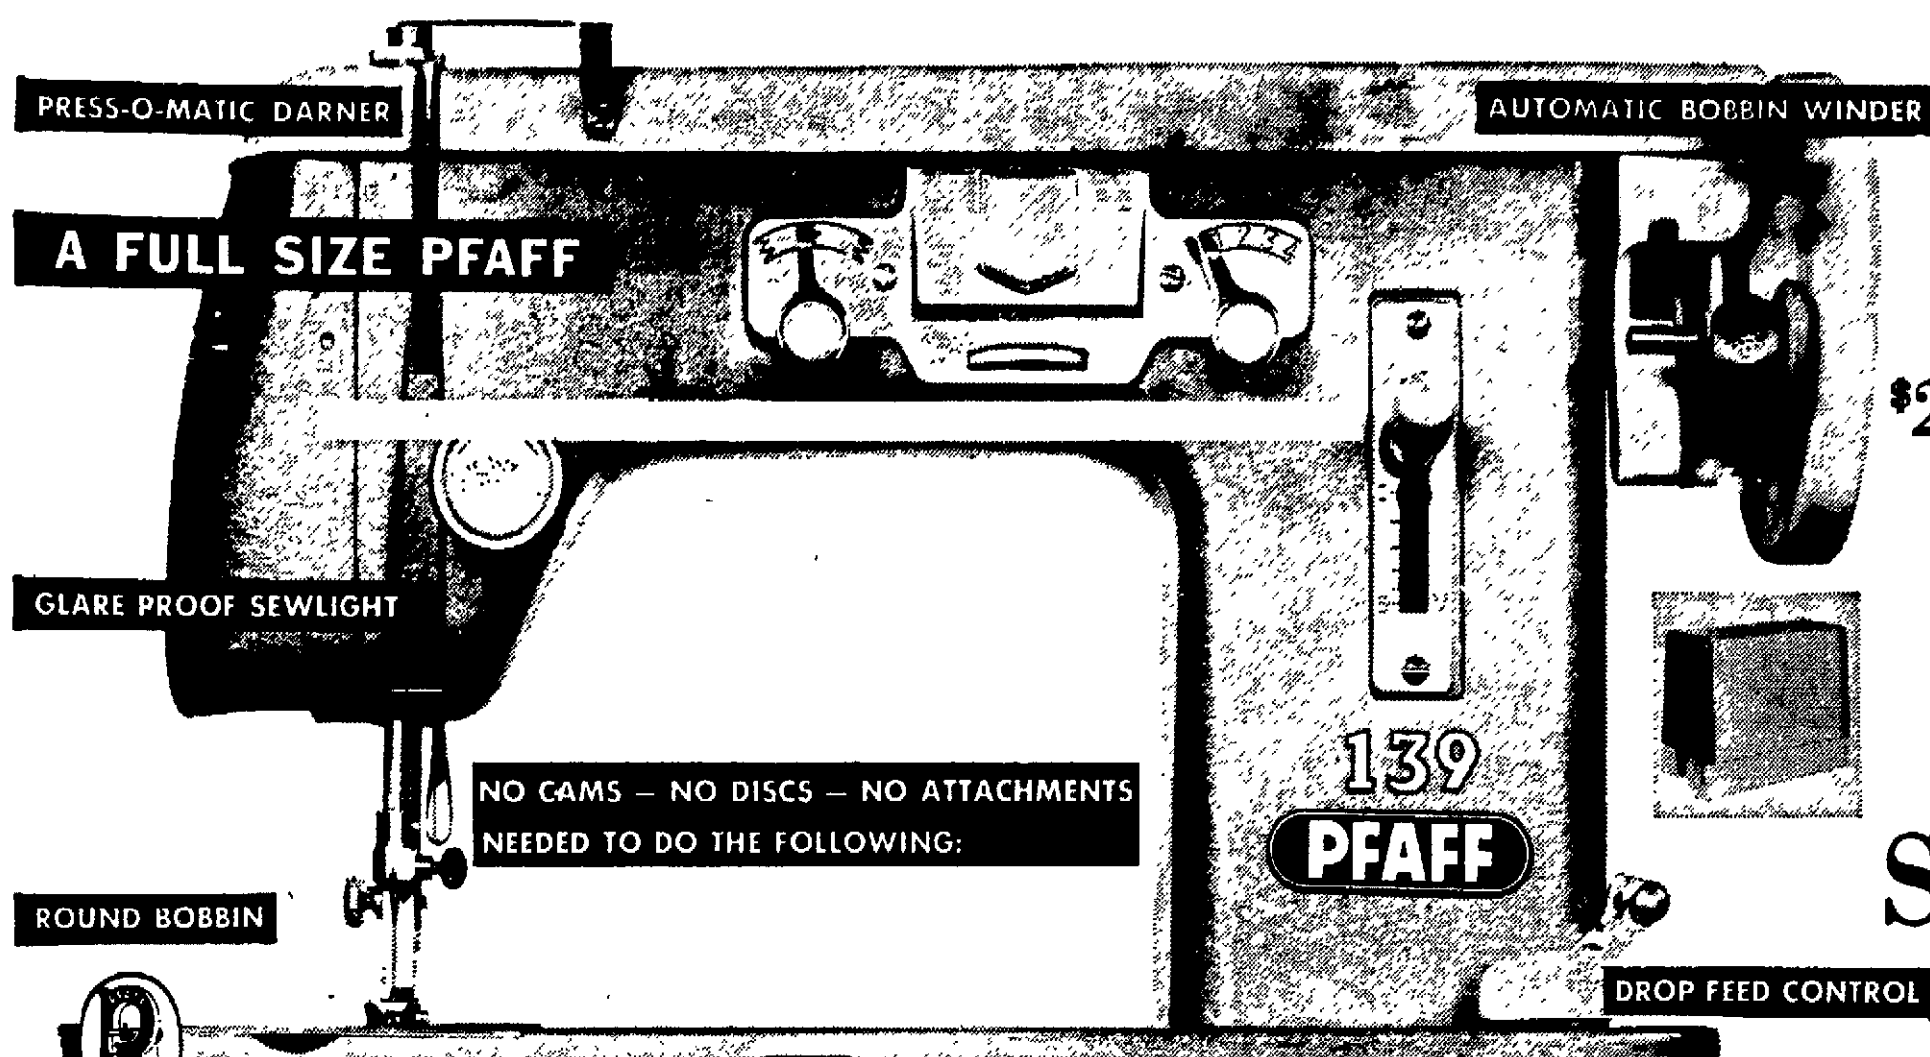

Complete, unofficial returns from the city's 498 precincts gave Davis a lead of 3,345 votes—54,908 to 52,663. Only 2,800 absentee ballots remain to be counted. They will be tabulated Friday.
 Citizens candidates also won 9 of the 13 city council seats and swept out all but one member of the coalition of Democratic factions which captured City Hall in 1958. The coalition, which fired and hired eight city managers in four years, couldn't solve the city's woeful need for more revenue.

Late Chilton Mayor Praised By Colleagues

Calumet Bar Unit Has Memorial for C. W. Hofmeister

CHILTON — Chilton's former mayor, the late Carl W. Hofmeister, was praised by his former attorney colleagues during a special memorial ceremony Wednesday at the opening of the March term of Calumet County Circuit Court. Judge Arnold J. Cane presided.

The Calumet County Bar Association memorial was prepared by William Engler Jr., a member of the Hofmeister - Engler law firm.

Hofmeister died May 26, 1962, early in his fourth term as mayor. A native of Mauston, Hofmeister received his bachelor of laws degree, magna cum laude, from the Marquette University Law School in 1934. After graduation he moved to Chilton where he lived until his death at the age of 52.

Hofmeister joined Leo P. Fox in law practice when he first came to the city. In 1937 he opened his own office and continued as a sole practitioner until forming a partnership with Engler in 1961.

Although he was an attorney in general practice, Hofmeister was particularly active as a municipal lawyer, serving as city attorney for the cities of Chilton, Brillion and New Holstein as well as several townships in the county.

First Commissioner
When the post of family court commissioner was created, Hofmeister was the first to hold an appointment to the county office. He held the office until his death.

Active in various civic affairs, he was a member and past president of the Calumet County Bar Association, and a member of the Wisconsin and American Bar Associations.

The Chilton Chamber of Commerce selected him for its man of the year award in 1955. He was a member and past president of the Chilton Kiwanis Club, a member of the Chilton Area Development Corporation, Chilton Home Builders Inc., and the Chamber of Commerce.

In 1938, he began his Masonic work as a member of the Chilton Lodge. Seven years later he was elected as its worshipful master and in 1954 he was elected grand master of the state of Wisconsin. In 1955 he was elected grand trustee of the state organization and in 1956 he received the 33rd degree of the Masonic order, becoming an honorary member of the supreme council, AASR-NM-J. USA.

Hofmeister's memorial becomes a permanent record of the court.

The Pigeon River has overflowed its banks in parts of Clintonville. In Walter A. Olen Park, the Girl Scout cabin has water swirling around it. A portion of the road in the park to the east of the cabin also was under water. The Clintonville police keep a constant check on the water level and regulate the opening of the dam.

The girl was hit and thrown to the pavement by a car driven by George F. Meert, 63, Green Bay. The mishap occurred at the Main-Madison intersection. Meert's northbound car hit the girl as she crossed the street from west to east in a marked crosswalk, city police said.

Co-Op Short Course Planned Tuesday at Hotel Chilton

Leaders, Directors, Managers To Discuss Services, Problems

CHILTON — Approximately 75 cooperative leaders, directors and managers from east-central Wisconsin are expected to take part in the 1963 Co-op short course here Tuesday.

The day-long program at Hotel Chilton will be one of five area meetings in the state sponsored by the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture Cooperative to enable market organization's leaders to discuss current problems facing cooperatives. Theme of the meetings will be "Taking Advantage of Our Cooperative Opportunities."

The Chilton meeting will be the second in the state. The opener will be Monday at Sauk City. Wausau will be the setting for a similar program Wednesday; Baldwin, Thursday and Arcadia, Friday.

Agriculture Speakers
Three University of Wisconsin college of agriculture professors will serve as key speakers. Prof. M. A. Schaars, department of agriculture economist, will open the morning session when he presents the ideally considered image of a cooperative. Working with him on the subject will be Glen Hacker, Brillion dairyman, and a cooperative officer to be announced. Hacker will describe his views of a cooperative as a patron with the other speaker to give an officer's viewpoint.

Steps which have been taken to make cooperative services more valuable will be the second subject dealt with in the morning. Arthur Stapel, general manager of Fox Cooperative, Appleton, will give the cooperative supply point of view while Daniel Jindra, member relations director for the Lake to Lake Dairy Cooperative, Kiel, presents the subject from the standpoint of marketing and service.

Panel Discussion
Closing the morning session will be a panel discussion airing what members would like cooperatives to do, or, conversely, not to do that is now being done. Professor Schaars will be moderator. The morning speakers will comprise the panel and questions will be accepted.

Improving member understanding of cooperative marketing, purchasing and service problems will be discussed at 1:30 p.m. Either Prof. Harlow Halvorsen or Prof. Peter Helmberger, both economists for the University of Wisconsin's agriculture department, will describe basic economic considerations in pricing farm products. Prof. Vernon Schneider, also an economist, will outline the basic considerations in marketing farm products and purchasing farm supplies.

Outline Legislation
Concluding the topic will be the viewpoint of a farm leader regarding the strengthening of farmers' bargaining power. Pete May, member relations director for Equity Co-op Livestock Sales Association, Milwaukee, will present the talk.

New and proposed state legislation will be outlined by either Milo Swanton or Ralph Cooper, officers of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture Cooperative, and the conference will be summarized by Willis Uhlenbrach, Chilton Cooperative Service Oil Co. manager.

County Agent Orrin W. Meyer will welcome the group and serve as chairman.

Judy Goetsch has been selected for the Betty Crocker Homemaking Tomorrow Award at Chilton High School.

Stockbridge Firemen Seek Truck Bids

STOCKBRIDGE—Bids for a van type vehicle for the Stockbridge Community Fire Department are being accepted but the purchase hinges on fund appropriations from the department's two supporting municipalities.

The deadline for submitting bids to Fire Chief Cliff Mayer is March 30. Mayer explained that the cost of the truck must be known before the annual Stockbridge Township meeting Tuesday. Stockbridge township and village jointly support the department and the township's share of the vehicle's cost must be approved by the electors.

Village funds can be appropriated by the board from the general fund without voter approval. The van would be used to transport men and rescue equipment to fires, Mayer said.

Brillion Takes Forensic Crown At Oostburg

New London Board Okays $300 Raise In Teachers' Pay

$33,126 More Yearly Brings Total Salaries to $473,523

NEW LONDON — A salary schedule calling for at least a $300 raise for all teachers in the New London School system was adopted by the board of education Tuesday night.

The raises amounted to $33,126 a year, bringing total salary costs for the 1963-64 school year to a proposed $473,523 which is 7.5 percent higher than the 1962-63 school term.

The significant change over last year's schedule is the raising of the base pay for all teachers with a bachelor's degree from $4,400 to $4,700. This $300 increase will be reflected in each teacher's salary.

Teachers with a master's degree will receive an increase of $400 in the base pay by raising the starting salary from $4,700 to $5,100. Two additional increases also were added to the master's degree schedule, raising it to 16. The number of increases in the bachelor's degree schedule will stay at 14.

With the new increase, top salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree and 14 years service will be $6,800. The top master of arts degree salary with 16 years will be $7,500.

Fifty per cent of the cost of hospital, surgical and major medical insurance will be paid by the district.

Coaches' Pay
Head coaches of football and basketball will receive an additional $300. Head baseball and track coaches will receive an added $100. The schedule also calls for extra compensation for other coaches and assistant coaches as well as teachers supervising other extra curricular school activities.

Teachers working on a three year certificate, will receive a base of $4,100.

General provisions of the schedule are the same as last year's salary schedule.

Teachers will be required to attend summer school. Non-degree teachers must attend at least once every two years, bachelor's degree holders every four years.

Return From Trip

or's degree teachers must attend summer school at least every five years and teachers with master's degrees must attend at least every seven years.

The salary schedule provisions also state that no teacher shall receive more than $300 total raise in salary in any one year period.

Stockbridge to Pay $4,696 Tab For Road Job

Payment Was Held Because Board Not Satisfied With Work

STOCKBRIDGE—A $4,696 road construction bill, held back several months because of dissatisfaction with some phases of the work, was ordered paid by the Stockbridge Village Board Tuesday night.

The bill, submitted by the Sell Brothers Construction Co., Stockbridge, was for work performed last summer and fall on the Old Road. A one-mile stretch of the north-south road was improved. The road bed was raised and widened as the first step of an improvement program intended to result in a blacktop paved road.

Blacktop paving originally was scheduled for the coming summer but now will be delayed for a year, the board ruled, after learning that some corrective construction work will be necessary on the road. Village trustees took issue with the way the ditches and some culverts were laid out.

Corrective Work
The board will ask a representative of the construction firm to appear at the next meeting to determine how the corrective work is to be performed.

In other action, the board briefly reviewed the specifications set up by the community fire department for a new van it plans to purchase.

The board meeting, advanced several days because of community function on its regular session date, was called to clear up old business before the election.

85 Inspect Farms in Waupaca County

University, Power Companies Sponsor Agriculture Program

WAUPACA — About 85 Waupaca County farmers took part in a tour and program Monday sponsored by the University of Wisconsin Extension Service, UW Agriculture Department, Wisconsin Power and Light Co., and Wisconsin Public Service Corp.

The first stop on the tour was the Fleese Brothers farm. Weyauwega, where the visitors saw a 20 by 60-foot silo with a half-circle bunk feeder which feeds grass and corn silage either together or separately on automatic switches and house housing for heifers and dry cows.

At the Russell Smith farm,

Waupaca, the group saw a remodeled stanchion barn with 61 tie stalls and a bunk feeder around a silo.

At the Norman Johnson farm, Ogdensburg, the visitors saw a completely remodeled barn and new comfort stalls. Ordell Behnke, Clintonville, showed the visitors his remodeled barn and the addition he added to it and the tie stalls, pipeline milker and 20 by 60-foot silo with a central bunk feeder and a central panel wiring system.

Noon Lunch
Wisconsin Power and Light Co. was host at noon lunch at the Armory.

The program emphasized the need for converting farm wiring to heavier equipment, especially with the electrical additions to the barn and milkhouse. The speakers advocated the central pole type of wiring instead of the previously used house-to-barn arrangement.

Discussions also centered on automatic timing devices used to start mechanical feeding machines, silo placements, bunk feeders, pipeline milkers, loose housing, remodeling dairy barns, feeder arrangements and other information and ways of receiving the information.

Speakers were Prof. Edward Burns and Prof. Lynn Brooks, University of Wisconsin; Harold Hoffman, Maron and Roger Hau, Berlin, Wisconsin Power and Light Co.; Don Branton, Paragon Electric Co. and Paul Rheinhardt, Wisconsin Public Service Corp. J. L. Walker, county farm agent, was in charge of making arrangements for the tours and program.

Mrs. Sommers Says Cheese Firm Insolvent

Attorney Had Said Company in 1962 'Was Moneymaker'

FOND DU LAC — Mrs. Amy Sommers, widow of a cheese company executive who died under mysterious circumstances last year, has declared the Full Cream Cheese Factory, Inc., near Malone, insolvent.

The declaration was made by Mrs. Sommers at Milwaukee Tuesday in a debtor's petition she filed in the U. S. District Court.

Mrs. Sommers became president of the firm and has been operating it since her husband, LeRoy, was found in a partly burned car on a Fond du Lac County road in May, 1962.

A coroner's jury ruled the death a suicide, but Mrs. Sommers has insisted her husband was murdered.

Last week, Mrs. Sommers set-led a $207,000 suit against the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. for $30,000. She originally sought to collect on her husband's life insurance policies which had a two-year suicide clause. Sommers' policies had been in effect for a year and a half at the time of his death.

Was "Money-maker"

In February, Atty. Peter Porath, who represents Mrs. Sommers, told the Post-Crescent the Full Cream Cheese Company had been "a money-maker in 1962."

After the out-of-court settlement, Porath said Mrs. Sommers still believed her husband had been murdered because he had intended to expand his business operations.

Mrs. Sommers said Tuesday she intends to file a plan for paying creditors and would issue a financial statement soon.

Porath disclosed that the estate of Sommers is being probated.

Investigation Made

An investigation into the Italian cheese industry in the Fond du Lac County area followed Sommers' death. Gov. John Reynolds charged that the industry had links with organized crime, but city and county law enforcement officials denied this after conducting their own investigation.

Another major development was the charge by State Crime Laboratory Director Charles Wilson that county officials had bungled the Sommers' autopsy.

The name of John DiBella, president of the Grande Cheese Co., here, and friend of known underworld characters, figured prominently in the investigation into the governor's charges.

DePere Youth Dies After Auto Crash

Jacobus Gietman, 18, One of Three Riding In Convertible

DE PERE — A youth was killed and two others injured, one critically, in a spectacular one-car crash early this morning.

Jacobus Gietman, 1829 Riverside Drive, died minutes after his 18th birthday at 9:45 a. m. this morning in a Green Bay hospital.

In critical condition is Miss Ruth Beyer, 426½ S. Webster Ave., Green Bay. Also injured is Roy La Combe, 21, 2521 Pine St., Marinette, the driver of the car.

Miss Intersection

The accident occurred at 12:10 a. m. on S Webster Avenue where the road dead-ends at Chicago Street. According to DePere police, tire skid marks indicated La Combe attempted to stop 110 feet before reaching the arterial. The car swerved across the intersection and slammed sideways into a utility pole and guide wire. The impact drove the car and a 20-foot segment of the 16-inch pole into the lawn between a hedge and the home of Harry Rhodes, 1402 Chicago St.

The car catapulted into the back yard where it snapped an eight-inch tree before coming to rest on its top. All three occupants were thrown out of the vehicle, police said.

Man, 61, Dies in Hotel Room Fire

Green Bay Firemen Say He Apparently Was Smoking in Bed

GREEN BAY — Despite frantic rescue attempts, an elderly roomer died today when fire roared through his third floor room at the Astor Hotel in downtown Green Bay.

Montell Solvud, 61, who had lived at the hotel the last two years, died of asphyxiation, firemen said. His body was not badly burned.

The fire was discovered about 6:30 this morning by Robert Viola, 29, of Milwaukee, who occupied another third floor room at the opposite end of the corridor.

"I smelled smoke, but thought at first it was only a hot radiator. Then I looked out my door and saw the whole hall filled with smoke," Viola said.

Accompanied by another roomer, Robert Sherwan, 37, also of Milwaukee, Viola made his way down the hall to Solvud's room at the southeast corner of the three-story hotel building.

"We broke open the door and there it was," Viola related.

Heavy smoke

The men at first were unable to see into the room because of heavy smoke, but then spotted what they thought was a body lying on the bed.

"We tried to crawl in but couldn't," said Viola. "Then we grabbed hold of the bedclothes and tried to pull him out that way." This attempt also failed.

They then threw sand from a large ashtray into the flames and began carrying water from a near-by shower stall in a wastebasket. "We looked all over for a fire extinguisher, but there were none," Sherwan said. He ran to the lobby to report the fire and obtained two extinguishers.

A desk clerk called the fire department at 6:35 a. m. and reported "the third floor hall is filled with smoke." Firemen responded with

"We broke open the door and there it was," Viola related.

Heavy smoke

The men at first were unable to see into the room because of heavy smoke, but then spotted what they thought was a body lying on the bed.

"We tried to crawl in but couldn't," said Viola. "Then we grabbed hold of the bedclothes and tried to pull him out that way." This attempt also failed.

They then threw sand from a large ashtray into the flames and began carrying water from a near-by shower stall in a wastebasket. "We looked all over for a fire extinguisher, but there were none," Sherwan said. He ran to the lobby to report the fire and obtained two extinguishers.

A desk clerk called the fire department at 6:35 a. m. and reported "the third floor hall is filled with smoke." Firemen responded with

Kindergarten Roundup Set At Waupaca

Prospective Pupils And Parents Will Register for Classes

WAUPACA — The annual "Kindergarten Roundup" of the Waupaca Unified School District will be April 4 at Westwood and Riverside schools in the kindergarten rooms.

All children planning to enter kindergarten in September are being asked to enroll. The event also will give the children a chance to become acquainted with the teacher and the school room. Parents will be oriented on ways to help prepare the child for his or her first experience in school.

Registration will be from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m. at the schools. Kindergarten classes will be dismissed April 4 to enable the teachers to welcome the parents and prospective pupils.

Information Sheet

The parents will receive the information sheet and forms for medical examinations from the teacher. Coffee will be served by the Waupaca Parent-Teachers Association.

Parents are asked to follow this schedule: with last names starting with A through J from 9 to 10 a.m.; K through O, 10 to 11 a.m.; P through T, 1 to 2 p.m. and all others from 2 to 3 p.m.

Parents unable to come to either center may enroll a child by calling the grade school office on the day of registration.

Children must be 5 years old on or before Dec. 1, 1963, to be eligible to attend kindergarten in the fall. The annual kindergarten tea for parents of kindergarten age children will be announced later.

Williams said it is important to register all of the kindergarten children because plans will have to be made for housing the students, establish bus routes and ordering materials. Late registrations may necessitate change in plans just before school opens in the fall, he added.

Dye Helps Solve Waupaca Thefts

Youth Implicates Pair After Contacting Unwashable Evidence

WAUPACA — A chemical dye which placed an indelible orange-colored tattoo on the hands of a 17-year-old thief helped Waupaca County authorities crack a wave of thefts this week with the arrest of the juvenile and two other young men.

David L. Fredrick, 19, route 1, Clintonville, was fined a total of $255.40 on six separate charges Wednesday and was placed on probation for one year. He was charged with four counts of theft, littering the highway and procuring beer for minors.

A companion, Richard C. Heling, 21, route 2, Clintonville, appeared in court earlier and was fined $150 for theft, littering and procuring beer.

Implicated By Youth The two men were arrested after they were implicated by a 17-year-old Embarrass youth who was trapped by the dye.

Sheriff Loran Frazier said his department enlisted the aid of Brice Peters, a Town of Matteson farmer, in an attempt to gain evidence in a series of gasoline thefts. Frazier said a harmless dye was placed in gasoline pumping equipment on the Peters farm.

When the pumps were tampered with early Sunday morning or late Saturday night, the 17-year-old came in contact with the chemicals. His hands were spotted with flaming orange color.

When the youth was taken in for questioning he attempted to hide his hands, the sheriff said. Later he admitted being involved in the thefts and implicated Fredrick and Heling. The youth was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Fredrick was charged specifically with taking a pair of tractor chains and two plow shares from the Harry Teach farm, Town of Lebanon, Jan. 15; gasoline from the Brice Peters farm, Town of Matteson, March 8; gasoline from the Reid Nelson farm, Town of Larrabee, March 14; gasoline from the Peters farm, March 23. The littering charge came from throwing beer cans along the highway.

Fredrick told Municipal Justice George Whalen he would be unable to pay the fines. The sentence carried an alternate of 60 days in jail.

Bowling Association will be at 7:45 p.m. Saturday at Central Alleys. Prizes will be awarded to winners and other business, will be discussed. Clyde Johnson, secretary, reported.

Western Storm Leaves Four Dead; No Flood Trouble Seen in Valley

State 156 Near Nichols Still Reported Closed

Although the temperatures hit the 30s and 40s throughout the Fox Valley Wednesday, hastening melting, most creeks and streams were reported receding and little change was noted in the level of the Wolf River.

At New London, the Wolf reached 7.9 feet at noon Wednesday. Some marshes of the river's basin were reported flooding, but no serious threat was seen.

The only serious flooding in the Fox Valley was reported near Nichols Wednesday. The Wisconsin Highway Department reported State 156, west of the village, still is closed today because of flooding.

Little of the ice on the Wolf is out yet. The Pigeon River flooded part of Walter A. Olen Memorial Park at Clintonville Wednesday.

Ice was reported out of the Embarras River near Embarrass. No flooding was expected. The Little Wolf River at Waupaca was reported high this morning, but not near flood level.

Creeks and streams in the Chilton area were reported receding this morning by WHKW-FM, near Chilton. The station said the Manitowoc River was up but not seriously high.

Water in creeks and streams also was reported receding near Oshkosh, Fremont, Omro and Winnebago this morning.

Temperatures in Appleton climbed to 57 Wednesday, according to the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., cooperative observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau. The power company had a low this morning of 27, with a rise to 35 at 9 a.m.

The power company said frost depth in the Fox Valley, as of today, is between 12 and 18 inches. The Wisconsin Crop Reporting Service today said the current warming trend may hasten melting.

Winds, Rain Hit San Francisco, Head Eastward

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A hit-and-run wind and rain storm chalked up four deaths and caused numerous power failures in the Far West Wednesday before it sped east toward the Rocky Mountains.

The deaths were in San Francisco and in an area around Crescent City, Calif., near the Oregon border, but the power losses spread through Oregon west of the Cascades and into eastern Washington as the storm raced north and east.

An hour-long storm swept into Spokane, Wash., Wednesday night with 54-mile-an-hour gusts. Two areas in the city were without power for awhile, plate glass windows were shattered, part of a roof was blown off and a number of trees were uprooted.

Snow closed U.S. 40 through the California Sierra at Baxter.

Heavy Winds

Wind gusts of 74 miles an hour were clocked by the Coast Guard at Brookings, Ore. Crescent City measured 72 m.p.h. blasts. Winds dropped to a peak of 63 m.p.h. as the storm passed through Portland, Ore., then to the 30s in Washington.

California's only reported major power loss was in Vallejo, 25 miles northeast of San Francisco, where poles blew down and service was out.

Many northern California points reported an inch or more of rain. The storm spread into northern Nevada, Idaho and extreme western Montana with diminished force during the night. Occasional rain or snow was predicted today from north and central California to east of the Continental Divide in Montana.

There was no stormy weather in other parts of the nation. Showers and light rain dampened the north and central sections of New York State. Fog was reported in eastern areas of New York State and in the Daytona Beach, Fla., area.

New Ventures Appearing in Many Areas

Winter Downturn
May be Forgotten
As '63 Progresses

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — New ventures are perking up many communities and regions.

It may be fresh life creeping into tired downtown areas. Or it may be shiny new industries or branch plants of old-line companies sprouting where once corn, potatoes, cotton or citrus held sway.

Some of the ventures are born of government policies. More spring from private industry. And almost everywhere, except the most blighted areas, there is growth of the service trades — whether it be public utilities or hair dressers, fuel pipelines or shopping centers. The overbuilt areas are far outnumbered by the underbuilt.

Florida Resorts

Item: Florida resorts report they've had a bumper crop of vacationists in the early months of 1963. So have many winter sports areas in New England and New York. In fact, the recreation boom this year will aid the economies, winter or summer, of half the states. Old tourist attractions are being promoted, new ones built.

A growing number of Americans over 65 is speeding the growth of specialized housing developments, notably in Florida, Southern California and Arizona where whole communities are springing up for the retired. Spending habits of senior citizens may be sedate, but nevertheless add to the total.

Science is a boon to some cities and their suburbs. It has placed new industries in surprised localities and revitalized old industrial centers. The billions of dollars going into research, for government of private enterprise, carry the seeds of still more inventions, more best-selling products, more jobs.

Industrial Map of U.S.

Other factors have changed the industrial map of the United States and spread manufacturing and trade into once predominantly rural regions.

The postwar trend of decentralization has led to flights of industry from the cities to the suburbs, but even more importantly to the scattering of branch plants across the land.

Many cities have projects under way to revive downtown areas. Shopping malls, slum clearance, tax incentives, even struggles with the traffic mess and the smog, are giving old centers new hope.

Private industry plans to step up its spending this year for plant and new equipment by 5 per cent.

Lawrence Says 35-Hour Week Will Decrease Jobs Available Overtime Would Add To Industry's Labor Costs by 14 Per Cent

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What's a "35-hour week?" Union labor is all for it, and at first glance it seems a wonderful thing not to have to work 40 hours but only 35. But what are the facts?

In the first place, union labor wants the same pay for 35 hours as for 40. In the second place, the practical effect is that almost always the same employees—not the unemployed—get the extra money whenever work is extended beyond 35 hours.

The unions, moreover, insist that double payment be made for each hour above 35, instead of the usual hour-and-a-half pay for one hour of overtime work. All this would mean an increase of hundreds of millions of dollars in industry's labor costs. The change from 40 to 35 hours with no reduction in weekly pay would increase labor costs 14 per cent. If overtime also is involved, still further increases would result.

The Real Story
These simple statements tell the real story about what's wrong with the trend of the national economy today and why President Kennedy's prediction of a "decade of recession" is likely to come true, even if a tax cut is granted by Congress.

Mr. Kennedy has made occasional references to the 35-hour week and has taken a position opposite to the AFL-CIO, which is demanding it. The AFL-CIO unions, however, have a powerful weapon available. They can get the 35-hour week—and in some trades now are obtaining it—by the usual process of extortion through strikes or threats of strikes, euphemistically called "collective bargaining."

The public generally doesn't know what a 35-hour week would mean. Not only would this work schedule fail to absorb the unemployed of today, but it would not make new jobs for the millions of young workers coming into the labor market each year.

The Overtime Problem
The overtime problem is the real reason. A company that operates on one shift, for instance, of eight hours a day for five days a week cannot hire new workers to take care of an hour or two of work each day after the regular shift finishes. It is natural to use the existing personnel and to pay the overtime rate of an hour and a half for every extra hour worked. As the overtime expense grows, the employer has to figure out whether he can make a profit at the increased cost of the labor involved. In lots of instances, he is stymied and cannot expand or create new jobs.

The 35-hour week has already been obtained in several trades and crafts by the pressure of labor unions. This leads, of course, to desperate efforts by the employer to find new machinery and to cut down other expenses, which again means more unemployment. It certainly doesn't add to national growth.

A Stumbling Block
Employers in many cases would rather pay higher rates per hour than pay penalties for overtime. It leads to better planning and a better system of weighing costs in expansion programs. The real stumbling block to growth is the overtime rate and the reduction of the work week.

While the President doesn't favor a federal law which would establish a 35-hour week uniformly in all kinds of work, both in the factory and in white-collar jobs, the union leaders know that, as they compel industry after industry to adopt the 35-hour week, the non-organized workers will eventually protest and ask the government to put them on an equal footing with the organized workers.

From an economic standpoint, therefore, the 35-hour week and the penalties for overtime are barriers to new employment. This means that unemployment will grow throughout the 1960's even as it is growing today. President Kennedy in his Chicago speech last week said:

Total Jobs Decrease
"Our civilian labor force grew by nearly 12 million during the last 15 years. But the number of jobs grew by only 10 million. In the last five years we saw an annual increase of only 175,000 private jobs, outside of agriculture, compared to 700,000 in each of the previous ten years. Our total gross national product output grew at a rate of only 3 per cent, while unemployment remained continuously above 5 per cent."

"Unless we step up our rate of growth, unless we create a supply of jobs which is more equal to the demand, our rate of unemployment will steadily and swiftly climb to the recession level of 7 per cent, even without a recession."

Better Profit Margins
It isn't tax reduction, therefore, that can save the day, but a better margin of profit on the present volume of sales so as to make it worthwhile to invest money to bring about the very expansion which increases jobs. It is a less expensive way to promote employment than deficit spending by the government. Yet the President has not uttered a single word of recommendation to Congress to amend the labor-management laws to curb the monopoly power of labor unions and to put collective bargaining on a sound economic basis. This can be done through national federations of labor leaders who would have power over local unions and would have the authority to forbid strikes which go to extremes. To respect economic facts is to bring confidence to business planning, and this would result in job creation and full employment.

Collects Signatures But Doesn't Believe In Selling Them

CLIFTON, N. J. (AP) — A collection of the signatures of all 41 Presidents is now displayed in the executive wing of the White House, because Martin Weiner doesn't believe in selling such a valuable item.

Weiner, who has completed nine such signature collections, says: "I never sell any of my documents. If I think they would be useful to a person or institution, I donate them."

He's working on another collection now, and is considering giving it to the United States Embassy in Moscow "so that it could be displayed as a reminder of the perpetuity of our democracy."

Cutting Foreign Aid May Present Problem

Congressional Economy Zealots, Armed With Clay Report, May Chop Too Deep

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—A kind of national ritual has developed around foreign aid. Every year a president asks so much for it. Every year Congress immediately gets out its economy ax and chops. Since this is routine, a president can hardly expect to get what he asks. His problem is to keep the chops from cutting too deep. For this reason the recommendation of President Kennedy's 10-man committee on foreign aid—that it be cut—was not exactly a hardship. But the committee's vagueness on how much should be cut may cause him some trouble in Congress. It's fresh encouragement to the economy zealots.

When Kennedy three months ago created this citizens committee, headed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, five of the 10 members were big businessmen. This almost assured an economy recommendation, and when it came it apparently satisfied Kennedy, judging from a couple of things that happened. Gave Warm Thanks He gave the committee warm thanks and his foreign aid director, David Bell, endorsed the idea of reducing the amount of aid.

It could hardly have been otherwise. At a time like this, when Kennedy is urging Congress to cut taxes, he couldn't very well ask for higher aid money. Last year he asked $4.9 billion, got $3.9 billion from Congress. This year, just as if nothing had happened last year, he again asked $4.9 billion. Now, in view of the Clay report and what Bell said, Kennedy may reduce his request a bit when he sends his foreign aid message to Congress next week.

Then the struggle will be to get something between that maximum figure and whatever he considers the absolute minimum. But, while the vagueness of the report may give Kennedy some grief with Congress, it could be a convenience in dealing with other countries. Clay said he discussed with Bell what countries specifically should receive less or no foreign aid. And, since Bell helped Clay and the committee gather the information on which the report was based, they probably wound up seeing eye to eye. That's why it was no wonder that Bell, instead of waiting to give his views to Congress, this week in a speech predicted: The end of aid to Greece, Israel and Nationalist China in three or four years and to Libya, Saudi Arabia and Venezuela after that. So whatever Kennedy now does in cutting aid to those six, or to any others unmentioned in the committee report, neither the President nor American foreign policy in general can be blamed for careless or arbitrary unkindness. The Clay report and the economy mood in Congress are convenient evidence of a national desire to reduce aid and toughen up on those still getting it.
